The Farmers Rebel.
It Interests T. R.
Ju-49 Is Coming.
Sado Araki Dislikes Us.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

CHICAGO, August 25.

FARMERS IN THE Middle West and farther west have decided that the way to attract attention is to do something. "Suffering in patient silence does not get you anywhere" is their new idea.

And the plan is:

"If the cities will not pay us a decent price we shall not feed the cities."

FARMERS PATROL highways leading to the cities and turn back loads of farm produce and supplies of milk. In one case a freight train was compelled to stop, its load of live stock was turned loose in the fields.

The "farmers' rebellion," that is what it amounts to, started vigorously in Iowa and is spreading to other states—Nebraska and Wisconsin.

IOWA FARMERS got results, among other things an increase of almost one hundred per cent in the wholesale price of milk. Even so, you wonder that the farmer can live. His new milk price is only a little more than two dollars a hundred pounds.

If striking, blocking highways, etc., will bring better prices, the example will spread. It is the first important demonstration by farmers, hitherto content with futile speech making and routine voting.

THE OUTLOOK Magazine, which died a little while ago, will return to life as the New Outlook, with former Gov. Alfred E. Smith as editor in chief. The late Theodore Roosevelt, where he sits above, would like to see the first A. E. Smith number of the New Outlook, for he, Roosevelt, was once editor of the old Outlook, and what he wrote was emphatic.

You can imagine him saying to the other angels, showing his teeth as he talks, assuming that angels have teeth, although they do not eat:

"You should have seen that magazine when I ran it. I told every woman to have twelve children. I made the malefactors of great wealth wish they had never seen the light of day. But, of course, you know nothing of such things up here. You ought to have seen me when I was a mortal; the earth was not so dull then."

IN MILWAUKEE, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ceretto's baby was born "dead," no signs of life, no breathing. They called the police, and they called, not a doctor, but the fire department.

It sent its rescue squad, and for three hours big firemen worked over the tiny baby until its face turned gradually from dark blue to pink. Then they took it to the hospital. That would have been considered a first-class miracle five hundred years ago.

WATCH FOR news of the JU-49. It is a plane, built by the Junkers works in Germany to travel through the thin, non-resisting stratosphere, and is expected to fly from Berlin to New York in half a day.

The JU-49 will be all metal, a monoplane with 90 feet wing spread, carrying one engine of 850 horsepower.

Ten miles up there are no storms, winds or fog. And the rarefied atmosphere offers little resistance to any body moving through it.

Move your hand rapidly through the water in your bath tub, then move it through the air above the water and observe the difference.

Water offers 600 times as much resistance as our normal atmosphere, and the thin air of the stratosphere compared with the air we breathe is almost like our air compared with water.

The speed planned by the Junkers Company will seem slow to our descendants — only 300 miles an hour. Planes have already flown much faster near the earth's surface.

JAMES MADDEN, Chicago city employe, was shot to death yesterday while in an automobile with two policemen. Those that desired his death were determined to get him, but it is not known just why he was killed.

The Chicago Herald and Examiner thinks that Criminal Court judges should not set free "on probation," thugs brought before them, and captured with revolvers, or sawed-off shotguns. The suggestion seems reasonable.

Regulation of crime might start with regulation and reorganization of certain criminal courts and judges, in New York as well as in Chicago.

LIEUT. GEN. Sado Araki is a patriotic Japanese whose opinions will interest the west, Russia especially.

He says the nations of Europe and America are barbarians, and Asia must be preserved from further contamination by the overlordship of Japan.

What interests Russia is Gen. Araki's statement that Japan should absorb and rule all the Soviet territory in Siberia. Araki is Japan's minister of war, and his authority makes his speech enlightening and important. He says white races oppress the Asiatics. He would take India from Britain and "would no longer let the impudence of the white races go unpunished."

THE JAPANESE people, intensely patriotic and self-confident, contribute large sums to the national army, voluntarily, apart from taxation, and Japan's generals know how to use the money.

Recent popular subscriptions totaling $1,277,360 were used to buy forty-six fighting planes, thirty-five anti-aircraft machine

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

FORBES FIELD, Aug. 25.—The Philadelphia Phillies were leading the Pittsburgh Pirates in the first game of their doubleheader here this afternoon.

Heinie Meine started on the mound for the Pirates and Roy Hansen for the Phillies.

The Boston Braves, enjoying two off days, were spectators as guests of the Pirates. They open a series with the Bucs Saturday.

The game in detail:

FIRST INNING

PHILADELPHIA—G. Davis flied to L. Waner. Vaughan threw out Bartell. Klein flied to P. Waner.

PITTSBURGH—L. Waner was safe on Whitney's fumble. P. Waner fouled out to Whitney. Vaughan walked. Comorosky grounded into a double play, Delker to Bartell to Hurst. One error.

SECOND INNING

PHILADELPHIA—Hurst popped to Vaughan. Vaughan threw out Whitney. Vaughan threw out Lee.

PITTSBURGH — Delker threw out Suhr. Traynor flied to Klein. Piet flied to Lee.

THIRD INNING

PHILADELPHIA—Todd singled to left. Delker doubled to left center, scoring Todd. Delker injured a leg going around first and

Volpe Case Brings Ban On Special Auto License Numbers

Out of the heated controversy waxing at the State Capitol in Harrisburg over events arising out of the murder of the racketeering Volpe brothers, there came today these developments:

1—Benjamin G. Eynon, discharged as head of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, permitted "gasoline bootleggers" to cheat the state of its tax, Dr. Clyde L. King, Secretary of Revenue, charged.

2—The practice of giving low-numbered license plates to politicians and their friends, such as the Volpes, was declared ended by Dr. King.

3—Charles Pearson, former Pittsburgh newspaperman, former press agent for the State Department of Highways, admitted he had made the request to Harrisburg for the Volpes' special license plates. This request was made on the stationery of the Allegheny County Commissioners.

In Harrisburg, Dr. King, who fired Eynon because, he asserted, Eynon had assigned to the Volpes automobile plates bearing their initials, charged that the former head of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles had permitted the gas bootleggers "to get away with $1 out of every $5 of the money due the state" from the 3-cent gasoline tax.

HELD LAX IN DUTIES

Furthermore, Dr. King accused Eynon of having ice delivered to his home for two years at the state's expense.

Collection of the gas taxes under Eynon had grown so lax that the Commonwealth became "the happy hunting ground" of such bootleggers all over the nation, Dr. King charged. He said that at one time only one out of every

Hunt Preacher, Married Woman Missing Week

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 25.—State police have been asked to search for the Rev. Carl Whipple, 36, and Mrs. Arabelle Glessner, 43, mother of two, who disappeared from the home of Whipple's parents more than a week ago, police were told.

The officers were notified that Mrs. Glessner's husband, a prosperous livestock trader and farmer of Berlin, Somerset County, Pa., had offered a $100 reward for information concerning his wife.

Mrs. Glessner terminated a visit to the Whipple home, 217 East Maiden street, August 15, saying that she was returning home, police said.

Police also were informed that Mrs. Glessner had drawn $2,000 from a savings account shortly before her disappearance.

The following day Whipple left home, telling his wife, police were told, that he was going to attend a fraternal gathering in New Castle.

The Rev. Mr. Whipple, an unordained Methodist Episcipal minister, does not have a church at the present time.

Whipple formerly held pastorates in Independence and Berlin. In Berlin the Whipples occupied part of a double house owned by the Glessners.

With Mrs. Glessner at the time of her disappearance was one of her daughters, Ruth, 8. The other, LaVerne, 15, remained in Berlin. Whipple has one son.

WIDOW OF YEAR ENDS LIFE

Using a radio atenna, Mrs. Johanna L. Whalen, 56, a widow, hanged herself in her second floor apartment, 1023 Jancey street, this morning. Deputy Coroner Roy Adelsberger announced after an investigation. While her sister, Mrs. Catherine Kreveck, also a widow, was marketing, Mrs. Whalen fastened the wire noose to a transom in the apartment and stepped off a chair.

Mrs. Kreveck said Mrs. Whalen had been despondent since the death of her husband a year ago and had been treated at both Columbia and Mercy hospitals.

Boy Sentences Self To Miss No School

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—A 17-year-old boy, who admitted burglarizing a service station, was allowed yesterday by Superior Court Judge L. N. Turrentine to fix his own sentence.

The youth "sentenced" himself to perfect attendance and deportment records in school for one year; do his home work regularly; live with his parents and have two nights out each week; to attend church and Sunday school functions.

AMELIA SETS TRANS-U.S. RECORD

First Woman to Fly Non-Stop Across Continent

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, the first woman to fly the Atlantic, streaked out of the west today, and with a perfect three-point landing at 11:31 a. m., Pittsburgh time, became the first woman to make a nonstop transcontinental flight.

The official time for her flight was 19 hours, 7 minutes and 56 seconds, or 1 hour, 28 minutes and 57 seconds more than the transcontinental record of 17 hours, 39 minutes and 59 seconds held by Capt. Frank Hawks.

Although she failed to set a record by bettering Hawk's time, chalk up a new distance flight record for women, by exceeding the 2,000-mile mark made last year by Miss Ruth Nichols in her Oakland (Cal.)-Lousville (Ky.) flight.

FLIER TIRED

It was a tired-looking blonde flier who climbed out of the crimson and gold high wing Lockheed-Vega today att he airport, and was almost knocked over by the enthusiastic crowd that rushed out to the plane to greet her.

Photographers asked Mrs. Earhart to smile, but she told them:

"I don't feel much like smiling. I'm so tired."

But a moment later a broad smile was wreathing her features.

Her first request was for "water, please?" She had carried a thermos bottle of water with her on the flight, she explained, but it became so hot that she could not drink it.

After a drink of water, Mrs. Earhart talked of her flight. She said:

"It was a beautiful trip. If I had the weather I had on my first attempt (referring to the transcontinental flight in which she was forced down at Columbus by a faulty oil line), I would have broken the record."

KEEPS HIGH IN AIR

She explained why she probably ably had not been sighted oftener in the flight, when she said:

"I flew at 10,000 feet altitude most of the way."

The tousled haired aviatrix was wearing the same flying kit she wore on her trans-Atlantic hop—brown Jodhpurs, a leather jacket and a brown bandana.

The flier's husband, George Palmer Putnam, was not at the airport to greet her when she landed.

Someone asked her what she was going to do next. The famous Earhart smile flashed:

"I am going to my home in Rye, and rest."

Later she said that she would go to the Cleveland air races on Labor Day as a member of the contest committee.

HOTEL GUEST SOUGHT IN TRAGEDY

Man Found Dying In New Orleans; Call On Phone Clue

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—A guest found dying in acute pain in a hotel room here today was tentatively identified by police as Dave R. Ettinger, 35, official of a Chicago optical company, and authorities said they learned he was thought kidnaped in Chicago several days ago.

He was found after hotel attaches heard groans in the room and almost simultaneously the hotel desk received a call from a man who asked for instructions about administering an antidote.

SECOND GUEST MISSING

A physician found only the dying man in the room. He succumbed before first aid could be administered. Another guest who had occupied the room with him was nott located.

The two arrived late yesterday and registered as A. N. Sanderson, of St. Louis, and A. J. Blair, of Cleveland, O., but the hotel did not know which was supposed to be Sanderson and which Blair.

Effects of the dead man were marked "Dave R. Ettinger, of Chicago," and included correspondence bearing the name of the optical company. A call to Chicago police brought the information that Ettinger was reported to have been kidnaped four days ago.

BANK WITHDRAWAL BARED

Among the victim's papers was a bank book in Ettinger's name, showing a withdrawal of $1,000 from the Bowery Bank of New York three days ago with a considerable balance remaining.

The body was turned over to the Coroner for an autopsy while police instituted a search for the second guest.

2 AIRMEN HOP FOR NORWAY

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Clyde A. Lee, of Oshkosh, Wis., and John Bochkon, of Brooklyn, N. Y., took off early today for Oslo, Norway.

Their plane, the Green Mountain Boy, rose into a cloudless sky. Weather reports gave them a tail wind across the Atlantic and predicted clear weather on the other side except for some rain 600 miles out.

The fliers expect to make the 3,150 miles to Oslo in 30 hours, but they carried enough gasoline to stay aloft for seven hours beyond that time. Their route lay via Dublin, Ireland: Boston, England, and Cuxhaven, Germany.

FORT MENIER, Anticosta Island, Quebec, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—The flying family of Hutchinsons, en route from New York to London via Greenland, were guests of lonely islanders today before taking off for Labrador on the third leg of their adventure.

The islanders were highly pleased to have aerial guests, and Hutchinson's two children, Kathryn and Janet, took an interest in tame deer.

GREEN TO SPEAK IN PULPIT HERE

Appearance of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in the pulpit of Trinity Cathedral Sunday, September 4, was expected today following announcement that an invitation to speak at regular services in the church had been extended him.

It was understood the labor leader had accepted the invitation. He will speak at West View Park Monday during a Labor Day celebration sponsored by the Pittsburgh Central Labor Union.

Green studied for the Baptist ministry in his youth, but became active in labor movements before he realized his ambition to enter the clergy.

BLONDE, 3 MEN IN NEW HOLDUP

Three men and a blonde added another to their series of holdups early today when they kidnaped Dr. C. B. Smith, of Philadelphia, in the downtown district and robbed him of $17, on the William Penn, highway, according to a police report.

Smith told police a man leaped on his running board near Hotel Henry and forced him to drive out the William Penn Highway. When they had driven several miles an automobile in which two men and a girl were following pulled alongside, and the robbery was committed, Smith said.

One dollar of Smith's money was returned to him. Returning it, the highwayman said:

"I never take a man's last dollar."

Three holdups were traced to the gang yesterday. One of their victims, Constable M. J. McCann, was lured from his automobile by the girl and robbed.

Morris Cohen, of 5660 Melwood street, was robbed of his diamond ring, valued at $1,000, early today by two men, who held him up near his home, according to a police report. He also surrendered his wallet, containing $19.

Poll in Pennsylvania Shows State Doubtful

By COLE E. MORGAN
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Pennsylvania entered the list of doubtful states today in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

The addition of 1,496 ballots from the Keystone State, bringing its total up to 4,776; reduced Gov Roosevelt's majority from yesterday's 214 to 164. The state divides—Roosevelt, 2,470; Hoover, 2,306.

The addition of 442 ballots in the Syracuse section of upstate New York, which divided 294 for Hoover to 148 for Roosevelt, reduced the Roosevelt majority in that state from yesterday's 853 to 707. A total of 10,059 ballots have now been tabulated from New York state.

Roosevelt holds the state on a 54-46 per cent division.

Roosevelt suffered a further loss today with the tabulation of 1,442 ballots from Indiana, which divided 748 Hoover and 694 Roosevelt, a net loss of 54, and a reduc-

Tramp Foils Blasting Of Bridge, Saves Train

TORONTO, Aug. 25.—(INS.)—A tramp, sleeping under the Oakville Bridge a few miles from here, was credited today with frustrating a plot to blow up a Canadian National Railways train.

Nineteen charges of dynamite were found placed at one end of the bridge. Detonators were wired to the rails.

The tramp was awakened by the sounds of hammering over his head. He saw two men carrying large bundles which they set under the bridge.

The tramp found the wires leading from the dynamite to the rails, which were electrified at that point for automatic signals. The first train passing over would have completed the circuit and set off the blast.

The tramp disconnected the wires and informed the police. A freight train passed over the spot soon after. Authorities believe that the explosives were placed for the purpose of robbery after the proposed wrecking of the train.

N. Y. OFFICIAL UPHOLDS WALKER STAND ON BUS FRANCHISE

TRANSIT HEAD GRILLED BY SEABURY

Mayor Loses Temper, Demands Accuser Be Sworn

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Mayor James J. Walker had a staunch ally on the witness stand today at his removal hearing before Gov. Roosevelt in the person of John H. Delaney, gray-haired chairman of the New York City Board of Transportation.

Despite a heavy cross-fire of questions by the silver-haired Samuel Seabury, Delaney loyally stood by the policies of the Walker administration which resulted in the granting of a franchise in 1927 to the Equitable Bus Corporation.

BOARD CONVINCED

Repeatedly, Delaney insisted that the board of transpportation was convinced, when the Equitable was granted the franchise to operate buses in New York City, that the company had ample financial backing. Delaney said it was his conviction that the J. G. White Co., widely-known financiers, was "behind the Equitable."

Clashes occurred between opposing counsel during the cross-examination of Delaney. Once, when Seabury made a rather long statement, Walker shouted from his seat at defense counsel table:

"Swear him in."

Adjournment was taken until late this afternoon, when Delaney was to resume the stand. He was in the witness chair throughout most of last night's session and all of this morning's session.

HEARING DRAGS

Nobody has a definite idea when the hearing, which has been in progress since August 11, will end, because Mayor Walker is fighting Seabury every step of the way and the Governor is giving every evidence of wanting to give the Mayor a "full hearing."

Gov. Roosevelt, however, is obdurate in refusing to allow the Mayor to get in evidence of a "Republican plot" or any other kind of a scheme to "get" Walker.

Curtin then said it was no use to hold the eight Republican leaders under subpena and they were excused from the hearing room.

VETO OF RELIEF BONDS HINTED

Relief leaders were perturbed today by a report from Harrisburg that Gov. Pinchot planned to veto the bill passed by the special session of the Legislature authorizing the Allegheny County Poor Board to issue emergency relief bonds.

Maj. Philip Matthews, a member of the committee on control, of the Emergency Association, said:

"If Gov. Pinchot vetoes this bill, we will be without funds by September 10. By that time the $200,000 the Poor Board appropriated to aid the 16,000 destitute families in the county outside of Pittsburgh will have been exhausted.

"The bill was purely an emergency measure. It authorized the Poor Board to issue bonds up to 2 per cent of the assessed value of property for this year only. The board proposed to issue $800,000 bonds."

EYNON ACCUSED IN CHEATING

five dealers in the state was compelled to obtain the gasoline license required.

More than a year ago Eynon admitted that gasoline taxes had been collected largely on the basis of political favoritism, but blamed this condition on Charles Johnson, who preceded Dr. King as secretary of revenue.

Eynon's free ice was revealed in an audit of the bureau, Dr. King said. The practice was stopped immediately, King added.

HALTS LICENSE FAVORS

Before he made these charges against Eynon, Dr. King announced that his department would no longer comply with requests for specific numbers on license plates.

Dr. King said Eynon had been fired because he gave two of the three murdered Volpes low-numbered tags which also bore the initials of the applicants.

The new order was not expected to extend to Gov. Pinchot's office, which this year issued more than 3,000 specially numbered license tags. Neither will it affect the official tags for cars of state officials, it is believed.

But for political leaders, ward chairmen, bootleggers and others whose low-numbered plates perhaps impressed traffic policemen there will be no more.

It was revealed that the request for the Volpe plates had come from Charles Pearson, of Pittsburgh, former newspaperman, former press agent for the Department of Highways, and former workmen's compensation referee.

POLITICIANS LINKED

The request was made on stationery of the Allegheny County Commissioners' office, according to H. Richard Stickel, director of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

The request was made in November of last year, when the late Joseph G. Armstrong, E. V. Babcock and C. C. McGovern were commissioners.

In Pittsburgh today Pearson said the Allegheny County Republican organization had requested him to apply for the Volpe plates, but he said he couldn't remember what individual had made the request.

Stickel and Eynon today were engaged in a controversy over who assigned the Volpe plates.

Eynon and Stickel blamed each other. Dr. King supported Stickel and said records of the bureau proved Eynon had given the order.

Johnny Volpe's license plates for his flashy 16-cylinder coupe read: JV-8. Arthur had two sets—AV-8 and AV-12. Louis Volpe, one of the survivors, boasted LV-7.

John Bazzano, reputed boss of the Volpes, who was slain, also owned favored plates.

From several cities today came expressions of protest and regret over Eynon's dismissal. Motor clubs rose to his defense.

It was no secret that Eynon was in political disfavor not only with Dr. King, but also with Gov. Pinchot.

ROOSEVELT WIN SURE--TUNNEY

PARIS, Aug. 25.—(Universal.)—The November election is already as good as won by Gov. Roosevelt, according to James J. (Gene) Tunney.

President Hoover's straddle on the prohibition question did much toward assuring a Democratic victory, Tunney said yesterday at the Anglo-American Press Association's luncheon in honor of Norman Armour, new United States minister to Haiti. The former heavyweight champion declared:

"Young men in America are dissatisfied with the economic and political ideas which Hoover represents. I am with them and I look forward to the coming battle with gusto, because, while Roosevelt's victory is certain, every vote won for him means that much more toward assuring prosperity."

Tunney said he plans to sail for New York Saturday to discuss his part in the coming campaign with Roosevelt. Mrs. Tunney left a hospital yesterday, having been cured of an infection of the ear.

Friend Sees Tyrone Man Kill Himself

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Frank L. Gardiner, 26, a pharmacist, of Tyrone, Pa., committed suicide last night, police were told, by shooting himself through the temple at the apartment of Frank Costello, a friend.

Costello said Gardiner was donning a tuxedo to go out with him and other friends when he removed a pistol from his bag, put the pistol to his head and fired.

STRIKERS' ARMY HALTS MARCH ON MINES

15,000 Abandon Drive After Scores Are Hurt in Battle

International News Service.

DUQUOIN, Ill., Aug. 25.—The striking miners from the north, whose invasion of Southern Illinois coal fields was halted by gunfire of deputy sheriffs last night, are going back home.

Fifteen thousand miners, who retreated to Coulterville, 15 miles northwest of here, last night, following the foray with Franklin County law officers on the county line, voted today to return home and postpone their attempt to enter Franklin County.

Another 10,000 miners who invaded this section yesterday, left for their homes immediately after the battle last night.

WILL FIGHT INVASION

The miners from the north had intended to picket the large mines in Franklin County, urging workers to strike against the newly-signed $5 a day wage scale.

Superintendent of State Highway Patrolmen Walter Moody declared that he would make every effort to prevent another invasion of Franklin County. Moody estimated that eight men had been wounded and 100 beaten in the battle which raged along a three-mile front and lasted for an hour last night.

The clash occurred at Christopher, just within the Franklin County border, when a vanguard of some 300 strikers' automobiles penetrated the line. A force of 500 sheriff's deputies, most of them especially sworn citizen officers, met the invaders and ordered them to turn back.

DEPUTIES OPEN FIRE

Disobeying the order, the strikers were greeted with a burst of gunfire that punctured many tires. A moment later the deputies charged into the unionists' caravan, swinging clubs.

Though it was believed none was seriously injured in the clash, conjecture was rife that some dead might be lying in the cornfields.

Sergt. Buck Kempter, of the state highway police, a witness of the struggle, reported he had seen one woman shot in the ear, a man struck in the chin by a bullet and another striker wounded in the breast.

Iowa Roads Cleared Of Farm Strikers

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—All highways into Council Bluffs except one, were cleared of Farmers Holiday Association picketers shortly before noon today.

At least temporary respite followed nearly 24 hours of apprehension, during which Sheriff P. A. Lainson's special force of deputies, armed with tear gas bombs and guns, struggled to make the highways safe for truckers.

A few strikers remained, however, on Highway 34, scene of last night's disorders.

Meanwhile, Lainson, sheriffs of a few nearby counties and 50 deputies, prepared to offer armed escort to trucks.

Gang Steals Truck, Tortures Driver

DETROIT, Aug. 25.—(INS.)—Highway pirates who kidnaped and tortured a truck driver near Toledo were sought here today after the stolen truck, bearing $10,000 worth of automobile parts, was reported seen on the Toledo-Detroit road.

The driver, Donald Welsh, 36, told authorities he was kidnaped by three men and held prisoner five hours in an abandoned farmhouse. He was tortured into a promise not to report the theft, he said.

P. S. C. INQUIRY OPENS SEPT. 1

HARRISBURG, Aug. 25.—(INS.)—The committee named by the State Senate to investigate relations between the Public Service Commission and the state's utilities will meet here next Thursday, September 1, to lay the groundwork for its campaign.

Senator William S. Rial, Westmoreland, chairman, announced the meeting date today to curb the tide of speculative rumors revolving around a possible choice of counsel for the committee. At its meeting next week, choice of counsel is expected to be made.

Prominently mentioned for the legal post are John H. Maurer, assistant district attorney of Philadelphia, supported by Senator Samuel W. Salus, a member of the committee, and Charles J. Margiotti.

Meanwhile, as the investigation committee organized its forces, Gov. Gifford Pinchot was expected to appoint at least one new member of the commission before the week ends.

Civilians Proposed For Army 'K.P.' Duty

FORT SNELLING, Minn., Aug. 25. — (AP.) — "Kitchen police" duty, that bugaboo of all soldiers' lives, soon may be eliminated at the Fort Snelling Army post.

Plans were revealed today whereby civilians may be employed to take care of such tasks as peeling potatoes and washing dishes, providing Brig. Gen. John H. Hughes, commanding, approves.

EATON NAMED IN $25,000 SUIT

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 25.—(INS.)—Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland capitalist, and three other officials of Otis & Co., a brokerage house, today were named defendants in a $25,000 recovery suit filed in Federal Court here by George and Elsie Curfman, of Colorado Springs, Col.

Defendants named with Eaton were Charles A. Otis, Richard Inglis and Marvin C. Harper.

The petition alleged that the Curfmans deposited $35,000 with the Colorado Springs office of Otis & Co., in July, 1926, for the purchase of certain designated stocks. It was charged that the money was misused to make short sales and that $25,000 of the deposits was lost in speculation.

JAPS DEFY U. S. IN UPHOLDING CHINA 'GRAB'

Washington Alarmed As Tokio Strengthens Manchurian Link

Universal Service.

TOKIO, Aug. 25.—Japan will proceed immediately to recognize Manchuria in defiance of Secretary of State Stimson's declaration of Far East policy, the League of Nations covenant and the Kellogg-Briand peace pact, Count Yasuye Uchida, foreign minister, declared today in addressing the Diet.

He declared that only in this way could the peace of the Far East be restored and that experience has taught that the only way to deal with China is by force, a policy which she has determined upon.

UPHOLDS ARMED FORCE

After saying that the chaotic conditions and revolutionary policy of China are responsible for tension in the East, he continued:

"It is admitted by those conversant with actual conditions in China that no remedy can be effected by having recourse either to the covenant of the League of Nations, or to any other organ of what may be termed 'machinery of peace.' In fact it has been the practice of the powers, as has been demonstrated on innumerable occasions, to repair or prevent injuries to their important rights and interests in China by direct application of force.

"There are those who argue as though the action of Japan were a violation of the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact, but such contention has no foundation in fact."

Count Uchida then denied for his government that it has any intention of annexing the new state, but made it plain that it would receive every assistance and protection.

The foreign minister declared conditions in China are such that further complications are expected.

WASHINGTON ALARMED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(Universal.)—In the absence of Secretary of State Stimson, who is on vacation in the Adirondacks, official comment on Count Uchida's address on foreign relations was withheld.

There was no mistaking the feeling, however, that the Japanese government had precipitated an issue of the first magnitude both for the League of Nations and for the "new doctrine" which Secretary Stimson espoused in his New York speech of August 2 and President Hoover adopted as his own in his speech of acceptance.

Both the President and Stimson have stipulated the Far East in their references to nonrecognition of territory gained by force of arms.

STATE MAY GET R. F. C. LOAN

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—It was learned here today on good authority that the renewed application of Gov. Gifford Pinchot for a federal relief loan to Pennsylvania, would be favorably acted upon by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation within a week or 10 days.

A high official of the corporation pointed out that since the Pennsylvania Legislature passed relief tax legislation, the corporation was inclined to look with more favor upon Gov. Pinchot's application.

The Pennsylvania Governor has applied for a loan of $45,000,000 for relief purposes, and wants an immediate loan of $10,000,000.

The limit of relief any one state can receive from the corporation is fixed by law at $45,000,000. It is not thought probable that the corporation will authorize the full sum.

'3-Gun' Loses Fight To Keep Out of Jail

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Harold D. (Three-Gun) Wilson of the prohibition administrators' staff at Omaha, Neb., faces an indeterminate stay in the Newcastle County Workhouse as the result of a mandate sent here by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Philadelphia.

Wilson, formerly deputy prohibition administrator here, was held in contempt of court by a federal judge in February, 1931, when he refused to name the person from whom he obtained a key to the headquarters of the Democratic League of Delaware, which he raided. He obtained his release in bail pending appeal. While the appeal was pending, he was transferred to Omaha.

Harold (Three-Gun) Wilson's bold raid on the Delaware Democratic League's headquarters was considered by many of his friends here as his answer to his transfer to Wilmington after he had raided the Amen Corner Club's picnic at the Hipper Dipper grounds at McKees Rocks.

U. S. Pacifist Presents Soviet 'War Horror' Plan

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Lester P. Barlow, military engineer and inventor, of Stamford, Conn., has announced he has given the Soviet government the secrets of a war device so terrible it makes all armaments futile.

A militant pacifist, the engineer said he explained his invention to Russian technicians because the Soviet government was the only one of the major powers to take a stand for complete disarmament. He returned from Moscow a few days ago.

He went there, he said, as guest of the Soviet government, with the understanding Russia would use the knowledge he took them as a "big stick" at the disarmament conference in Geneva, to emphasize the futility of all present armament programs.

The Geneva Conference adjourned while he was still in Moscow, explaining to a corps of 20 government technicians how high explosives, phosphorous fire and Lewisite gas could be dropped on a city from a secret base 1,000 miles distant. He said:

"Much to my surprise, the Russian government representatives then urged me to return here and report in full to the United States all the negotiations.

"Because they are very eager to win recognition for Soviet Russia, they said they preferred to avoid embarrassment of having sole knowledge of the plan."

CONFESSES AFFAIR WITH SLAIN WOMAN TO SAVE WIFE

YORK MOTHER ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Husband Declares He Neglected Family For Victim

International News Service.

YORK, Pa., Aug. 25.—Joseph Spiridonof painted himself as an unfaithful husband in the York County Court today in an effort to save his 31-year-old wife and the mother of his six children from prison or possibly death.

Mrs. Mabel Spiridonof, the wife, is on trial for the slaying of Mrs. Pauline Eckenrode, 18-year-old widow who, she believed, was stealing her husband's love.

The defense scored heavily when Judge Raymond P. Sherwood allowed Spiridonof to testify despite vigorous objections from the prosecution.

MISTREATED WIFE

The husband then told the court and jury how he had mistreated his wife, beat her and inflamed her jealousy by telling her that he had been friendly with Mrs. Eckenrode.

Her husband said he was not in the room when the shot was fired but rushed in at the pistol report, picked up the revolver which he recognized as his, and took it to his automobile where it was later found by police.

The case was expected to reach the jury late this afternoon.

WIFE'S MIND 'BLANK'

Spiridonof followed his wife to the stand after she had completed her version of the shooting.

"If I shot the woman I didn't know anything of it."

So the wife asserted, claiming her mind was blank at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heist, their son, Gerald, and his wife, said Mrs. Spiridonof broke in upon a party at their home last June, saw her husband at the kitchen door, put her arm around his waist a moment and then turned back to the living room. They said she asked:

"Who is this Pauline Eckenrode?"

As the young widow, mother of two children, arose, Mrs. Spiridonof slapped her, produced a pistol and fired.

As Mrs. Spiridonof left the stand yesterday her children tried to reach her. They were prevented by the crowd that packed the courtroom. They threw her a kiss.

Mrs. Spiridonof appeared too dazed to realize their presence and was led back to her cell without responding.

21 FLEE BLAZE ON NORTH SIDE

An 11-year-old girl rescued her canary bird from a fire early today that damaged a three-story dwelling at 2000 Beaver avenue, causing 21 persons, many of them children, to flee.

The fire started on the first floor in the prescription room of the Lefkowitz Pharmacy, firemen reported, and spread to the stairways, filling the second and thrid floors with smoke. Damage was estimated by Battalion Chief Dan Jones at $1,500.

Before running to safety from her bed, Rita, 11, the youngest of the four children of Mrs. Tillie McCarty, rushed through smoke-filled rooms to take out her canary bird, "Billie."

Others forced to the street were 2-year-old Joan, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Haberl; the wife and five children of Edward J. White; Mrs. Margaret Adam; the wife and son of James Dooly, and Nelson Rymer, his wife, Agnes, and their daughter, Thelma, 16.

The second floor also was occupied by the offices of Dr. R. E. Dice, dentist, and Dr. E. W. Logan, a physician.

'Adams Answers Musicians' Charge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Secretary Adams said the Marine Band played at the Hoover notification ceremonies because it was the duty of the band to appear on any occasion at which the Chief Executive was present. He was replying to a protest by Joseph N. Weber, president of the American Federation of Musicians, of New York, that use of the band was illegal and deprived civilians of employment.

Lita Fights Chaplin Ban on Sons in Films

Father Gets Court Order; Hearing Set Saturday

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Lita Grey Chaplin, divorced wife of Charles Chaplin, film comedian, today said she would oppose efforts of her former husband to prevent their two sons from entering films. She declared:

"I don't believe any parent has the right to take away the chance of their children entering any profession and particularly when it is one in which they will follow in the footsteps of their father."

The screen comedian was in possession of a temporary order restraining Mrs. Chaplin from allowing the boys, Charles, Jr., 7, and Sidney, 6, to enter film work. A hearing on the order will be held Saturday.

Mrs. Chaplin recently signed a contract for the boys and herself with the Fox Film Corporation.

The petition of Chaplin for the order set forth the claim that film careers for the two boys would be "a detriment to their future welfare." He also declared that he was fearful the children's minds "will be diverted and that they will be influenced to follow a profession for which they may not be adapted."

Chaplin also recalled that a trust fund of $200,000 had been created for each son, and in addition $1,000 a month for their education, maintenance and support was provided.

Son Spanks Father, 74, Spoils Golden Jubilee

ROBINSON, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—There will be no golden wedding anniversary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Warsbaugh because the bridegroom of 50 years ago got spanked.

The spanking was given to 74-year-old Caleb by his son, Clifford, who took the old gentleman and put him across his knees for the chastisement.

Warsbaugh and his wife, Ida, 67, had sent invitations to 12 children and 41 grandchildren to attend the anniversary party, but an argument ensued and the younger Warsbaugh took his mother's part.

Father Warsbaugh filed an assault charge. The son pleaded guilty, and a justice of the peace fined him $13.65.

TRY ATTACKERS, PANAMA TOLD

COLON, R. C. Z., Aug. 25.—(INS.)—A new complaint against two native Panama policemen accused of attacking her was to be filed today by Mrs. Elizabeth Andrew Chandler, young wife of an American aviation mechanic at France Field.

The policemen, one of whom was identified by Mrs. Chandler and both of whom were picked from a line-up by an American sailor who accompanied her home on the night of the attack, were released by Judge Rodolfo Ayarza.

The American legation, when it learned of the release of the two men, informed Secretary Guillermo Andreve, of the Department of Government and Justice of the Republic of Panama, that the United States expects Panama to prosecute the case vigorously.

WALSH, COYNE VIE FOR JOB

State Senator James J. Coyne and Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, who are far from being political admirers of each other, were fighting for a minor political plum in Common Pleas Court today.

The Senator and the superintendent each has entered a candidate for the job of constable in the First Ward, a job from which Walsh's son, Paul, resigned after being sentenced to a year in jail for violation of the election laws.

There are five applicants. Andrew Maloney is the Coyne choice. John McDonald is backed by Walsh. Alderman John J. Verona has entered Frank Cassily. William J. Duncan, now a deputy constable, is indorsed by attorneys. And Independent leaders have sponsored Frank P. McCloskey.

One of these will be named today by Judge George V. Moore.

Having resigned, young Walsh is expected to ask for a parole.

Heart Balm Suit Settled for $5,000

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Albert Fuchs, wealthy manufacturer, has settled for $5,000 the $10,000 breach of promise judgment won against him by Marie Gulickson, his former secretary, several months ago.

The action releases to Fuchs' wife his $125,000 oceanside home in Santa Monica which Miss Gulickson had attached to satisfy the judgment.

Japanese Beetle Army Perils Plant Life Here

Quarantine Looms as Bugs Appear in Sharpsburg

Fruit orchards, flower gardens, field crops and lawns in the Pittsburgh district were threatened today by the Japanese beetle, a small bug with a mighty big appetite.

The Japanese Beetle, natural size.

This startling fact was revealed by Henry R. Eby, director of the Allegheny County Agricultural Extension Association following the discovery of a large number of the beetles in Sharpsburg, by two small girls and their brother.

Although 600 specially prepared beetle traps have been placed about the city by W. J. Spicer, who is in charge of the United States beetle patrol in this district, this is the first time any beetles have been captured. Since Spicer's traps failed to catch any of them, it was thought this territory was free of the brown little pests.

Eby, whose work compels him to travel to all parts of the county, said today:

"Hundreds of bugs have been brought to me by people who claimed they were the Japanese beetle, but this is the first time that the real beetle has been brought into my office."

The Japanese beetles were first discovered by Julia, Jean and Charles Wikert, 212 Twenty-first street, Sharpsburg. They caught more than 25 on the flowers in their yard and put them in jars to keep for pets. They had never seen bugs like them before.

Several of the "pets" were later given to Eby to identify. What the children thought were cute little pets proved to be the omnivorous Japanese beetle, which skeletonizes and chews up most everything.

Eby said:

"Action will have to be taken to check the beetle at once. We will notify the Bureau of Plant Quarantine, of the United States Department of Agriculture and they probably will take immediate action by quarantining the infested area."

DICK REYNOLDS SAYS SMITH WAS SLAIN

Brother of Libby's Mate to Push Prosecution

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Aug. 25. — (AP.) — A belief that his brother, Smith, was a victim of murder and not a suicide, has been expressed by R. J. (Dick) Reynolds, Jr.

Just arrived from the Canary Islands, after a 12,000-mile trip by steamer, airplane and automobile, the ruddy-faced 220-pound heir to the Reynolds tobacco millions, said his opinion of the tragedy was based on a study of the testimony taken before a coroner's jury which July 12 blamed the death of young Reynolds on unknown parties.

SHOT AFTER PARTY

Smith Reynolds, 20-year-old aviation enthusiast, was shot fatally July 6 at Reynolda, the family estate here, shortly after the conclusion of a gay birthday party at which witnesses said quantities of corn whisky and homebrewed beer were drunk.

Early this month his widow, Libby Holman, former singer of blues songs on Broadway, and Albert (AB) Walker, 19-year-old Winston-Salem youth, who was Smith's secretary, were indicted on first degree murder charges. They are under $25,000 bond each for their appearance for trial.

Dicky Reynolds, wearing a narrow mourning band around his left sleeve, sat in the apartment of his attorney, Stratton Coyner, yesterday, discussing the case and telling of his 48-day trip from the African coast, in dispassionate tones and with an easy manner.

DEPENDS ON STATE

When asked if he contemplated the hiring of private prosecution to assist the authorities, he replied:

"No. I believe the regularly constituted authorities are fully capable of handling the case, and are going to the bottom of it."

Carlisle Higgins, solicitor, and J. Erle McMichael, assistant solicitor, are prosecuting officers. Transou Scott, sheriff of Forsyth County, has been in charge of working up evidence.

Dick answered sharply in the negative when asked if he thought his brother was of a suicidal temperament, or expressed an inferiority complex.

Miss Holman, in testifying at the coroner's hearing, asserted her husband, six years younger than herself, was the victim of an inferiority complex.

HUSBAND LOSES BRIDE OF 14

HARRISBURG, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—A 14-year-old wife of 10 days today told Judge Frank B. Wickersham that she loved her husband, but "guessed" she had better go back to her parents.

Sarah E. Amich is the girl bride; William M. Hoffman, 20, the husband. Both live near Halifax.

Hoffman instituted habeas corpus proceedings to force her parents to permit her to live with him.

On August 16, the couple eloped to Frederick, Md. They returned the same evening in an old automobile. Upon their return, Charles Amich, the testimony revealed, headed directly for the Hoffman home and took his daughter back home.

Efforts are being made to have the Maryland marriage annulled. Judge Wickersham continued the case until tomorrow, pending Hoffman's hearing here before an alderman on charges of enticing a girl under 16 into a marriage.

SCRANTON, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—A fireman was killed today by falling walls while helping fight a fire in West Scranton. Seven others, trapped in the collapsing building, were rescued by comrades.

SENTENCED FOR TORTURING SON

John Reed, 32, Mexican Indian, of 9 Romeo street, who testified recently in Morals Court he had burned the lips of his 9-year-old son with a poker because the lad used profane language, pleaded guilty to assault and battery and cruelty before Judge George V. Moore, today. He was sentenced to serve from two and one-half to four years in the workhouse.

Mrs. Ethel Peterson, of the Humane Society, informed the court that Reed's wife, Agnes, was in Mayview, and that the son, Lawrence, was in the Home-Finding Department of Juvenile Court.

Reed told the court:

"I must have been drunk when I beat my wife. Burning the boy was an accident."

Judge Moore replied:

"I don't believe it was an accident. I cannot understand how a father could treat a son as you have."

Capital Gay as Jobless Suffer, New Book Shows

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(Universal.)—Washington notables are taken for another ride in "More Merry Go Round," sequel edition of a recent anonymously written best-seller, released today by its publishers, Liveright, Inc.

"The Dance of the Depression"—the opening chapter—outlines the social posturings of administration leaders while pointing a sharp contrast of those galeties with the treatment of the World War veterans in the B. E. F., and the unemployed.

It is stated as a Supreme Court secret that Chief Justice Hughes seeks to suppress dissenting opinions and various human and not wholly flattering traits of "Nine Old Men" are reduced to type.

Secretary of the Treasury Mills is called the brains of the White House and accredited with most of the policies for which President Hoover takes credit.

White House social activities are alleged to cost 10 times as much as those of previous administrations.

It is written, too, that Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, is among those having relatives on the payroll; that former Secretary of Commerce Lamont tried to take out $100,000 in life insurance as collateral for bank loans; that the hedges around the White House grounds used to be a favorite hiding spot for bootleggers' liquor.

BOARD FAVORS HOME LOAN BANK HERE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—With Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Delaware comprising the third district of the Federal Home Land Bank system, it became increasingly evident today that Pittsburgh would get the regional branch bank.

Pittsburgh is centrally located in the district and with Pennsylvania holding approximately $1,500,000,000 out of $1,600,000,000 of mortgages held by all states in the district, the board has been convinced that Pittsburgh is the logical center for the branch bank.

William Best, of Pittsburgh, one of the five members of the board, has been "pulling" for his native city.

Best has not been seriously urged by citizens of either Harrisburg or Philadelphia to consider these cities as branch bank contenders.

Headquarters Sought In 12 Bank Zones

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Headquarters for 12 banks to serve home-financing institutions in each of the dozen districts it has created were sought today by the Federal Home Loan Board.

This was the next move forward after yesterday's action dividing the country into 12 districts. Speedy action was promised by the board.

Difficulties in determining the new banking regions were solved by the board after a two-week study. It said the districts were arranged so states in each would have mortgages sufficient to supply business for the District Home Loan Bank.

This rule determined also the amount of capital for each district. The New York area, topping all others on the basis of $9,500,000,000 in available mortgages, was assigned $20,000,000 capital.

DISTRICTS MAPPED

The districts, available mortgages and assigned capital for each bank are:

No. 1—Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. Mortgages, $3,600,000,000; capital, $12,500,000.

No. 2—New York, New Jersey, Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands. Mortgages, $9,500,000,000; capital, $20,000,000.

No. 3—Delaware, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Mortgages, $1,600,000,000; capital, $12,500,000.

No. 4—Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and the District of Columbia. Mortgages, $520,000,000; capital, $10,000,000.

No. 5—Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee. Mortgages, $1,250,000,000; capital, $15,000,000.

No. 6—Michigan and Indiana. Mortgages, $575,000,000; capital, $8,000,000.

No. 7—Wisconsin and Illinois. Mortgages, $825,000,000; capital, $15,000,000.

No. 8—North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri. Mortgages, $350,000,000; capital, $7,500,000.

No. 9—Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and New Mexico. Mortgages, $340,000,000; capital, $10,000,000.

No. 10—Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Colorado. Mortgages, $400,000,000; capital, $7,500,000.

No. 11—Montana, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and Alaska. Mortgages, $200,000,000; capital, $6,000,000.

No. 12—California, Nevada and Arizona. Mortgages, $650,000,000; capital, $10,000,000.

Verein Convention Comes Here in 1933

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—The Catholic Central Verein of America and the National Catholic Women's Union closed its convention here yesterday with election of officers and selection of Pittsburgh for the 1933 convention.

Willibald Eibner, of New Ulm, Minn., was re-elected president of the Central Verein, and Mrs. Sophia Wavering, of Quincy, Ill., president of the women's union. The verein chose Frank Stifter, of Carneige, Pa., as assistant secretary.

Man Steals Truck To Visit Sweetheart

DETROIT, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—George Noel, 24, of Dayton, O., claimed he was just on his way to Toledo, O., to see his sweetheart when he was arrested recently with a truck and trailer which had been reported stolen. But Judge Donald Van Zile sentenced him in Recorder's Court yesterday to serve from two and a half to five years in the state prison at Jackson for theft of the machine.

Two Shot in Attempt To Rob Gas Station

BELLAIRE, O., Aug. 25.—Elmer Beal, 24, and Elmer Miller, 22, both of Bellaire, were shot early today when they attempted to rob the Eddy service station, police reported. Both are in the local hospital. Vernon Eddy, proprietor of the station, told police he fired a shotgun when he discovered two men attempting to break into his station.

Disputed Portrait Rejected by State

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—A portrait which shows Frank G. Allen, former Governor, with his hands in his trousers pockets will never hang in the State House.

The executive council voted to support the State Art Commission in its decision that the portrait lacked artistic merit in some respects and should not be accepted.

Patron of Violin Prodigies Marries

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(INS.)—Honeymoon plans were made today by Mary Elizabeth Lackey, 30, patron of the San Francisco boy violin prodigies, the Ricci brothers, and her bridegroom-of-a-day, Robert Barron, attorney.

Miss Lackey took the two California children as pupils and arranged concerts for them. The parents sued, and were granted the boys' custody.

Girl Fails to Save Drowning Companion

PARRY SOUND, Ont., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Maxime Bowen, 14, of Cleveland, O., was drowned yesterday in Georgian Bay in which she had been swimming with another girl. Her companion made an attempt at rescue but was frustrated by the struggles of the drowning girl.

MAN, DAUGHTER HURT IN AUTO

An aged man and his daughter were in Columbia Hospital today with injuries suffered when their automobile was struck by a street car at Penn and Braddock avenues last night. Miss Elsie Shiffler, 50, driver of the machine, suffered several fractured ribs, and John Shiffler, 75, a probable fracture of the hip. They live at 425 Agatha street, Pitcairn.

Suffering bruises and lacerations when struck by an automobile in Schenley Park, near Forbes street entrance, last night, Selma Filser, 16, of 3609 Dawson street, was taken to Montefiore Hospital. Her condition was not serious, physicians said.

N. Y. Zoo Curator Hunts Deadly Snakes

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(INS.)—In pursuit of the elusive and venomous [illegible] aster specics of snakes, Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of mammals and reptiles at the New York Zoo, will sail today for Panama.

The deadly snake was seen there recently, but because it is difficult to capture, no specimens are in captivity in this country.

Dry Law Repealed, Plead for Violators

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 25.—(INS.)—A move to free 20,000 violators of Finland's now repealed prohibition law gained headway today. Because of crowded prison conditions resulting from the arrest of nearly 30,000 annually for drunkenness under the dry law, none of these 20,000 violators have served their terms.

WATER COOLER INQUIRY SET

Investigation of the stuffing of county airport water coolers with tobacco, chewing gum and sardines is scheduled for Monday.

Commissioner C. M. Barr has asked that representatives of the Whitehill Danforth Company, who sold the Westinghouse coolers for the airport, and the Ochiltree Electric Company, which sold 65 General Electric coolers to the county, be summoned.

Halsey R. Bazley, director of airport, told the commissioners yesterday he thought it hardly possible that county employes would have stuffed the coolers.

A contract for two coolers for the county jail was laid on the table until after the inquiry Monday.

Some of Steve Forrest's Entertainers for Lucky Buck Day

Final Instructions for Tomorrow's Lucky Buck Day Kennywood Park

We know that hundreds and hundreds of boys and girls are going to the Sun-Telegraph Lucky Buck Day celebration at Kennywood on Friday so we won't tell you how to spend your Lucky Bucks when you get out to the park.

Count your Lucky Bucks just as if they were real money, figuring "1" Lucky Buck is worth one cent in exchange, "2" Lucky Bucks is worth two cents in exchange, and "5" Lucky Bucks as five cents. So, if you want a ticket for a 10-cent ride at Kennywood, peel off a five, two twos and a one—or any number that will make 10 Lucky Bucks, or enough Lucky Bucks to represent in cents the regular price of the ride.

There will be 15 exchange booths at the park on the day of the picnic. To avoid confusion and keep the crowds of children moving smoothly, only two tickets can be secured at one time. There is, however, nothing to stop the boys and girls with Lucky Bucks from getting 2 tickets as often as they can use them. This arrangement has been made so that the youngsters cannot load up with more tickets than they can use and thus keep other boys and girls from enjoying the rides. Remember, you can have as many tickets as your Lucky Bucks call for but can only obtain two at a time. Bear in mind that Lucky Bucks are good for rides for children under sixteen years of age.

And also bear in mind that the Pittsburgh Railways Company has made a round trip rate of fifteen cents to Kennywood Lucky Buck Day and that you can get your street car passes in advance today, tomorrow or Friday at any one of 50 neighborhood stations. See the list in the Sun-Telegraph today for the station in your neighborhood.

Parents are earnestly requested not to send very little children unattended. They should be under the care of older children or adults.

HOOVER TRADE BOOM AIDES MAP PLANS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Summoned by President Hoover, representatives of national business groups met with government financial leaders today to perfect plans for the administration's business conference here Friday.

Gathered at the office of Secretary of the Treasury Mills were chairmen of the business and industrial committees of the 12 Federal Reserve districts. They worked over the program for the conference tomorrow, when President Hoover will address more than 100 members of the committees.

YOUNG AT MEETING

Tentative plans for making money easier and spreading jobs were brought to the meeting from informal discussions of some of the conference chieftains, including Owen D. Young, prominent Democrat and chairman of the New York committee.

Henry M. Robinson, of Los Angeles, intimate of Mr. Hoover, was in charge of today's session of the Executive Committee.

Some Democratic political leaders looked warily at the conference. Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic floor chief, issued a statement last night through the Democratic National Committee, expressing hope in results of the conference, but asserting "the association of business and intellectual leaders of the country with these schemes has been unavailing because they have been used merely as a sounding board for the Republican party."

HOOVER ASSAILED

Robinson said similar meetings in the past had proved unavailing because of President Hoover's "inept and uncertain leadership."

In addition to Secretary Mills, Secretary of Commerce Chapin; Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board; Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; R. P. Lamont, former Secretary of Commerce, A. W. Robertson, of Pittsburgh, and others were invited into today's meeting.

Ousting of Sheriff Halted by Court

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Sheriff W. W. Williams, of Preston County, today had won a victory in his fight to retain his office. Judge Charles G. Baker, of Monongalia County Court, granted a temporary injunction restraining the Preston County Court from naming Staley Albright to the post. Albright had posted $75,000 bond and taken the oath of office. Williams was accused of being short in his accounts.

Firemen Protest Parade of 'Fans' To Blazes

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Circleville's gallant fire fighters don't mind an audience, but it bothers them to have all the motorists in town trailing through the streets every time they speed blazeward.

That's why the old bell which has informed residents of fires and their locations since the first fire-fighting apparatus was bought here, may be junked.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise told the Councilmen the bell hinders his department in doing its duty. Too many people who hear the bell chase the fire truck and tie up traffic, said the chief.

LABOR DEMANDS FEDERAL AID

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Emergency governmental control of industry was proposed today in a political-economic platform adopted by the executives of 21 railroad brotherhoods with the possibility of support from a united battlefront of organized labor. The railroad labor executives said:

"In co-operation with all other industrial and agricultural organizations of workers we propose before the election in November to put on record every aspirant to public office either for or against a labor prosperity program."

Taking the view that present reduced wage levels cause reduced consumption, which in turn forces reduced production, the program adopted by the Railway Labor Executives' Association calls for a federal "mobilization" of industry to halt the vicious circle.

Justice Convicted Of Striking Man

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 25.—Justice of the Peace George Fisher, of Union Township, was convicted of simple assault in using force to arrest John Bednar, of Republic, after an accident near Finleyville. Fisher admitted hitting Bednar with the butt of his revolver.

Robbers Blow Open Safe, Get Only $1.50

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Aug. 25.—Robbers who blew open the safe in the American Oil Company's plant here early today obtained only $1.50 in pennies.

Dates for Voters To Qualify for November Polls

Here are the dates on which residents of Allegheny County may qualify to vote for President and other offices at the November election:

September 7—Last day to be assessed for payment of poll taxes, a tax receipt being necessary to register.

September 8—First registration day in second and third-class cities, including Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton.

September 20—Second registration day.

October 8—Third and last registration day, also last day to pay poll taxes.

September 6 and 7—Register assessors will sit at polling places in boroughs and townships to list those who may have been omitted in house-to-house canvass.

TREND IN PARTIES

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The following tabulation shows the political party division of voters in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States. Those under the Republican headings voted Republican and those under the Democratic headings voted Democratic in 1928. The non-committal columns represent those who failed to designate on their poll ballot cards their stand four years ago.

HOOVER LOSING, POLL SHOWS

By COLE E. MORGAN
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Gov. Roosevelt in 11 states has the support of more 1928 Hoovers voters than the President has, according to returns thus far tabulated in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

In several other states the Democratic nominee is breaking nearly even with his opponent among the Republican voters of four years ago.

Taking the country as a whole, Roosevelt is drawing 40 per cent of Hoover's former backers. The 11 states where Roosevelt is the choice of the majority of 1928 Republicans are:

Wisconsin, North Dakota, Nevada, California, Oregon, Washington, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

Others where he is making dangerously uncomfortable inroads into the Republican ranks are:

Illinois, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Minnesota, Idaho, Utah, Oklahoma and practically every state in the Southeast.

The 1928 Republican vote analyzed sectionally shows the following percentages supporting Hoover this year:

New England, 77; Eastern seaboard, 66; Lakes, 61; Middle West, 57; Mountains, 49; Pacific Coast, 40; South Central, 67; Southeast, 47; Southwest, 46. This shows Roosevelt drawing better than 40 per cent of the 1928 Hoover strength in all areas west of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio and Potomac; and 60 per cent or better on the Pacific Coast and throughout the South.

PENNA. RESULT IN DOUBT

tion of the Roosevelt Indiana majority from yesterday's 563 to 509. With 4,549 Indiana votes tabulated, Roosevelt still has the state on a 56-44 per cent division.

While suffering these losses in New York, Pennsylvania and Indiana, Roosevelt strengthened his position materially in Illinois. The addition of 2,555 ballots from that state, which divided Roosevelt 1,498 and Hoover, 1,057, increased Roosevelt's Illinois lead from yesterday's 1,179 to 1,620. This was a Roosevelt gain of 441. With 6,800 Illinois ballots tabulated, Roosevelt today holds the state comfortably on a 62-38 per cent division.

RETURNS FROM SOUTH

Other returns tabulated today were from the Democratic cotton-belt states of the South, all of which are in the Roosevelt column by no uncertain majorities.

The 90,416 votes thus far tabulated for the country as a whole today give:

Roosevelt, 56,583.
Hoover, 38,833.

This is a Roosevelt majority of 22,750, and a percentage division of 63-37 in Roosevelt's favor.

Of the total vote, 60,751 are from men and 29,655 from women. The men divide 39,117 for Roosevelt and 21,634 for Hoover. A percentage division of 64-36 for Roosevelt. The 29,655 women divide 17,466 for Roosevelt and 12,199 for Hoover, a percentage division of 59-41 in Roosevelt's favor.

3rd Degree Charged In Brooklyn Arrest

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(INS.) At the request of the State Commission of Correction, officials today undertook an investigation of a newly reported "third degree" complaint in Brooklyn.

Arnold Bascom, Brooklyn, indicted for attempted robbery, declared when he was arraigned that detectives beat him.

One Woman tells another about McCanns

THE best advertising McCanns has is the word-of-mouth testimony of the people who shop here . . . their actual experiences with McCann quality, McCann service, McCann fairness. We've told you of these things many times, but ask your neighbors or the girls in your club about McCann's butter . . . about the coffee . . . about the convenience of the shopping service. Their experience will convince you more than anything we could say that you can't afford to pass by the advantages of shopping at McCanns.

STATE OUTLINES COLLECTION OF SALES TAX

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 25.

State fiscal and legal officials today struggled to set in motion the machinery for collection and distribution of the general sales tax instituted by the last special session of the Legislature.

Wide diversity of opinion on the manner of collecting the impost, and the specific commodities affected have resulted in a welter of confusion. A ruling from Attorney General William A. Schnader expected to clarify the provisions of the bill was eagerly awaited by the Department of Revenue.

SALES RECORDED

The new tax will be collected virtually in the same manner as the state now gathers the mercantile tax. Businessmen in the commonwealth have been directed to keep a separate set of books and records for their gross sales between September 1 and February 28, during which the new tax law will be operative. The 1 per cent tax on their gross sales will be payable not later than next April 1.

The Attorney General's ruling is expected to determine whether the new tax can be "pyramided" or collected on successive sales involved in the manufacture of raw material into a finished product.

Dr. Clyde L. King, state Secretary of Revenue, holds the tax can be collected only from the ultimate consumer, a view known to be disputed by some officials who would, for instance, levy the tax on the sale of a bar of steel, again when the steel is sold in the form of cans, and a third time when the can containing food is sold to a housewife.

OFFICIALS DISTURBED

Two other factors served further to disturb state officials:

1—The Hagmaier bill made no provisions to exempt indigent unemployed purchasing sustenance on welfare food orders. Thus, some of the state's own relief money, passed on to the unemployed through local welfare agencies, might return to the commonwealth's vaults in the form of taxes paid by the distressed whom it was intended to aid.

2. There is also the possibility that the tax will produce more than the $12,000,000 needed for the Talbot act. On the basis of the 1931 retail business in the commonwealth, payments from Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties alone would raise $6,650,000, more than half the amount needed. Other counties might serve to boost this total to almost $35,000,000. It was feared in some quarters optimistic that a too great decline in retail business would not occur under present conditions.

The new relief board, comprised of Gov. Gifford Pinchot, Lieut. Gov. Edward C. Shannon, Speaker J. C. Goodnough, of the House; State Treasurer Edward Martin and Auditor General Charles A. Waters, has given no inkling of the plan most favored for distribution of the relief fund.

The $12,000,000 provided by the first Talbot act was distributed by the Commonwealth directly to the treasurers of the state's poor districts. The amount apportioned in each district was based on unemployment figures as supplied by the Department of Labor and Industry.

Bloomfield Picnic Being Held Today

The Bloomfield community picnic, under the auspices of the Bloomfield Board of Trade, is being held at Kennywood Park today. The committee in charge includes John E. Loibl, W. A. Larkin and Robert J. Orlow. An extensive program of amusements, swimming, dancing and other entertainment is being carried out.

P. S. C. Probe, Rates To Be Discussed

Public utility rates and problems and the State Senate investigation of the Public Service Commission will be discussed tonight at a meeting of the League for Social Justice in West Park, North Side. W. G. Negley, counsel for the Allied Boards, and Atttorney Maurice Schneirov will speak.

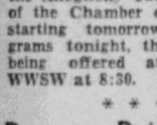
Kemp, King On Magic Carpet

Paul Whiteman, Hal Kemp, Wayne King, Rudy Vallee—

And that's only part of the all-star lineup for the musical treat offered dance fans over WCAE tonight. Kemp, Pittsburgh favorite, makes his debut with his internationally-famous orchestra on Walter O'Keefe's "magic carpet" at 10 o'clock. Sharing honors with him is Wayne King, the "waltz king." Kemp broadcasts from Chicago, where he is appearing at the Trianon ballroom, while Kemp, back from a vacation, is heard from New York. Rudy, of course, occupies his accustomed Thursday night spot at 8 o'clock, while Whiteman comes on the air at 11, immediately following Kemp and King. At 11:30 WCAE brings the College Inn Orchestra from Chicago; at midnight, the Hotel New Yorker Orchestra, and 12:30, the Hotel St. Regis melody-makers.



Hal Kemp

"Meyer the Buyer," comic character created by Harry Hershfield, becomes audible through radio, beginning tonight at 8:30 when the new program makes its debut over WJAS. With Teddy Bergman in the title role, the sketch will be heard weekly at the same time. Other parts are portrayed by Adele Ronson, Dot Harrington, Paul Douglas, Ethelyn Holt, Goeffrey Bryan and Nick Adams.

What to look for in the solar eclipse Wednesday of next week is explained for the layman by Dr. S. M. Kintner in an address from KDKA at 8:15. Dr. Kintner, vice president in charge of engineering for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, explains the appearance of such a phenomenon, both in the path of totality and outside the path. In Pittsburgh, the eclipse will be 88 per cent complete.

Stations WJAS and WWSW salute the towns to be visited in the Allegheny Tablelands Tour of the Chamber of Commerce, starting tomorrow, with programs tonight, that of WJAS being offered at 7:15 and WWSW at 8:30.

Program Pointers

Senora Rita Cavaliery, Spanish soprano, "goes network" again tonight when the "Silhouette" program, originating in the studios of KDKA, goes out over the WJZ chain. Her repertoire features "Cuban Love Song," while Zoel Parenteau's Concert Ensemble provides the instrumental music . . . From the same station at 6:30, the So and So Trio, Whiteman audition winners, harmonize "Living in Dreams" . . . And Paul Whiteman's Rhythm Boys continue their campaign for smiles with "Missouri Squabble" at 5:15 over WCAE.

Mme. Cavaliery

Phillips H. Lord's "Country Doctor" takes KDKA listeners at 10 into the rural districts and shows just how a country practitioner works and the problems he meets and solves.

Ward Wilson, on KDKA at 7:15, gives his impression of Whispering Jack Smith and radio listeners have an opportunity to check up on the famous mimic through the same station at 10:15 when Smith himself whispers "Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland" in his program with the Humming Bird trio.

In Raymond Hitchcock's characteristic nasal style, Georgie Price sings "Here Comes the Groom" over WJAS at 7:45.

The Revelers Quartet, with Frank Black at the piano, give a program of classical and semi-classical numbers marked by unusual arrangements through WCAE at 9.

Paul Graham and his orchestra, resting during Vincent Lopez's appearance at the Willows, resume their broadcasts from WWSW at 11.

The Coffee Concert Orchestra, under Graham Harris' baton, gives a program of compositions from Wagner, Rimsky Korsakoff, Litolff and Mendelssohn over WCAE at 9:30.

The East McKeesport Firemen present another of their old-time minstrels from WWSW at 10.

Ace Radio Announcer Of Zion City Dead

Listening In

Such Is Radio Fame; Lombardoisms; Stebbins Boys on Job

The juvenile actress who portrays Little Orphan Annie is Shirley Bell . . . Isn't she cute? . . Sid Gary and his brother spent a recent weekend at a mountain resort, where all the guests were asked to contribute to the Saturday evening entertainment . . . After Sid sang, the master of ceremonies told his brother: "He's pretty good. I should think he'd do well to get on the radio" . . . such is fame . . . Jay Hanna, now director of the Crime Club productions, signed the Boswell Sisters for their first network series . . . At the time Hanna was in San Francisco directing a chain program originating on the Coast.

Miss Bell

Kate Smith, on a recent program, sang "Back Home in Indiana" especially for Lloyd Williams, trumpeter for Freddie Rich and Nat Brusiloff . . . It was his thirtieth birthday. Williams has been playing the horn for 23 of those 30 years, and at the age of 13, was first cornetist with Arthur Pryor's band.

Lombardoisms: Victor Lombadro carries his tiny soprano saxophone inside the large tenor instrument . . . Liebert Lombardo, he of the unusual trumpet, used to play the drums . . . George Gowans, who now presides at the traps for the Royal Canadians, uses the original snare drum stand that Liebert has owned ever since he was 9 years old.

Alvira Hoppendale, the ex-telephone operator in the Stebbins boys sketches, is played by Helen Howell, distinguished stage actress, who appeared for more than seven years in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "The Torch Bearers" . . . Ward Wilson's latest impersonation is of a golf professional. He gives pointers on the divot game to his fiancee, Betty Lou Webb.

In more than a year of broadcasting the Stebbins boys five nights a week, Parker Fennelly has not missed a program, and Arthur Allen, only one.

Roosevelt, Hoover On Air

Tonight—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Tomorrow morning—President Herbert Hoover.

That's the political program offered Pittsburgh listeners by Stations WCAE and WJAS, bringing to the loud speakers both the Republican and Democratic candidates for the presidency.

Gov. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee, is heard in a special half-hour program broadcast over the NBC and CBS networks tonight from 9 to 9:30. Other speakers to be heard included former Gov. Harry Byrd, of Virginia, and James Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

President Hoover is to be heard tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock when both local stations broadcast his speech opening the national conference of business and industrial committees of the 12 federal reserve districts. Cabinet members and industrial and financial leaders also are on the program.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

This is a Reproduction of the Nobel Prize Medal, World's Most Distinguished Scientific Award.

in 1912 Bosch demonstrates high-pressure hydrogenation of nitrogen to produce ammonia.

in 1915 Bergius shows that hydrogen will combine with coal to make oil.

in 1926 Bosch leads German Chemical Industry to commercial hydrogenation of German brown coal (lignite).

in 1927 Standard Oil acquires Hydrogenation process. Oil scientists start experiments.

in 1931 Nobel Prize to Drs. Bosch and Bergius. Hydrogenation Scientists get highest honor.

in 1932 Hydrofined Oil Replaces "STANDARD" MOTOR OIL

Essolube, the only hydrofined oil, is now available to every motorist at the price of ordinary motor oils.

This oil is a result of the great hydrogenation discovery. Hydrogenation of atmospheric nitrogen was the chemical secret that enabled Germany to produce unlimited quantities of explosives and thus to "carry on" years after the experts considered her continued struggle impossible.

Hydrofining, developed by the Standard Oil scientists, is an advanced process which makes the hydrogenation of motor oil commercially possible.

Hydrofining gives Essolube all the five essential qualities for complete lubrication.

The finest Paraffinic oils have three of these essential qualities. Naphthenic (Asphaltic) oils have two of them. Essolube, by hydrofining, combines all five qualities. There has been no commercial method before hydrofining that combined the good qualities of these two types of oil.

It is so superior to all other oils that we are not only proud to name it after its companion product in quality, Esso, "more powerful than any gasoline," but we have replaced the widely known "Standard" Motor Oil with this new product.

Hydrofined Essolube sells at no extra cost.

It is on sale at all stations and dealers of the following companies: Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Standard Oil Company of Louisiana, Standard Oil Company, Incorporated in Kentucky, Colonial Beacon Oil Company, Inc.

Essolube
HYDROFINED

FREE BOOKLET—"Essolube, A Five-Star Motor Oil," gives you the story of the great hydrofining invention which makes Essolube possible. Ask for it at your "Standard" station.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Hoping it may help to "turn the tide in the right direction," James H. Rand, Jr., president of Remington Rand, Inc., has just announced that his company will buy immediately $4,500,000 worth of raw materials and supplies for use the balance of this year.

Philadelphia Loses 'Undercover Squad'

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—The demise of Philadelphia's $20,000-a-year "undercover squad" is seen today as a result of action taken by Mayor J. Hampton Moore in slashing $1,157,288 from the 1933 budget of $22,000,000 submitted by the Department of Public Safety.

Dog Enlisted by Police

ACTING LIEUT. ROBERT L. HASLEY WITH PATROLMAN 'PAT'

Lieut. Hasley and the Mt. Lebanon police department's recruit, a pedigreed American bull terrier "sworn in," assigned to a scout car last night. He'll be trained to tree prowlers, run down fleet folk who might elude the police. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

DELAY BUYING SAFETY SIGNS

Award of a contract for road safety signs, is being held up until the County Commissioners decide if the successful bidder has complied with the specifications, which were prepared by L. F. Bechtel, chief engineer of the Department of Highways, Bridges and Tunnels.

J. L. Herrmann, representing the Highways Lighthouse Company, told the commissioners yesterday that the Erickson Company, successful bidder since the award of the contract, has asked that his company supply certain signs.

Herrmann aid that the Erickson company is a jobbing concern and that the signs it proposes to supply are made by convict labor.

Award of the contract was held up until samples of both makes have been inspected by the commissioners at their meeting next week.

Pittsburgher Again On Editorial Board

DENVER, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Edward R. Weidlein, director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, Pittsburgh, was re-elected to the editorial board of Technological Monographs, published by the American Chemical Society, at its eighty-fourth meeting, held here.

TORSO OF YOUTH FOUND IN WOODS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—The legless and armless body of a boy, believed to be about 14, was found, wrapped in a tablecloth, in Wister's woods, at Germantown today.

The torso, almost covered with leaves and branches of trees, was discovered by John Murphy, of Germantown, on his way to work at a mill.

The spot where the body was found is several hundred feet from the nearest highway and about 100 yards from the nearest house.

Police and coroner's office attaches are seeking identification of the body and the cause of death.

Hardware Firm's Assets to Be Sold

Judge George V. Moore today authorized sale of the assets of the Hukill Hunter Company, wholesale hardware, in the Terminal Warehouse, by the receivers, to the J. A. Williams Company for $112,500.

Patricia Pitt's Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair

—With—

Patricia Pitt

A wedding in the South on Monday is of interest here because the bride is a former Pittsburgher, and a niece of Mrs. Hedwig Duncan, of Pittsburgh. The bride was Mrs. Hilda Beuton Turkington and the bridegroom Carlton Norman Way, son of Judge and Mrs. W. F. Way, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

The ceremony took place in the St. Petersburg home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. H. B. Lyon, in the presence of the families and a few friends. The Rev. H. F. Courtney, assistant pastor of St. Paul's Catholic Church, officiated, before an embankment of palms, ferns and pink roses, lighted with cathedral tapers placed in candelabra on either side of the altar.

The bride wore a gown of net in a pale turquoise shade, made quaintly with puff sleeves and a tiny bolero. Her hat was of dust pink tulle and her bouquet of sweetheart and pink tea roses.

Mrs. H. B. Lyon, the matron of honor and only attendant, wore white crepe with a hat of green tulle. She carried a colonial bouquet of radiant roses. H. B. Lyon was the best man. The bridegroom's mother wore green and beige printed chiffon with a corsage of tea roses.

Wears White

At the wedding dinner the bride's table, which was oblong, had bowls and silver baskets of roses placed alternately the length of the table interspersed by silver candelabra holding white tapers.

The Ways left for a motor trip and will stop in Pittsburgh, Washington and New York. After September 15 they will be at home in St. Petersburg. The bride was a resident of Pittsburgh until November, and the Ways are descendants of some of the first settlers of Georgia, and are formerly of Moultrie, Ga.

Among the guests were the W. C. Chamberses, of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. W. D. Chester, of Sewickley, is entertaining with a luncheon today in the Edgeworth Club, in honor of Mrs. Reginald Jackson, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Henry Davis, of Centennial avenue, and Mrs. Winthrop Wilcox, who is the guest of her father-in-law, Frank Wilcox, of Thorn street. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson came east to meet their son and daughter, who are returning this week from the continent.

Luncheon Guests

A. Rex Flinn and John Lazear have gone to Nova Scotia on a fishing trip.

Mrs. G. Faber Downey, Jr., left last night for Southampton. She will remain there until late September.

Mrs. Franklin Bell and her daughter, Daphne, of the Edgeworth Club, left Tuesday to motor to the West, where they'll visit Mrs. Bell's parents, the Sherman Thomas Edwardses, at their home in Chicago, until Labor Day.

Mrs. James Todd expects to return to Sewickley in September from a European trip. She is traveling with the Hampton Todds, of Philadelphia.

An interesting motor trip has attracted Bertha Taylor and Mary and Sue Over, of Sewickley. They have gone to New England, and will stop in Intervale, N. H., to visit Bertha's sister, Mrs. Charles A. Woods, who is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John A. Heath, Jr., at her summer place there. Later they plan to motor along the Maine coast.

Motor Trip

Mrs. Robert Upjohn Redpath, Jr., who has been the guest of her parents, the William B. Millers, of Pine road, Sewickley, left Tuesday for her home in Orange, N. J.

Carrick Mothers Help Entire Community

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

A glance at the new year books of the Carrick Mothers' Club shows that the club's motto, "Mutual Helpfulness" has undergone an extension of meaning and that it now includes, not only the club membership, but the entire community as well. One reads in the back pages of the good looking booklet that the club was responsible for the organization of the Carrick Emergency Relief, which is made up from all churches, schools and other organizations and that the members gave their services in the community canvass and on the committee.

One learns, too, that the Maude A. Gearing scholarship fund has grown to more than $3,000; that the altruistic committee made 91 balls of carpet rags for the blind; that a sale for the blind netted more than $21; that the philanthropic fund disbursed more than $223, and that innumerable smaller gifts were made in other ways.

Then there's next year's program, that embraces a wide variety of interests and opens with a welcome to new members on September 7. A corn roast just a week later is another event of next month, then instead of the regulation president's day will come a past presidents' reception with Mrs. John M. Phillips, founder of the club, as chairman.

Varied Program

John B. Townley, Pittsburgh newspaperman, will give a political current events talk, and there will be a Tom Thumb wedding in November; Evelyn Gardiner Saudek will speak in December; January is to bring a club institute, and February the twentieth anniversary celebration. A fashion show and a fish luncheon are March's events; April's is the annual business meeting; there's to be a drama day in May at which the Girls' Auxiliary will present a play. A garden picnic and the child health clinic are the concluding events of what promises to be an exceptionally busy year.

MANNISH LINE IS FEMINIZED IN LATE SUMMER MILLINERY

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Bruyere's new hat, with the mannish creased crown, is one of the summer fashion sensations in Paris. It promises to be a big influence on autumn and winter hat styles. Paris women are wearing it in felt in every variety of bright color, pastel tint, navy blue, dark brown and in black and white. It appears in wide-brimmed and almost-brimless varieties and in every brim size between.

THE SKETCH shows how the mannish line has been feminized. The fold in the crown is accurately masculine enough, but its change of direction saves it from being two severe. Instead of going from center-front to center-back, it is worn at a variety of angles, tilting rather sharply to the right. The hat pictured is devoid of any decoration, but in some versions there are trimmings of grosgrain ribbon bandings, bows, buttons and little bright-colored balls.

THE LITTLE hat in the sketch, done by Mainbocher, the American designer in Paris, is one of the current favorites in felt hats. It is entirely black, including the circlet of felt leaves and the bow at the back. French women wear it far to the right of the head and rather forward.

* * *

THE SHOE and bag ensemble are evidences of the growing alliance between all leather accessories worn with one costume. They are in brown box-calf—the shoe on severe opera pump lines, with only a single seam at the bag, and the bag a classic envelope type. Both are trimmed with perfections, in conventional pattern. Both were designed by Hellstern.

Allegheny Valley Club To Hear 5 Speakers From Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh seems to have furnished most of the speakers for the Allegheny Valley Woman's Club this season. In the new year books are listed Mrs. A. H. Bowman, of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom; the Rev. Dr. Robert MacGowan; Mrs. Alexander P. Lindsay, president of the Rockledge Garden Club; Attorney Ella Graubart, who is to talk on "Laws Affecting Women," and Dr. Roswell H. Johnson, of the University of Pittsburgh.

September 10 is the date set for the opening event, president's day. The education department will be in charge of the October program and that same month there will be the annual card party. A demonstration by the Association for the Blind and a sale is the twin event for November. An evening meeting with Christmas music and a one-act play is scheduled for December. Mrs. Bowman addresses the club in January, and in February Miss Kathryn Davies and Miss Kathryn Travis will present a program on art appreciation and musical interpretation.

Dr. MacGowan will address the ninth anniversary meeting, Mrs. Lindsay will give a garden talk in March, Miss Graubert in April and Dr. Johnson in May. The final meeting in June will be a recreation day.

Mrs. Poole Urges Women Probe City Costs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, widely-traveled new president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, returned yesterday from her most recent travels to launch what she labelled a "These United States" movement among women.

More than 200,000 miles in 21 different countries has been her record, and yet she remarked: "We women need to narrow our horizons, rather than to broaden them, right now. We should clean up our own back yards."

Mrs. Poole said she would urge the approximately 2,000,000 women belonging to the 14,600 federated clubs under her supervision, to go down to the city hall or town hall of their respective communities, and ask to see how the money is spent.

Women should know, she contended, how the income is spent in state and town—and how it is wasted—for as spenders of the family income, they have had wide experience in watching apportionment to prevent waste, and they should use this experience to the advantage of the community.

This close scrutiny of city hall and statehouse, Mrs. Poole said, would be the main objective of her administration.

But "just as a sideline," she's also launching a plan to take a large delegation of club women abroad next year, to meet European club women in London, Paris, Dusseldorf, Berlin, Prague, Vienna and Geneva, ending at the League of Nations meeting the first week of September.

Boys Disagree About Use of Cosmetics by Girls

Should ladies make-up?

Zeb thought they shouldn't, and he was very indignant about it. According to him, lips that touched rouge should never touch his.

"It's an outrage!" he cried. "And if these painted huzzies think they're attracting men, they're badly mistaken!"

Being kinda neutral ourselves, we decided to put it up to the big boys and ask for their votes.

"Do you go for gals with shiny noses; or for those who improve on nature?" we asked 'em.

So here today are a couple of lads discussing the question, with plenty of pep. We'll let Dell shoot first.

"Zeb is right!" he snorts. "Certainly no girl should fool with the face God gave her!"

"And as for me," he goes on, "I agree with Zeb that I wouldn't go around with any girl whose face was all daubed with make-up. A real man wants a woman to be her natural, feminine self, unadulterated in countenance, manners and speech.

"The majority of women paint up because they think it is smart, stylish, or what have you. Just for vanity. They want to 'look like everyone else,' and they're afraid if they don't they won't be in the swim.

"That is wrong. People should be genuine and not adulterated. They shouldn't try to put on a false complexion to fool some man into thinking they're a lot better looking than they are—or to appeal to the worse side of his nature if he sees through them and knows that the red on their cheeks and lips it put on like any cheap tramp.

PREFERS CHANGE

"For no real man admires such a woman. How can he, when her so-called 'good looks' is just a fake?

"I am glad that Zeb wrote that letter to you and that you published it, because maybe it will wake up some of these so-called 'modern girls' and make them want to be like the good women our mothers were. It's time something like that was done, because pretty nearly every girl you see is a sight when you come to look real close at her. What is this world coming to, with such women running round? No good, according to my notion!"

That's his story, and he's sticking to it—at least, till some pert kid sneaks up on him and makes him change his tune.

But here's Tim, and he has another notion.

"Should girls wear make-up?" he asks, and answers himself, "why not, if it makes 'em look better?

SEES NO OBJECTION

"Of course," he admits, "it doesn't always do that. Some girls never know when to stop, and get themselves up to look like a chromo, but that's just because they're using bum judgment.

"But as for turning down a girl because she uses lipstick and tries to improve herself, that idea's silly, according to my notion. In fact, I think that any girl who just sits down, content to be colorless and homely, is a nut. At least, when she tries to improve herself she shows she has some pep and get up, and I'm for her.

"I like the girls I go around with to be well groomed and to look as if they had gumption enough not to be spineless and take whatever happened to be handed out to them in the way of looks.

"I think a girl has a perfect right to improve her looks. It's the same principle as polishing your shoes and scrubbing the mud off your automobile."

And that's Tim's story.

Which are you for, big boy?

Do you think ladies should be themselves, regardless of how they look? Or, if they aren't raving beauties, is it okay for them to do something about it?

YOU MUSTN'T FALL IN LOVE WITH ANYONE, IT WILL INTERFERE WITH YOUR CAREER
THE BIG SISTER WHO ENDS IN MARRYING HIM
WHY DO YOU TREAT ME LIKE SUCH A CHILD!
THE "GUILELESS" LITTLE GOLD DIGGER
FAY KING
SILLY BOY! HOW COULD YOU BE INTERESTED IN ME?
THE GLAMOROUS OLDER WOMAN WITH A PAST

By FAY KING

The young man who intends to marry the right girl should be careful not to be captured by one he meets before her.

Be cautious of the "big sister" type, who is so pleasant to go to for advice. She won't hold hands or kiss and warns you against marrying for a long time. Wants you to succeed. May lend you money—the next thing you know you'll be marrying her.

Be cautious of those guileless little girls with engineering mothers. You may intend to be only a big brother to her, but you are apt to find yourself her husband in no time.

Be cautious of those glamorous older women who often fascinate gallant young men into matrimony while seeming to dismiss them.

Neglect of Measles a Too Common Fault

We are always more or less concerned about the diseases of childhood, but unfortunately there still exists a tendency to neglect many of these ailments. Measles is such a disease, and too often it is accepted as one of the ailments that most children "must have."

Dr. Copeland

This complacence disappears when it is realized that measles is a serious disease. While it is seldom fatal to children over five years of age, it is one of the most dangerous ailments of infancy and early childhood. About two-thirds of all mortality from measles occurs in children under three years of age.

The early symptoms of measles closely resemble those of a simple cold. The eyes are red and extremely sensitive to light. Cold, cough and fever are present, and since the characteristic rash does not appear for four or five days, the real condition may not be recognized immediately.

During this short period the disease is easily transmitted from one child to another, and where many children gather together, as in a schoolroom, motion picture theater or Sunday School, small yet often severe epidemics may occur.

The rash first appears behind the ears and about the neck, then rapidly spreads over the face and body, disappearing in about five days. After that time peeling of the skin occurs, this stage lasting about a week.

Since the cause of measles is not known and there is no preventive vaccine, spread of the disease is combatted only by isolation of all afflicted children in the household, particularly if they are very young. A safe and wise precaution is to send the healthy children away from the house.

Measles is contagious from the time the first symptoms develop until a week after the rash disappears. Children who have been exposed to the disease should not be permitted to attend school or to play with other children. This precaution is not necessary if the child has had measles, for second attacks are exceedingly rare.

The afflicted child should be kept in bed until the rash and peeling of the skin have disappeared, and the eyes should be protected from bright lights and sunlight. It is best to keep the room shaded and dimmed so that only reflected light can reach the patient. The windows should be kept open, but the child should be well protected from wind and draughts.

The necessary medicine and directions as to diet and general hygiene for the patient should have a complete physical examination, with special attention to the lungs, eyes, ears and kidneys six months after recovery from measles. Certain disabilities may occur after measles which, if immediately recognized, can be corrected, but if neglected they may seriously interfere with health in later years.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

A little excess weight needn't worry a woman. Poundage doesn't mean anything if lines are good, carriage snappy, proportions correct. Too much stress is given to this question of what the bath scales report. Anyhow, normal bosoms are fashionable again and if there is a bit of a hip that's all right too. The bed slat shape has gone into the graveyeard of dead beauty notions.

Forehead display has gone to such lengths that even those brows that aren't pretty are out in the open. If there are crosslines or frown furrows the naked - and - unashamed forehead is no beauty asset. Get the creases by applying a heavy massage cream, going over the skin surface with a quick tapping and hammering action of the finger tips, then stroking crosswise of the lines with flattened palm. Iron them gently.

Sorority "Rush" Teas

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am invited to attend several sorority "rush" teas during the rushing season this fall.

1. I should like to know what would be a proper costume for the occasion? I intended to wear a dark blue afternoon dress, white hat and white accessories. Would that be proper, or should I be more elaborately dressed and not wear a hat?

2. Cards are always left, are they not? I was under the impression they were.

3. The teas last from 2 to 5 p. m. This makes it necessary to stay but a short time at one house. When wishing to leave a house, what would be a proper phrase to use to excuse one's self? How long should one stay at each house?

4. I also am in doubt as to whom I should thank at the end of a sojourn at each house? Or, at such a large affair, should I express my gratitude to anyone at all?

5. Does one remove one's gloves while taking tea? S.

1. The costume that you have planned I like very much, and I am sure that you will find that you are appropriately dressed for these charming occasions. Don't wear a more elaborate costume . . . and do wear a hat.

2. Usually cards are left.

3. It isn't necessary to "excuse yourself" when you leave each sorority house. As when we leave any other kind of party, you go to your hostess or hostesses, thank her or them for the happy time that you have had, and take your leave. They will be thoroughly aware that you cannot stay long, and will take for granted your leaving when you find it is convenient to do so.

When you leave these sorority house teas, you will probably find that it is appropriate to say goodbye first to the "house mother," and then to the girl who is president or chairman (or by whatever term she is designated . . . it varies in different colleges) of the sorority house, which will probably mean the same thing. These two—the house mother and the sorority president—are the official hostesses of such occasions. But, remember that obviously you should say your thanks first to the "house mother."

You will have to schedule your two-to-five hours yourself, being sure to budget your time so that your visits to the last houses on your list will not give the unpleasant impression of being unseemly hurried and breathlessly short.

4. I answered this question partly in my third answer. Besides the two hostesses whom I have mentioned, it would be gracious and natural to thank, if you have time, any other member of the sorority whom you know especially well or who may have especially urged you to come to the tea.

5. Yes, please do! One of the most unpleasant things, at least to my taste, is to see a woman eating with her gloves on.

Household Hints

To clean linen blinds, sprinkle a little silver sand on the soiled parts, then rub gently over with stale bread.

Hats with brims are here again and it does not do them good to lay them flat on a shelf, as the rim then straightens out and loses its shape. Try covering cereal boxes with tissue paper and using each round box as a hat holder. Looks just like a hat store and works out as well.

When making pastry, roll it one direction only if you want it to be light. Rolling first in one direction and then in another is almost sure to make it tough.

Do you ever drive the automobile up under one of the house windows and use your vacuum cleaner attachments on the cushions and floor of the car? You will try it more than once when you see the difference it makes in the upholstery.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

The Squeeze a Simple Play

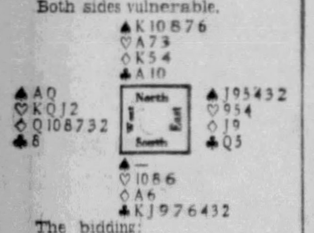
Most players are under the impression that squeeze plays are very complicated and that one must be an expert in order to recognize opportunities for plays of this kind.

Actually, the squeeze is one of the simplest plays in existence. A player may frequently start a hand with no idea that such a situation exists and suddenly find himself in a position of forcing opponents to discard high cards.

The following hand illustrates this point quite clearly:

West—Dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
	1◇	1♡	Pass
2♣	2♡	2NT	Pass
4♣	Pass	5♣	Pass
6♣	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding was probably a little optimistic. South's six club bid was quite dangerous in view of the fact that he held no fit for his partner's spades. However, North was bidding very strongly, and South felt that the hand must contain some play for the Slam.

The heart King was opened, which was won in Dummy with the Ace. At first glance the hand appeared hopeless, as there seemed to be no way of establishing the spades, and two hearts must be lost. Actually, the spades could be established, but Declarer decided on another method of play, which seemed possible in view of the fact that West had bid twice. Declarer, therefore, began to lead trumps, and continued leading them for seven rounds. West followed suit once, and then discarded three diamonds, a heart and a spade.

On the seventh club, however, he was hopelessly squeezed, and was forced to let go of the heart Knave. Declarer now correctly placed him with the Queen alone, and led the heart 8. The Queen taking, he now spread his hand for the rest of the tricks.

On the seventh club, West was absolutely hopeless. The discard of the Space Ace would have established the King in Dummy, and a diamond would have permitted Declarer to take 3 diamond tricks. The hand is not especially spectacular, but it merely goes to prove that frequently squeezes arise where the player has no actual hope of their succeeding, and merely attempts them as the only course open.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Neither side was vulnerable. Was an Overcall of one heart over an Opening bid of one club incorrect or too weak with the following hand:

♠ A 10 9 4 ♡ 9 8 6 5 ◇ 10 9 ♣ 8 5

FIGHT HUNGER, EVICTIONS

Twenty-seven persons raised their voices yesterday in the Fifth Ward, protesting near-starvation, landlord evictions and unemployment.

Few of them had breakfast, several nothing since early the day before. Some had been evicted. They called on Alderman Robert H. Logan, whose office handles many eviction orders. They wanted to ask him:

"Where can we go? How can we live?

"We get 60 cents per person per week from the relief people. That won't buy food. Even if it would it wouldn't leave anything for rent, for clothing for light.

"Why can't you stop serving eviction orders?

"Why can't the Sheriff stop signing them?"

Alderman Logan was not in, but all he could have told them was that he was just a cog in the county's legal machinery and that he was really powerless to stop evictions.

SLAIN 'PRINCE' HELD FRAUD

ROME, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—The newspaper Il Piccolo said today it had evidence that a man identified as Edgard de Bourbon, a Hapsburg prince, who was slain by a woman in Paris recently, was an imposter.

His real name, said the newspaper, was Carlo Lorioli. He was born in Milan in 1862. Il Piccolo said the man's lawyer had records showing that Lorioli received a three-year prison sentence in Italy during the World War upon his conviction on a charge of espionage.

The newspaper's evidence showed that he was married to an Italian woman and also was married at Cleveland in 1908 to the daughter of a colonel in the American Army. While her husband was in prison, he said, the American wife sent him generous sums of money.

Banker, Ex-Plumber Gets 18-Month Term

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—John Bain, 73-year-old Scotch immigrant who abandoned plumbing years ago to become a banker and political leader, stood convicted today of two charges of conspiracy growing out of the $13,000,000 failure of his 12 community banks and was sentenced to 18 months in prison.

Mr. and Mrs. Moseika Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Moseika, well known South Side residents, were remarried yesterday, their golden wedding anniversary, in St. Casimer's Church, the Rev. Joseph Miliauskas, of Dwryea, officiating. A reception followed at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Mary Bertha, at 426 Charles street, Knoxville.

Industries Asks For Book Donations

With the depression causing increased reading, the Goodwill Industries is finding books in its seven libraries in the county insufficient. It asks donations of books. Donors may mail them to 2801 Liberty avenue, or telephone Grant 3717 and their donations will be called for.

$120,000 'GIFT' OFFER SPURNED

A Squirrel Hill merchant was turning down today a "chance" to make something—$120,000 in fact—for nothing. The offer, of which he is suspicious, came in a letter from Spain, mailed to his last year's address. The writer claimed to be a relative languishing in a Spanish prison for bankruptcy. But, ironically enough, the writer continued, he had $360,000 in checks, payable to bearer, in the secret pocket of a suitcase which had been seized here. If the merchant would get the suitcase out of "hock"—address to be given on further communication—he could keep a third of the money.

But the merchant, not believing in Santa Claus, declined to accept the bankrupt's offer. Believing in gangsters, he refused to give his name.

Excursion Steamer Auctioned for $375

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—The ill-fated excursion steamer City of Memphis had a new owner today, and he was wondering what to do with the 19-year-old boat.

Karl Nussbaum, owner of an iron yard and machine works, bought the steamer yesterday for $375 at a receiver's auction. She was grounded last week after striking a rock ledge in the center of the river.

$10,000 Dope Raid Nets Five Arrests

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(INS.)—A $10,000 cache of narcotics was in the hands of federal authorities today and five persons were under arrest as a result of a raid by agents on a Harlem flat.

What a LUNCH for Mother!

And it's the easiest thing in the world to prepare. Just fill a bowl with Kellogg's Rice Krispies, pour on milk or cream and add some fruit. There it is! Help yourself! Proteins, energy, vitamins — all in this delicious treat.

Every one likes Rice Krispies because it's such a different cereal. Toasted rice bubbles that actually crackle in milk or cream. Delicious for breakfast. Splendid for the children's supper—so healthful and easy to digest.

Just ask your grocer for the red-and-green package. Rice Krispies are always oven-fresh—protected by the famous Kellogg's inside WAXTITE bag. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Quality guaranteed.

To Any Husband

I seldom think of you when you are here,
So quietly you sit, and smoke, and read,
That I am scarcely conscious you are near,
Nor does it matter if you speak, my need
Seems not of you. Some fleeting trifles small
Encompass me—a task that I shall do—
I know you far too well, and knowing all,
Wrapped in content—I seldom think of you.

That sudden trip you took . . . . When evening came
To etch the room in shadows, soft with light,
A muted silence settled, not the same
As when you sit across from me at night,
And lanterned then with loneliness I knew
How very much I really cared for you.

—Jane Sayre.

A New Berle-ing Point

Richy Craig Jr.'s state of mind when discussing the alleged thefts of his material by the up-and-coming Milton Berle is exemplified by the following:

An old friend approached Craig in front of the Palace and asked the comedian why he was angry with him.

"Well, I've reason to be," replied Craig. "When Milton Berle played the Capitol, you didn't even send me a wire of congratulations."

Berle's Retort

It was recently recorded here how Craig, having listened to Berle's act, immediately went home, wrapped up a bundle of his own photographs and dispatched them to the latter with a note reading:

"Put these in the lobby and go the limit."

But what we only learned last night was that Berle received the pictures graciously and wired an impertinent thanks in this manner:

"The photos you sent me were so unsoiled that I am sure they have never been used. It should be a novelty to you to see them in a lobby."

But Why Tell Me?

With no idea of exploiting his accounts—a novelty in itself—Alex Gottlieb, the exploiter, specials to advise us he knows an acrobat who's been out of work so long that he doesn't know which way to turn.

My advice is that he give up acrobating and turn straight.

The Marx Code

One of the reported deletions in "Horse Feathers," the Marx freres' mirthquake at the Rialto Theater, was a charade which the film editors believe a bit too intricate for the average picture fan. Hence the cutting.

The sequence depicted four women seated in a room, Groucho, Harpo, Chico and Zeppo enter and approach the ladies. They then ask each one of them if she is a mother and all the matrons answer "yes." Then each Marxmen picks up one of the women and carries her off the stage.

The answer is a famous Russian novel. And if you haven't run out on me by this time, its name is "The Brothers Karamazoff."

The Face at the Window!

"I want a drink," the poor man pled
Outside the little speak:
"You must remember me," he said:
"I raided you last week!"
Wilfred J. Funk.

The Colored Bands

The tremendous vogue of the Negro bands, such as those of Duke Ellington, Cab Calloway and Louis Armstrong among others, has swept the air lanes and recording studios as never before. The blackman's music strikes at the very heart of rhythm and the response of the whites has resulted in a recognition far beyond his greatest fancies.

But not so among his own people. And here are the facts to support this statement. At the Savoy Ballroom in Harlem, where all dancing darktown comes to strut and cakewalk and Lindy Hop, the public is very discriminating in its selection of bandsmen. Over a period of 12 months, the attendance in relation to the various musical organizations has been as follows: Isham Jones leads the list with credit for attracting 3,500 customers. Rudy Vallee is second with 2,800, then in order come Guy Lombardo with 2,200, Ben Bernie with 2,000, Vincent Lopez with 1,750, Duke Ellington with 700, Cab Calloway with 500, and Louis Armst[illegible]g with an estimated d[illegible]350.

All [illegible] proves that the Ne[illegible]es the white man's interpretation of dance chunes and the white man prefers the black. Or does it all prove nothing?

Oops!

The latest of the sillies is forwarded by John Meyer, of Cleveland. It seems a man was riding on a donkey's back and his stirups were dragging on the ground. The animal endured the situation as long as possible and finally turned his head and exclaimed:

"If you're going to walk, let me ride."

How True!

The only difference between a show-girl in the musical revues and one in burlesque, L. Ashendorf points out, is that the showgirl in the musical shows doesn't remove the cellophane.

'Off to Buffalo'

(Wherein an Actor Turns Hoofer.)

I puckered my lips and that was your cue
To whisper "My dear . . . I love only you" . . .

I swooned when you held me in your embrace . . .
So you heaved and emoted all over the place.

Then I said "marriage"—gone was the trance—
You swiftly and smoothly went into your dance!

Dee Gulliver.

Non-Sentences

William Goodrum uses Howard Hughes and Ann Dvorak in these sentences: "Howard Hughes like an ice cream soda?" and "An Dvorak could say Jack Robinson." While J. H. Pollack tells us he "lives with anent and uncle," and C. H. Whitemans wants us to "take these figures, adamant, give him the sum."

A Matter of Cost

H. Crystal says he was riding up Broadway the other afternoon in a dilapidated cab of 1924 vintage. The car puffed dangerously up the One Hundrey Twenty-fifth street grade, and the passenger called to the driver:

"What your car needs is a carbon and valve job."

The driver replied that he had spent $85 on repairs and that the carbon and valves had both been taken care of.

"Well, how far has this hack gone?"

"About 300,000 miles."

"What it needs, then, is a pension," sneered the passenger.

"Yes, rejoined the cabby, "but how much costs that?"

Actor Colman Hints Plan To Retire to Quiet Ocean Estate

HOLLYYWOOD, Aug. 25.—The first hint that Ronald Colman is planning to retire some time in the future has emerged.

For almost two years the reticent Ronald has been secret owner of a stretch of sea-girt empire south of Carmel on the wild Big Sur coast line.

Here he has bought several hundred acres, with a half mile of beach, protected from the winds by a headland. The country is full of game, with quail, deer, wildcats, mountain lions on it.

So remote from civilization and tourists is the Colman estate that the star will have to build his own road to it, at an estimated cost of $25,000.

Ronald is building a tennis court near his home site. With the surf and deep sea fishing, he will have vent for his favorite recreations. A bay on his beach is ideal for yacht moorings. His beach is named Wreck Beach from the number of ships that have gone ashore there.

Ronald Colman

This country is filled with relics of the old California coast Indians, favorite heroes of Robinson Jeffers, the poet who lives a few miles north. Overlooking Colman's land are the cedar groves in which Harry Leon Wilson hid away to write "Ruggles of Red Gap."

The Big Sur, although remote from civilization, has been a favorite retreat for the artists and writers of Carmel, 50 or 60 miles north.

When the new convict-built coast road is through Ronald will be able to drive there from Hollywood in a few hours. That is if his option with Sam Goldwyn is renewed at the end of the year and he doesn't give himself completely to those proposed Lonsdale stage shows.

After Colman finishes "I Have Been Faithful," the screen version of "Cynara," he still has another picture to do for Goldwyn. Nothing further than that has been decided. But it is likely he will devote himself intensely to the development of his secluded, sea-washed empire.

Soul of Patrick Henry Was In Wilton Lackaye; Here's Proof!

By GEORGE SEIBEL

One of the current magazines has an article about the novelist Hall Caine, who believed he was William Shakespeare come back to life, and tried to look the part. When Wilton Lackaye died the other day, I wondered if he wasn't Patrick Henry come back to life, for he was a Virginian, too, of Irish stock, and expended much fiery eloquence upon the British. He was a good hater and a biting wit.

If Lackaye could have put an amendment to the Constitution keeping all English actors out of America, it would have gone in the next day. If he could have rubbed London off the map with his thumb, Macaulay's New Zealand traveler wouldn't have found a broken arch of London Bridge to rest his elbows on. Besides, Lackaye with his mordant tongue could rub it in.

Mr. Seibel

Here's a story that happened in Pittsburgh, when an all-star company was playing "Oliver Twist." Wilton was the Fagin, and no doubt he was sore because he had to appear in a play based on a novel by a British author. Constance Collier was playing Nancy Sikes, and if Lackaye had been Bill Sikes, every performance would have been her last.

HOW AUDIENCES BEHAVE

At the opening performance here the audience acted very queerly. They giggled in the wrong places. Audiences often do that—it's a sign of nervous tension. But it's very disconcerting to the players on the stage. When they're acting an emotional scene and a kiss evokes a giggle, or when somebody is dying and every gasp calls forth a gale of titters, it's difficult to make love and almost impossible to die respectably.

After Bill Sikes has murdered his sweetheart, Nancy, and dragged her about the stage by the hair, Constance Collier commented upon the effect the audience had upon her.

"Constance," said Wilton Lackaye, "don't you understand why the audience acted like that? It was made up largely of English women, and when they saw Bill beating you and dragging you about they got homesick for London."

DID HE HIT M'GRAW?

There is a story that Wilton Lackaye and John McGraw, of the Giants, once had a rough-and-tumble fight. I don't quite believe the story, but I would believe it if McGraw's name had been Algernon Cholmondeley.

But of course every human being is allowed to have a set of healthy prejudices, just to keep his blood in circulation. Having been born in Virginia, the state of George Washington and Patrick Henry, Wilton Lackaye was, no doubt, subconsciously anti-British from his first breath.

He started with Lawrence Barrett nearly 50 years ago, having a very small role in "Francesca da Rimini." A little later he was with Fanny Davenport, in the cast of Sardou's "Fedora"—that play which first won fame for Robert Mantell when he played Loris Ipanoff. But, of course, it was in Paul Potter's "Trilby," in 1895, that Lackaye scored his tremendous hit.

PLAYED MANY PARTS

Lackaye played in many popular successes, chief of which was "The Pit," based on Frank Norris' novel of the grain exchange, and "The Climbers," one of the earliest of Clyde Fitch's long series of hits. In "The Silver King," "The Two Orphans," "East Lynne," "Shenandoah" and even "Uncle Tom's Cabin," he won popular appeal. Once he even played Nero. His last appearance on the stage was only two years ago in a drama called "Love, Honor and Betray," the title of which recalls another of Lackaye's healthy prejudices.

"Salacious plays are produced," he once said, "because there is a salacious public."

Still he was opposed to all censorships, another healthy prejudice. He knew every man must be his own censor.

One of the last appearances of Wilton Lackaye in Pittsburgh was in the all-star cast of "Trelawney of the Wells," in which John Drew was another player. How they are going, the old guard of the stage!

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

Automobile Trip

OVER ON Broadway is a travel bureau that operates some rather unusual sidelines. One of them, for example, has to do with the sending of passenger automobiles all over the country, provided that the car has sufficient passengers to make the trip profitable. It is not a bus service, you understand, but a private machine.

The charge for this type of travel, they tell me, is less than bus or railroad. If a man wants to go to Chicago, he applies to this travel bureau. They tell him they are sending a car the following morning and that there will be four other riders. He pays the required amount, the machine calls for him at the appointed time—and on they go to Chicago. There is no schedule maintained, and consequently there is no loss. A machine does not leave until its expenses and profit for the trip are assured.

The drivers of these cars are all expert chauffeurs and are paid at the rate of so much a trip. When they arrive at their destination, the car is driven to the local office and remains there until they have sufficient passengers for the return trip to New York.

All of which leads us to a sunny morning a few weeks ago when a rather attractive young woman walked into the offices of the bureau. She asked for the manager. And it was to him that she unfolded her sad story.

Her mother, she said, was dying in Chicago. She had to get there as quickly as possible, but she could not afford to pay the railroad or the bus fare. All she had was $10.

"So I come to you," was her plea. "I thought that, if I were lucky enough, I might be able to squeeze into one of your cars that is leaving for Chicago. If you have room for me and will let me go for $10, you'll make me the happiest woman in the world.

"It would really be a great charity. Do you think you can do anything for me?"

A few minutes more of this and the manager was highly impressed.

"You're in luck, young lady," he said. "We have a car leaving in a few hours and it just so happens that there is room for you. We don't do this very often and I certainly will never make a habit of it. But I don't see that it will harm us to make an exception in your case.

"Be back here and ready to leave in two hours. And I hope you find your mother much improved."

The young lady was more than grateful. She seemed on the verge of tears.

"I don't know how to thank you," she cried. "You're more than wonderful to me. I—"

The manager waved a hand.

"It's all right, madam," he said. "Forget it." . . .

In due time, the machine arrived in Chicago. The other passengers alighted at a certain address, but the young lady asked to be driven a few blocks further. She sat next to the driver and, when they arrived at the street she had requested, the man brought his car to a stop.

"Will this be all right, madam?" he asked.

The woman looked at him for a moment without reply. And then, in a very cool fashion, she made an amazing demand.

"Yes," she said, "this is all right. But before I get out of this car, you're going to give me $50."

The driver looked at her in amazement.

"I'm going to give you what?" he roared. "Are you out of your mind?"

"Not at all," was the retort. "I'm very sane. I just happen to need $50, and you're elected. Did you ever hear of the Mann act? Well, unless you come across, I'll have you arrested for taking me from state to state."

The driver waited for no more. He shifted his gears and was off again.

"Where are you going?" asked the lady racketeer.

"You picked the wrong guy," was the man's reply. "You and I are going to the nearest station house. And if I hear one more peep out of you, I'll slap you right in the jaw. Try to blackmail me, will you? I'll show you."

In less time than it takes to write it, the girl was locked up. The moment she was brought before a couple of hard-boiled detectives, her coolness vanished. She broke down and began to cry. And it wasn't long before they had the entire story out of her.

"I had to get some money," she sobbed. "I really had to. I'm giving you my real name and if you'll investigate my story, you'll find out that it's absolutely true.

"I live in M——, Conn., with my husband. We have a small home up there and, until recently, we've just about been able to make both ends meet.

"A few weeks ago, my husband became sick. He was so sick, really, that I had to get a nurse for him. She helped him a lot but she has to be paid, and we didn't have the money to give her. A few days ago, she began to get nasty about it. Said she'd have to get her money right away or she'd take steps to put us both in jail.

"Well, what was I to do? I had to get money somewhere, and I had to get it in a hurry. I have some relatives here in Chicago and I figured that if I appealed to them in person, they might help me out. I went to New York, got a break in being able to travel out here by machine—and here I am.

"On the way out, I did a lot of thinking. Suppose my relatives gave me the turn down? I only had a few cents in my bag and I'd then be worse off than ever. I wouldn't have enough money to get back to my home, and I wouldn't have the money to give the nurse even if I did get back somehow.

"The more I thought the more desperate I became. I had to have some money in case I couldn't connect with my relatives and, in my crazy state of mind, I thought of the driver of the car.

"I've never done a wrong thing in all my life. I didn't want to do this, but I couldn't help myself. I thought the driver would be so frightened that he'd give me the $50 without any trouble. I didn't know how stupid I was being.

"The rest you know. And I swear that the story I've told you is the absolute truth. You're going to let me go, aren't you?"

No, they weren't going to let her go. The driver insisted upon pressing the charges and, under the circumstances, you couldn't blame him much. More, there was an excellent chance that her entire story was a complete lie and that she had been a racketeer for some time.

So, pending an investigation, the damsel was placed behind the bars. Wires were exchanged between the local detectives and the chief of police in the Connecticut town. And the detectives learned that the woman's story was quite correct in every detail.

They learned something more, too—and when they told the woman about it, she almost went insane. It seems that, two days after she left for New New, her husband had sold their little home and had eloped for parts unknown with the squawking nurse! . . .

Dorothy Wilson, stenographer in a studio, who one day typed the manuscript of "The Age of Consent," shortly afterward was selected to play the feminine lead in it, opposite Richard Cromwell.

First Maritza Film In Enright

Sari Maritza makes her American debut in "Forgotten Commandments," featured film, which opens in the Enright today. In this initial American picture appearance Miss Maritza has an unusually good supporting cast in Irving Pichel, Gene Raymond, Marguerite Churchill and Harry Bersford. The performances of all are forceful. The story is by James Bernard Fagan and the direction was in the hands of Louis Gasnier and William Schorr.

'Love Affair' Studies Modern Girl

Dorothy Mackaill and Humphrey Bogart are seen in the leading roles of "Love Affair," the feature film which opens today in the Sheridan Square. It is the story of a modern girl who "kissed and rode away," who tried to play the game of love like a man. Other parts in the drama are played by Hale Hamilton, Astrid Allwyn, Bradely Page and Halliwell Hobbes. The picture was ably directed by Thornton Freeland.

Guild Star In Movies

Peg Entwhistle, Broadway and Theater Guild actress, who makes her screen debut in the RKO Radio picture, "Thirteen Women," has been awarded a term contract by David O. Selznick, executive vice president in charge of RKO production.

Miss Entwisile was born in New York City and received her early education at St. Agnes Academy in New York and later attended the Bishop's School for Girls in La Jolla. She began her stage career in Boston at the age of 17, later appearing in the Broadway production of "Wild Duck," "The Little Minister," "The Uninvited Guest" and "The Home Towners" with George M. Cohan.

For a year she toured the United States as a featured player with the Theater Guild.

Four Stars United

"Old Home Week" is being celebrated at the Paramount studios with four stars and two directors formerly under contract at work there again.

Thomas Meighan, Lila Lee and Edward Everett Horton are back after several years' absence for "Madison Square Garden," "The Night of June 13" and "The Honest Finder," respectively. Kay Francis returned after a year for the latter picture.

The directors are Frank Borzage on "A Farewell to Arms," and Cecil B. DeMille on "The Sign of the Cross."

Perfume, Color Match In Hollywood

Octopus Fights Shark In Thriller

A fight to the death between a giant octopus and a killer shark will be one of the numerous undersea thrills in Columbia's "Bottom of the Sea," soon to go into production. Sidney Kingsley, your New York playwright, is now working on the story.

NEW ROAD SOON TO BE OPENED

The Mt. Pleasant road, from East street to Colby street will be opened to traffic about September 15, Director Edward G. Lang said today. The contract was awarded last May and work was started on June 7.

The roadway, from 18 to 24 feet in width, is on a hillside and had hazardous side hills and curves with steep grades, making it impossible properly to collect drainage water, allowing for the constant maintenance of a roadway, according to the director.

Blockstone paving will be started this week.

MOVE TO MERGE NUMBER POOLS HITS SNAG

Racket Chiefs Balk in Spite of Threats By Politicians

Trouble today loomed ahead of the "numbers" racket and politicians trying to weld it into a well-paying unit, with an eye toward replenishing dwindling political funds.

Threats of constant arrest and withdrawal of protection promised to ruin dispositions of operators who have refused to join in a city-wide "numbers" pool on the all for one, one for all principle. Objections are that the one and the all is the local political machine.

MUTUAL DISTRUST

Blocking realization of the dreams of political efficiency men is the refusal of "numbers" operators to join on one basis of play.

For various reasons, large among them being mutual distrust, the operators have divided on three bases—the unofficial total of daily sales on the New York Stock Exchange, the totals of pari-mutuel race payments, the Minneapolis Clearing House reports.

Chief operators using the stock totals were united before the three Volpe brothers were slain several weeks ago. Others have since joined them, at the urging of politicians, to create, by far, the largest pool in the city.

"Small fry" men still holding out against the union are expected to capitulate in the face of police pressure and join the organization. A system of payments has been devised by which leading politicians in each ward will receive and be responsible for a percentage of his district pool's profits.

PIRATING ON ODDS

Meanwhile, however, efforts to bring race and clearing house operators together on the new system have been fruitless. They refuse to change their bases, although they offer to pay their share of political tribute. It has been predicted that they will be whipped into line soon.

Trouble already had broken out in the ranks of operators before the new efforts to organize them, aided by the big stick of police protection, started. At a meeting last week, most books in the city agreed to pay the public 500 to 1 on hits, instead of the former 600 to 1.

Pirating already has begun among the "small fry," it is said, and indications are that the odds will return to 600 to 1 within a week.

Few of the books are solvent today, and many are expected to collapse under the old odds, if they remain independent.

GUILD WINNERS SAY FAREWELL AT LUNCHEON

Young Coach Builders End 'Royal' Party At Detroit

By MAX HENRICI
Staff Correspondent.

DETROIT, Aug. 25.—A shopping tour by state and Canadian winners of the Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild miniature coach-building contest, a meeting to discuss plans for the next contest, and a farewell luncheon brought to a close today the annual meeting of the guild.

The competition, sponsored in Pennsylvania west of Harrisburg by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, resulted in the construction by 165,000 boys in the United States and Canada, of models of the coach in which Napoleon and the Princess Marie Louise rode to their wedding.

One hundred and seven of the boys were awarded prizes of $100 each, and have been royally entertained here for four days, in addition. Four of the boys have been given college scholarships valued at $5,000 each.

Prizes of the same value will be given next year, and the state winners will be taken on a trip to the World's Fair at Chicago.

The boys were taken yesterday by steamer to Tashmoo Park for a barbecue luncheon and athletic contests, the winners in which were given medals and other prizes by W. A. Fisher, president of the Guild, at a banquet last night. Motion pictures of the boys' activities during the week concluded the evening's entertainment.

State Police Trooping Their Colors in Annual Rodeo Today

StatePoliceRodeoMarks Gala End of Elks' Greensburg Meet

By DAVID ROSENTHAL

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 25.—Thousands, including state cabinet members and officials, gathered here today for the annual State Police rodeo, a stellar and concluding feature of the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Elks Association.

The stage was set at Offutt Field, Capt. Albert Carlson, commander of Troop "A" announced. The ranking officer was assisted by Lieut. Thomas F. Martin and 78 members of the troop. Two additional bleacher stands had been erected by the troopers to accommodate the expected overflow attendance. The field has two permanent grandstands and bleachers with a seating capacity of 5,000.

STATE DIGNITARIES

Gov. Pinchot's official family was to be here, as well as state judges and other officials. The Elks, staging a big parade as the concluding event of their convention, will traverse the principal streets of the city, then disband at the entrance of the field, witness the state police celebration. Each of the five troops of the state police stages a rodeo every five years, proceeds of which go to the state police pension fund.

The rodeo program includes:

Troop "A" mounted drill—Capt. Albert Carlson, commanding.

TROJANS DRILL

Exhibition drill—Green Trojans Drum and Bugle Corps, Robert G. Kotouch Post No. 318, American Legion, Greensburg, Pa., George Hunter, drum major; Wade T. Kline, post mommander. This corps won the statewide drum and bugle corp contest during the American Legion convention held in Pittsburgh last week.

Presentation of Distinguished Service Medal to Capt. Wilson C. Price by Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the Pennsylvania State Police. Capt. Price was former commander of Troop "A" and is head of the state highway patrol.

PATROL EXHIBIT

Motorcycle trick riding—Pennsylvania Highway Patrol.

Fancy saddle drill—Lieut. Thomas F. Martin, commanding.

Rough riding, Event No. 1—Cossack riding, Hurdle jumping and burning hoops. High jumping horses. Roman riding and horse calisthenics. Balloon shooting. Mounted wrestling.

Rough riding, Event No. 2—Troop "A" Rally.

PAIR ARRESTED FOR FAKE NOTE

Gabriel Plusheff, alias Edward Pietroff, 41, of Brooklyn, and Charles Miller, 52, of West Middlesex, Pa., both former Pittsburghers, were held for court by the United States Commissioner, on a charge of having had in their possession a partly completed counterfeit $10 note. In default of $2,000 bond each they were committed to jail.

The men were arrested Saturday by city detectives and turned over to Chief W. A. Landvoigt, of the United States Secret Service. Ink, crayons and other material were found in a room that Plusheff occupied in Brady street, it was testified.

Police testified Plusheff said the fake note found in his automobile was made to play a "trick" on a friend. Miller said he had no knowledge of the note. Plusheff is also wanted in Buffalo, it was said, accused of selling 20 fake diamonds to a woman there for $1,000.

PARLEY ON FEUD OF SEALERS

A battle is raging between the sealers of weights and measures of the city and county. The city men are taking county seals off scales, telling merchants the county men have no right to operate in the city, the County Commissioners were informed yesterday.

County Commissioner C. M. Barr asked for a conference with the city and state weights and measures experts.

Commissioner Charles C. McGovern dissented telling Urban E. Dice, head of the county department:

"If the city fellows interfere with you, go out and knock them over. Take the scales away from them. You've got the law and the money and at least my moral support."

McGovern was overruled, Barr and Commissioner William D. Mansfield voting for a conference.

MYSTERY THEFT IN MT. LEBANON

Mt. Lebanon police today are baffled by a $1,500 jewelry robbery.

Howard H. Smith, 401 Parker Drive, reported a diamond ring, wrist watch, Masonic charm and beads were missing from a jewel box, and money and a small amount of gold taken from a closet. Police said they were unable to trace a forcible entry to the home.

Chief William Kane said the Smith family, returning at 9 o'clock last night after a six hours' absence, did not discover the valuables missing until early this morning.

Boarder Sought In Shooting of Man

McKeesport police and detectives are searching for Thomas Edwards, Negro, who last night was alleged to have shot and wounded Thomas Brown, 30, Negro, of 1024 Mary street, McKeesport, with a .22 caliber rifle after an argument.

Edwards was a boarder in Brown's home.

12 New Cases Put Under Quarantine

The City Department of Health today reports these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever, 1; diphtheria, 1; mumps, 1; whooping cough, 4, and pneumonia, 5.

Two Arnold School Directors Elected

R. Templeton Smith, president of the Welfare Fund of Pittsburgh and A. C. Pollock, of Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, have been elected to the board of directors of the Arnold School, according to R. E. Withers' announcement, today. The school's senior school opens the fall term September 14.

Man Suffers Heat Collapse in Street

A victim of the heat, Stanley Mizurowicz, 54, of 2400 Cobden street, was reported in serious condition in South Side Hospital today. Mizurowicz collapsed while walking in Holt street late yesterday.

Two Police Teams To Play Tomorrow

The McKees Rocks police department baseball team will go to Stowe Township tomorrow afternoon to meet the Stowe police on the diamond, the game starting at 1:30 p. m. It will be the first meeting of the teams.

Police Hold Four In Blackmail Case

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 25.—Four men are in jail today facing charges of extortion and blackmail. Valentino Denasso, 68, of Farrell, told police Tony Talamerio, 32, and Mike Mirando, both of Farrell, had threatened him, and police say they arrested them as Denasso paid the money. Later Frank Spano, of Greenville, and John Galloni, of Sharpsville, were arrested.

4 Persons Seized In Raids by Drys

Prohibition agents arrested four persons in as many raids, two in the city, one in Homestead and another in Oakmont yesterday. Those arrested, according to the agents, were Stanley Phillips, of Bidwell street; Catherine Corlen, of Main street, West End; Nannie Neal, Cherry street, Homestead, and Frank Lemok, Virginia avenue, Oakmont.

Low Water Perils 50,000 Wild Ducks

BISMARCK, N. D., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Wild ducks found helpless in stagnant water of Long Lake, 35 miles from here, were being rescued today.

Sportsmen, farmers and Boy Scouts joined in taking the fowl, of which more than 4,000 have died, to fresher water. Many were found paralyzed, and 50,000 were estimated to be in danger.

Body of Author Placed Beside Son

PANGBOURNE, BERKSHIRE, England, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—The body of the author, Kenneth Grahame, was exhumed during the night from its temporary grave in the churchyard here, and removed for permanent burial in Holywell Churchyard, Oxford, beside the body of Grahame's only son, Alastair.

Big Pleasure Sloop Burns Near Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—The 64-foot sloop, Joyant, said to be one of the largest private pleasure craft on the Great Lakes, was burned to the water edge yesterday when backfire from the engine ignited gasoline.

East End Man Beaten, Robbed in Garage

Walter E. Stoy, Belvedere apartments, 5523 Ellsworth avenue, was struck on the head with revolver butts by two bandits, who robbed him of $4 and used his automobile to escape from his garage in the rear of the apartment building last night, police reported.

Stoy had just driven his car into the garage when the pair entered and attacked him.

PROWLER FIRES ON 2 IN PARK

East End police today intensified the search for the Negro who last night fired a shot at Joseph Mulkern and his wife, of 228 Fifty-seventh street, as they were walking in a lonely path in Highland Park, near the spot where he beat and robbed two Sharpsburg girls Tuesday afternoon.

The Negro, apparently believing Mrs. Mulkern alone, leaped from the underbrush. Surprised to find her husband walking behind her, the Negro drew a revolver and fired, the bullet passing over Mulkern's head.

The description of the gunman tallied with that of the assailant of Eleanor Rosemeyer, 24, of 1030 North Canal street, Sharpsburg, and her sister, Bernice, beaten and robbed in the same path Tuesday.

Merchant Files Bankruptcy Petition

Samuel Winters Murphy, insurance salesman, individually and as partner of Keystone Catarrh Remedy Company, North Belle Vernon, filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in Federal Court, listing his liabilities as $100,181 and assets as $875. James S. Masson, of Meadville, a merchant, filed a voluntary petition, scheduling his liabilities as $25,177 and assets as $5,629.

Al Might Buy Old Typewriter From Coolidge

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Al Smith has decided to become a successful editor with 15 minutes for lunch.

Al, it's a tough job. Remember that Cal tried it for a year and will sell you a nice second-hand typewriter at cost price.

You gotta be on the job night and day, including leap year.

Al, you're an orator. You're going into a racket where one picture is worth a thousand words. And the picture is always some other guy.

But if you are going through with it how about the following editorial:

Alone in Chicago.

Boyhood triumphs in Madison Square Garden.

And a throbbing paragraph on the sad old Mississippi River gambler's plaintive protest:

"This game is crooked. You ain't playin' the cards I dole you."

WILL ROGERS SAYS

MOJAVE, Cal., Aug. 25.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

The old desert; the more you see of it the more you can understand folks really loving it. It's a great health giver to many a disabled soul. It's just like a lot of folks, it never had a chance. The minute you give it any water it grows more stuff than all your fertile land. These old boys sitting away out here it don't look like they have to worry whether Mr. Hoover's letter to the drys will keep them in line or Mr. Roosevelt's retaining Walker will hold Tammany in town. Their living has got to come from a well and a pump and not from any political patronage, so these fellows escape all that political "hooey" that hits us every four years. Yes, sir, when we retire from active life, it's the Senate or the desert, and by golly I believe I will go to the desert. Yours,

WILL.

FEDERAL AIDE LAYS TROUBLE TO 'BOSSES'

Contractors Charged With Attempt to Break Agreement

The strike holding up Pittsburgh's $8,000,000 Federal Building is not an attempt to unionize all sand and gravel companies of the district, it is declared by Peter J. Dagnall, business agent of the local union No. 905 of Hoisting Engineers.

Dagnall issued this denial following published statements by F. O. Reed, secretary of the Building Trades Employers Association, that his organization would not be a party to forcing the sand and gravel companies to employ union engineers.

However, Dagnall offered a solution saying:

"We don't care about the employers unionizing anybody. We have three companies already unionized that can supply all the sand and gravel that the members of the association need—and it won't cost them any more."

U. S. BLAMED

There is one point upon which both the contractors and the union are agreed. They say that if officials of the United States Department of Labor had not handed down any decisions, there would not have been any strike.

The hoisting engineers and mechanical trades were off the postoffice job five weeks, returned to work Monday and were called out again Monday night. Dagnall renewed the strike when he found that the interpretation of a letter signed by the Employers' Association, one of the points on which the strike was ended, was not that given to it by fedcral officials.

Reed declared:

"If the Department of Labor had not entered into the negotiations with their decisions, the trouble would have been over long ago."

Dagnall, showing letters and telegrams from James F. Dewey and M. Emmilinne Pitt, United States commissioners, supporting the stand of the union, said:

"If the government in their first letter had stood against the engineers, we would never have left the job."

CHARGES TRICKERY

Dagnall says that the letter, signed by Reed, involves trickery if it does not mean that union engineers are to be employed on the sand and gravel hoists of the members of the employers' association and the companies with which they do business. The letter says:

"It is our interpretation that the section under the Addenda of April 4, 1932, to the Agreement dated May, 1931, between the Building Trades Employers Association of Pittsburgh, Pa., and you, provides that the members of the Engineers Union No. 905 should be employed upon sand and gravel hoists, as stated in the Addenda and in the Agreement."

Dagnall declared that on the representations of federal officials that the letter gave the union "everything it asked for," he agreed to end the strike. Later, he said he heard from several sources friendly to the union that all was not as it should be, and on reading the letter again came to the conclusion that it was an interpretation "which failed to interpret."

ORDERS WALKOUT

Calling Reed by telephone, Dagnall said he found his suspicions verified, and immediately removed the men who had resumed work on the postoffice.

Reed declares that the federal authorities were fully aware that the employers were not retreating from their position of not forcing union men on other firms. He said:

"The Employers' Association made their stand plain to the government officials. It was adopted after long debate."

Dagnall said the men who ex-

Jeannette Youth Champion of District

William E. Epley, 19, 527 South Fifth street, Jeannette, is happy today. He was declared champion of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Chapter of the Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild. This award carries a large silver loving cup. Presentation will be made later.

Epley, an apprentice machinist at the Wesinghouse works, East Pittsburgh, attends Westinghouse tech night school, studying mechanical engineering. He left Jeannette High School in 1919 to support his mother. His father, Howard Epley, for four years has been in a Harrisburgh hospital suffering from paralysis.

Young Epley entered the Westinghouse plant as a messenger boy. Last year he was transferred to the trades training department in the four-year apprentice machinist corps.

During his time in the corps he has proved himself industrious, energetic and ambitious, the head of his department said, and added Epley's outlook promises a grade A machinist job.

Although Epley's coach entry was not eligible for the annual international awards, he carried off three state awards. He won honorable mention in the state senior division, first prize in trimcraft, a $25 cash award, and second prize in paintcraft, a $15 award.

A certificate of the Guild was also awarded Epley in recognition of his efforts to perfect himself in craftsmanship.

Branding Chickens To Foil Robbers

DENTON, Md., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Tattooing of chickens and hens has been adopted by the Caroline County Poultry Association as a means of combatting fowl thievry, which has increased in this section.

The branding will be done by a special apparatus, which marks the chickens for life within a few seconds.

Fire Destroys Seven Buildings in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—A disastrous fire swept Chihuahua City last night, destroying seven important buildings in the business district before it was brought under control.

Firemen were forced to use dynamite to halt the blaze, which started in a garage. Troops helped fight the flames, but a shortage of water hampered operations.

OUTING PRIZES WON BY BABIES

Several thousand persons yesterday attended the American Legion and Donahoe's outing at Kennywood Park. The program was featured by a baby parade and various contests. The parade was judged by Lenore Kight and Anna Mae Gorman, of Homestead, who returned Tuesday from Los Angeles, where they took part in the Olympics. Winners in the baby contest were:

Prettiest baby, 1 to 3 years, Peggy Ruth Blanchard, Homestead; healthiest, Marjory Loretta Guy, Garfield; best dressed, Lois Ann Venes, Brentwood; twins, Norman and Charles Finkbeiner, East End; fattest boy and girl, Jack Franciscus, Carrick, and Alicia Goodyear, Verona.

The bathing beauty contest was won by Margarete Lennon, 1400 Hampshire avenue, Beechview, and the pajama contest by Etta Graham, 559 Price avenue, North Braddock. Judges in these were Vincent Lopez, orchestra leader; Frank Vittor, sculptor, and John J. Deller, commander of the American Legion of Allegheny County.

'WAR' OUSTS 8 IN SHARPSBURG

Sharpsburg's political war, which has raged since the bombing several months ago of the real estate office of Councilman Leo R. Hortsman, flared anew yesterday when eight borough employes, including three members of the police department, were dismissed. Four others were let out of the Water Department several weeks ago.

Dismissal of Police Lieut. Armel Lavia and Patrolmen Andrew Hentzel and Edward Miser was announced in a communication posted in the police station by Chief of Police Samuel Fair "on orders of Burgess Dennis Casper."

Others dismissed were Joseph Libbon, engineer; Anthony Scalise, laborer, and Natilli De Rosa, fireman in the water department; Joe Naccarato, of the garbage plant; Howard Tressler, engineer at the power plant.

Those dismissed last week were James Casper, brother of Burgess Casper; William E. Harris, Jr., son of Councilman William E. Harris; Regis Mally, son of Councilman Jacob Mally, and Joe Rizza, all of the water department.

Receivership Asked For Southern Utility

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 25.—(INS.)—Receivership for the Birmingham Gas Company is asked in a petition on file today in United States Court.

The petition, requesting that the company be restrained from paying further dividends or other sums to parent companies, was filed by Roger Mitchell, Westchester County, N. Y., a stockholder.

Mitchell charged the American Gas and Power Company and the defunct American Commonwealth Power Company with draining the Birmingham Gas Company of its assets.

Man Burns Auto For Failing to Climb Hill

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 25.—(INS.)—Peter Fierraro's shiny sedan couldn't climb a little incline-like Stocktown hill.

Disgusted, humiliated and angry, he lit a match, ignited the machine, and waved a last but fond farewell to the charred mass of twisted steel.

Thus, Peter explained to Judge C. D. Coughlin, he had achieved something that has balked many a weaker motorist.

Puzzled when detectives said Peter carried no insurance on the car and gained nothing save a renewed serenity of thought, he remanded Fierraro to jail while he pondered a suitable sentence.

SUIT LOST HERE, GOES TO RENO

Thomas T. Copeland, former transportation superintendent at the Homestead Steel Works, today had on file a divorce action at Reno, Nev., against Alma M. Copeland, of 908 Eighth avenue, Munhall. They were married in Homer City, September 19, 1906.

Today Mrs. Copeland said the filing of the Reno suit was the first information she had of her husband since he lost a divorce action in the Allegheny County courts several months ago. She said he is not connected with the steel company.

SPANISH REVOLT HEAD DOOMED

MADRID, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Jose Sanjurjo, one of the most famous Spanish soldiers of modern times and commanding general of the army, was sentenced to death today for leading a rebellion against the Republic.

A mixed civil and military tribunal of the Supreme Court reached the verdict against the "hero of Morocco" after 20 hours of deliberation.

His lifelong friend and companion-at-arms, Gen. Herranz, was given a sentence of 12 to 20 years in prison, as was an aide, Lieut.-Col. Infante. Gen. Sanjurjo's son, Justo, a captain, was given his freedom.

Gen. Sanjurjo's attorney immediately started efforts for clemency. He appealed to the President against a sentence he called "a disgrace against the government and the country."

MOOSE DISCUSS EUROPEAN DRIVE

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Plans for a large-scale expansion of the Loyal Order of Moose in Europe were under consideration here today by delegates attending the order's international convention.

The plan calls for holding next year's convention on a trans-Atlantic ship. The delegates would land at Cardiff, Wales, and then tour England, Germany and other nations to organize new lodges. The cost was estimated at $250,000.

Leaders of the order pledged nearly $100,000 toward the expenses, yesterday. Senator James J. Davis, director general, and four others, offered $5,000 each, and the British lodge pledged $25,000.

Conferring of fellowship degrees on 500 candidates was a feature on today's program.

'BONUS CAMP' STARTED IN HAZELWOOD

Jobless Carman and His Three Children Living in Tent

Across the tent from where Albert L. Klein and his family have made a bonus camp, on Killbourne avenue hill, overlooking their former home in Hazelwood, two signs face each other.

One, in fancy scrool, says, "God Bless Our Home." The other records the philosophy of members of the bonus expeditionary force in this jingle:

"Hoover blew the whistle,
Mellon rang the bell;
"Wall street gave the signal and the country went to —."

Klein's camp has grown during the past few days. En route to Uniontown, J. L. Rosso, lithographer, William D. Bradley, weaver, George Blanshfield, railroader, of Chester, have stopped and are staying at the camp. There, also, is Leo Faulkner, a painter, of Hazelwood.

Klein, a street car man, lost his job last February. He went to Washington, where he and his family had a shack. After the gas attack, he went to Johnstown, and leaving there, returned home to find that he had no house.

He said:

"We have plenty of cots, and just now the children are sleeping down the street. But we'll camp here until the weather breaks, and the children go to school. We're scraping by."

His children are Dorothy, 5, Eleanor, 7, and Charles, 9.

U. S. BLAMED FOR STRIKE ON POSTOFFICE

plained the letter to him were Col. Dewey and Murray Garsson, of the Department of Labor, and D. G. Aronberg, of the Aronberg-Fried Company, contractors on the postoffice.

The agreement and addenda referred to in the letter provide that union engineers shall be employed on sand and gravel hoists "when under the control of a member" of the Employers' Association.

Under the control of a member, according to the Employers' Association, means within the organizations of the membership. The union would extend this to include firms with which the employers do business.

Dewey, in Washington yesterday, said:

"If work on Pittsburgh's new Postoffice has been again halted because of a threatened strike, it is no fault of the Department of Labor.

EXPLAINS AGREEMENT

"I now reaffirm and re-state that the agreement entered into last April between the employers and the unions provided for employment of union men on sand and gravel hoists, which can only mean one thing, namely, where the sand and gravel was hoisted or loaded. All parties to the agreement understood this and agreed to it when the controversy was supposedly settled some time ago and the general contractors, recognizing the validitq of the agreement, did employ union men."

Dewey ventured the guess that the Building Trades Employers' Association "is trying to run out on the agreement."

Judge Refuses Delay Of Sales for Taxes

KITTANNING, Pa., Aug. 25.—The Armstrong County Commissioners today refused to defer sales for non-payment of 1930 taxes on 2,000 farms and homes in Armstrong County, at the request of 1,500 citizens at a mass meeting of the Tax Justice League here recently.

The properties, the taxes for which amount to approximately $10,000, will be sold by Roy Bowser, County Treasurer, on Wednesday.

Registration of All Seen as Crime Curb

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 25.—(INS.)—Today's growing crime could be effectively checked were the United States to adopt compulsory registration of all inhabitants, such as is in vogue in France, Dr. Carleton Simon, former special deputy police commissioner of New York City, told the convention of the New York State Association of Police Chiefs.

BARONESS VON KOCZIAN

Says Film Director 'Went Hollywood,' Asks Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 25.—(INS.)—After they were married, Baron V. Von Koczian, technical film director, "went Hollywood" and departed from the nobility's customary dignified behavior by throwing a dinner plate at her, his wife, Baroness Elsie D. Von Koczian, charged here in seeking a divorce decree.

The baron, now in Germany, insisted that she always meet him with a smile, saying that he paid for them, Baroness Von Koczian alleged.

INVITE SPANISH WAR VETS HERE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Senior Vice Commander Will T. Otjen, of Enid, Okla., will be the next commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans, his being the only name placed in nomination at yesterday's session of the thirty-fourth annual encampment.

The post of senior vice commander will go to William H. Armstrong, former mayor of Racine, Wis. The names of three men were proposed for junior vice commander, George H. Carr, of Portland, Ore.; Walter E. Lombard, of Arlington, Mass., and D. V. Carter, of Winston-Salem, N. C.

Dr. Smith McMullin, of Marysville, Cal., was the only nominee for surgeon general, and the Rev. Chester G. Nelson, of Fort Meyers, Fla., the only nominee for chaplain-in-chief.

Pittsburgh presented the only invitation for the 1934 encampment. The encampment city is chosen two years in advance, Los Angeles having been selected for 1933 at last year's encampment.

Mrs. Anna C. Jessmier, of Los Angeles, was assured of election as president of the National Women's Auxiliary when her name was unopposed for nomination.

Paraguayan Attack Repulsed, 5 Slain

TRADE GAINING, SAYS MAYER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(INS.)—Business conditions are improving steadily throughout the country and there are indications the nation may have at last turned the corner on the road back to prosperity.

This was the impression Louis B. Mayer, director of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures said he gathered from a luncheon conversation with President Hoover yesterday. Mayer said:

"I gathered there has been a marked improvement in business generally. Things appear to be picking up gradually, but with a steadiness that indicates the improvement may be permanent."

Joseph M. Schenck, director of United Artists, and J. Walter Rubin, another Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer official, also were luncheon guests of the President. Mayer is leaving late today for California.

Davis Lottery Case Plea Set Tuesday

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(INS.)—After entering pleas of not guilty in Federal Court, five of the men indicted with Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, as a result of investigation into supposed lotteries sponsored by fraternal organizations, were free on bail today.

The five were Conrad H. Mann, Bernard C. McGuire, Raymond Walsh, Frank E. Herring and M. J. Revise. Senator Davis and four others named in the indictments will be arraigned for pleading Tuesday.

FREEDOM FETE ENDS TONIGHT

FREEDOM, Pa., Aug. 25.—Freedom will wind up the five-day celebration of its hundredth anniversary tonight with a banquet in the Firemen's Home, followed by a dance in the High School Gymnasium. Judge William A. McConnell, of Beaver, and F. A. Barkley, assistant superintendent of Beaver County schools, will be speakers.

Pickpockets have been active during the celebration. Among those who reported losses to Police Chief Paul A. Anderson, were Michael Borro, Rochester Township, and Charles Jolly, of Freedom.

The pageant, "History of Freedom," given Tuesday, will be restaged tomorrow night because many failed to gain admission to the High School Auditorium on the first presentation.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"
THE PILLAGE OF PARIS
"Nature in the Raw"— after the great French artist Luminais . . . inspired by the savage fierceness of untamed Norsemen in the ruthless capture of Paris—845 A. D.

Copr., 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"

That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.

Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

BUCS TO RECALL HURLERS

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

Phils Chief Wreckers.
Brooklyn Needs Vance.
Foxx Faces Hard Task.
Delay Heavyweight Test.
Big Turf Duel Canceled.
Another Title Tangle.

BUCS' RARE CHANGE IN FIFTY GAMES

REGARDLESS OF ANY progress that the Pirates may make toward routing the Quaker jinx during the remainder of the present series or the remainder of the season, Pennsylvania's second National League club will have done more to keep the pennant out of this state than any other team in the league. Yesterday's victory, their fifth in a row over Pittsburgh and their twelfth in 16 games this year, made the Phrightful Phils the first club in the loop to win the 1932 series from the Buccaneers. No other rival has done nearly as much as Burt Shotton's outfit to reduce the Rovers' once robust pennant chance to a mere mathematical ghost.

Burt Shotton

Few clubs have ever shown such a complete form reversal as the Pirates within a span of 50 games after midseason. Of the 25 tilts in which they engaged from July 10 to July 29, inclusive, the Gibsons won 18 while losing only seven, a percentage of .720. Of the next 25, from July 30 up to today, they lost the staggering total of 20 while winning only five, a percentage of but .200. It's hard to believe it's the same club. Let's hope they'll yet pull another transformation the other way.

BROOKLYN'S CHANCES OF sticking in the pennant fight to the finish appear to depend on Dazzy Vance. Though Manager Carey has augmented his slab staff with Fay Thomas and Ed Pipgras, the Dodgers can hardly keep up their drive without the help of Vance, and the Dazzler has been ailing when needed most urgently.

Possibly Vance will be able to start against the Cubs before the end of the present engagement, but he has given little aid in the Brooklyn rush in which the Dodgers have won 24 of their last 31 games. In three weeks he has started only one game and done a relief job in one other. The old fireball star has taken a lot of time out in recent years with his often recurring aches and pains, and if he disappoints the management in the present flag opportunity he won't be likely to start another season on the Flatbush payroll.

THE SUCCESS OF Waite Hoyt with the Giants is all the more surprising in view of the fact that the second finger of his right hand has been of little use to him since it was severely bruised by a batted ball a couple of weeks ago.

Unable to grip the ball tightly enough to work up any speed or to control a curve, Hoyt has been pitching what he calls his soft ball, which is a change-of-pace ball with practically nothing on it. But back of it is control and one of the smartest heads in baseball.

ONE OBSTACLE IN the way of Jimmy Foxx's chance to break Babe Ruth's home-run record is the danger of pressing too hard. That's the opinion of Marty McManus, Red Sox manager. "The trouble with these young fellows is that when they see a record almost within their grasp they start over-trying," he said. "That is fatal in batting, as it is in every other game where timing is all-important. Foxx is still a youngster. He may start pressing, trying to murder everything that is thrown up to him by the pitchers in an effort to beat that mark of 60 home runs. And when he does start pressing, it will be surprising if he does not lose out altogether and begin to pop them up. When Ruth was in his glory he'd hit the ball without any great show of power. His timing was perfect, and the rhythm was there. That's the way Foxx was hitting until recently. If he gets a bit flustered thinking of that new record he'll never beat Ruth's mark."

Jimmy Foxx

THAT FOXX HAS been thinking a lot about that record there is little doubt. Since the A's returned home he has spent an hour every morning trying to get the range on the left-field wall at Shibe Park in the hope of setting a new homer record this year.

But Jimmy has not been making much progress. He has made only five homers since July 27. With 44 to his credit he is still a margin of 13 days ahead of Ruth's schedule in 1927, as far as the date of the forty-fifth homer is concerned, but it must be remembered that in that year the season ran into October whereas this year it ends on September 25. Besides, Ruth made his forty-sixth and forty-seventh homers on the same day he made his forty-fifth, September 6, so that Foxx must make two more by that time to keep up with the schedule. Jimmy needs 16 homers in 30 games to break the record.

FOR THE TIME being, Brooklyn will make its fight for the pennant with Gordon Slade in Capt. Glenn Wright's position at shortstop. Slade doesn't knock down any fences, but the Dodgers rate him the best fielding shortstop in the league.

Wright's throwing arm is none too good at present, and Slade is figured to make a good job of it until Glenn is fit to go back.
to go back.

A TOUGH AFTERNOON for radio announcers is in prospect when the California and Southern California football teams play their annual game in Los Angeles on November 5. They will be kept busy explaining who's who. Orv Mohler, of the Trojans, will be pitted against Ken Moeller of the Bears. The names are different in print, but they're similar on the air. Then Ray Sparling, of Troy, and Fred Sparling, of Berkeley, are both left ends, and there are two brothers named Gill on the California roster, Sammy, at guard, and Pinky, an end.

THE PROPOSED BOUT between Primo Carnera and Isadoro Gastanaga, which had been scheduled for next Wednesday at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn, is off for the present, to the disappointment of boxing fans in general, as it had appealed to them as one of the most interesting heavyweight tests of the year.

It all resulted from the action of Gastanaga in having his fight with Hans Birkie at Queensboro Stadium last Tuesday night postponed until next Thursday night on account of an injured hand. The New York Boxing Commission regarded the injury with some suspicion and ruled that Gastanaga must go through with a fight at the Queensboro club before he will be allowed to box anywhere else in the state. That ruling, of course, knocked out the planned meeting with Carnera.

FROM ALL INDICATIONS, the anticipated struggle between Equipoise and Twenty Grand for the championship of the American turf is not going to be seen this fall. Twenty Grand has pulled up lame in his workouts several times, and it looks as though he is done, at least as an opponent of Equipoise this season.

Tommy Paul

The two great horses were to have come together in the Saratoga Gold Cup stake, a test calculated to determine racing supremacy definitely. It is doubted that Twenty Grand will be able to run even for the Jockey Club Gold Cup in the late meeting at Belmont Park.

ONE OF THE boxing oddities possible under New York's go-it-alone policy is on the bills for tonight at Coney Island—a featherweight bout that will be a world championship affair outside New York, but just another fight, with nothing at stake, in that state itself. Tommy Paul holds the N. B. A. featherweight title and in the eyes of that body will be defending it tonight against Lew Feldman. But the New York commission refused to recognize Paul as champion or to allow the fight to be advertised as a championship affair. It did intimate that if the contest proved a good one it might recognize the winner afterward, but there the commission is tangling itself up in its own rules again, as its regulations stipulate that a championship bout must be of 15 rounds, whereas permission for only 10 rounds was given to Paul and Feldman.

OAKMONT, FIELD CLUB STARS ADVANCE

By TOM BIRKS

Mrs. Sarah Fownes Wadsworth, seasoned star from the Oakmont Country Club, and Miss Barbara Warmcastle, young champion of the Pittsburgh Field Club, advanced into the final of the Western Pennsylvania women's golf championship tournament by scoring decisive triumphs over their semi-final round opponents at the Fox Chapel Golf Club today.

Mrs. Wadsworth, defeated by Miss Anjeannette Hunter, of Oakmont, in the final last year, advanced at the expense of Mrs. W. G. Boggs, of Chartiers Heights, whom she defeated by 6 and 4. Miss Warmcastle gained the final by scoring a 6-and-4 triumph over Mrs. F. M. Sloan, Edgewood Country Club ace.

CLOSE FINAL LIKELY

There was little to choose between the games of Mrs. Wadsworth and Miss Warmcastle as they achieved their semi-final round triumphs today, but the former, because of her greater experience, probably will rule a slight favorite in their 18-hole match for the championship tomorrow.

Winning the second and fifth holes and halving the first, third and fourth, the young Field Club star gained a lead which she never relinquished as she swept to victory over Mrs. Sloan. The cards:

Miss Warmcastle—

Mrs. Sloan—

SWEEPS INTO LEAD

Mrs. Wadsworth, who put out Miss Hunter, 1931 champion, in the first round, and who also accounted for the elimination of Mrs. Frank Campbell, of Stanton Heights, former champion, yesterday, lost the first hole to Mrs. Boggs today, but won the second, third and fourth holes in a row to sweep into a lead which never was seriously threatened. The cards:

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON: A CHARMED BULLET—Georges Guynemer (1894-1917) the French "ace of aces," is credited with having brought down 53 German aircraft between 1915 and 1917. For his many hairbreadth escapes he was thought to his countrymen to be possessed of a charmed life. In July, 1915, while attacking an enemy, he "caught" a hostile bullet between the thumb and forefinger of his right hand. The bullet had traversed the engine, oil reservoir, the gasoline tank, cartridge box, and his glove, and came to rest between his fingers as they lay encircling the trigger of his gun. The force of the impact made him lose his aim, but other than that he suffered no ill effects from this strange hit.

TOMORROW: LASTING HEAT.

SEALS PRESENT SPORT CHAMPS

National champions at fly casting, gathered here for the twenty-fourth annual tournament of the National Association of Scientific Angling Clubs, and Pat O'Donnell, famous English steeplechase jockey, who will ride in the Pittsburgh Hunt Club steeplechase Saturday afternoon, were featured in the weekly 25-minute broadcast of the Trained Seals, of the sports department, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, last night over Station WCAE.

C. W. Ward, president of the local chapter of the Izaak Walton League and head of the Pittsburgh Casting Club, introduced the national champions. They were Charles Edwards, Berwyn, Ill.; Edwin F. Sutter, Chicago; Fred N. White, Chicago; Robert F. Clarkson, Chicago; Leo Kob, Chicago; A. Accetta, Cleveland; Al Foss, Cleveland; Arthur New, Newark; Carl Grover, Chicago; Karl Kinnear, Geneva, O.; Eddie Braddon, Cleveland; A. J. Pilar, Jr., Newark; Ernest Tiotta, Cleveland, and Ernest Tiotta, Jr., of Cleveland.

Herbert (Hub) Rinehart offered a vocal solo and was accompanied by Miss Marian Salmon. Julius Levin, of the sports department, was master of ceremonies; Leland Becraft, WCAE announcer, also participated in the program.

Sister of Phar Lap Bought by Whitney

ADELAIDE, Australia, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Nea Lap, a sister of Phar Lap, the great Australian gelding which died in California last spring shortly after winning the Agua Caliente handicap, has been purchased by J. H. (Jock) Whitney, American sportsman, it was announced today.

Nea Lap, 5-year-old mare, probably will be put out on Whitney's farm as a brood mare, it was said.

Coast to Seek Major League Franchises

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—A campaign to obtain major league baseball franchises for Los Angeles and San Francisco has been started by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A committee of four was appointed to confer with the San Francisco Junior Chamber with a view of joining forces in the drive.

"It took 14 years to get the Olympic games to Los Angeles," said Cliff Rawson, secretary of the local group, "so we're starting the campaign early. Air transportation would make major league baseball feasible on the Coast. Our plan is to send a committee of three back to the major league meeting next winter."

SOCCER LEAGUE REORGANIZED

Reorganization of the Central District Soccer League was effected at a meeting held in Wilkinsburg last night, franchises being granted to Westinghouse, Clan Douglas, Celtics, Ambridge, Braddock Thistles and Union Switch and Signal.

The roster will not be closed until the next meeting, carded for September 6, in order to accommodate any late entries that may be filed. The season will get under way September 24, all games being booked for Saturdays.

PIRATES BUY STAR HURLER

The Pittsburgh management this afternoon announced the purchase of Pitcher Harold L. Smith, of the Kansas City Club, of the American Association. He will report next Thursday. The new Pirate pitcher is a right-hander; he is 26 years of age, six feet two and one-half inches in heighth and weighs 174 pounds. Two players of the Pittsburgh club and a sum of money will be given for Smith.

The Pittsburgh officials said they did not know the identity of the two players to be sent to Kansas City. This will be decided later.

The deal was closed after a long conference at the Pittsburgh office. Owner George Muehlbach, of the Kansas City club, came here to close the deal. After the transaction had been completed the Kansas City owner said that he was positive Smith would win for the Pirates.

The recruit is a graduate of Iowa State College. He has been pitching professional ball for several years, but he was working for the St. Louis Cardinals under their farm system until Kansas City bought him last year. Up to August 18 he had won 16 and lost 7 games with a fourth-place ball club. Smith was scouted by Bill Hinchman, who also is confident he will make good.

Race Rivals Enter Arden Downs Events

Bob Carter, veteran auto racer and winner of the Independence Day race classic, has entered the races to be staged on Sunday at Arden Downs Speedway, Washington, Pa. Bill Schempp, runner up, also has signed.

Schempp and Carter staged a driving duel which will be remembered for quite a while by the race fans. Schempp led the race for 70 laps or better and was nosed out just at the finish.

Former Negro Grid Star of Sharon Dies

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 25.—Clarence A. Dixon, aged 28, the first Negro athlete to win a football letter at Sharon High School, died at Cresson, Pa., after a long illness.

Dixon was also prominent in independent athletics after graduating at Sharon.

PIRATES HOPE TO BOLSTER MOUND STAFF

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Changes in the Pirate pitching personnel are forecast by the fall-down of certain members of the staff in the present campaign. Officials of the Pittsburgh club already have laid plans for the acquisition of several young hurlers, the most promising of whom will get every chance to make good on the 1933 club.

Through most of the awful slump of the Freebooters some of the first-string performers carried on in a corageous manner, but the strain finally reached all but Larry French, who has turned in four beautiful games in succession, losing one contest wherein he allowed only four hits.

SWETONIC AILING

Bill Swift and Steve Swetonic, two of the sensations of the year, have been unable to do much in the past month and now Swetonic is out indefinitely with a sore arm. Swift has lost some hair-line decisions through the inability of his mates to hit in clinches.

After next Wednesday all major league clubs will be permitted to load up with minor-league stars. The influx is sure to be heavy among the National League teams which still have a chance for the pennant.

Andy Bednar, one of the Tulsa stars, is likely to be brought back to the Buccos on top of a spectacular season. Bednar is much better than he showed in his performances in Pittsburgh and the added experience may have given him the polish he needs. Andy is no Warneke, yet he packs a good fast ball and his control is splendid.

SCOUTS MAKE REPORTS

Pirate scouts have combed several leagues in the past few weeks and they have returned to make reports to their employers. Negotiations opened recently may bear some fruit before the present week is over.

The Buccos made a mess of team-play yesterday as they bowed to the Phillies, 9-6, in the first game of the series. The home team played stupid ball in the eighth when Glenn Spencer was allowed to throw to second on a bunt play when he should have tossed to first. The mistake opened the way for the winning run. Another bunt and an ordinary fly completed the important tally.

Vaughan's three-run homer in the second inning knocked Big Jim Elliott plum out of the game, but Ad Liska and Phil Collins, who followed the lefthander to the mound, blanked the Pirates for the remainder of the contest.

HURST HITS HOMER

The Phillies counted twice on Don Hurst's homer in the first, but the home boys fought their way to the lead in their half by scoring three runs. The Quakers deadlocked in the second and then Vaughan put his team out in front with a three-run lead with his homer.

Bill Swift carried a two-run advantage into the seventh, when the enemy shelled him off the slab. Spencer was good in the seventh inning clinch, but was scored on in the eighth. Chagnon worked the ninth and cracked wide open after getting two out. Two more runs were scored in this inning.

LOCALS PAIRED FOR AMATEUR

Fred Brand, Jr., of Penn State and Shannopin, will be the first Pittsburgh district representative off the initial tee in the National Amateur golf championship tournament at Baltimore on September 12, pairings and starting times for the event, announced today by the U. S. G. A., reveal.

Brand, paired with Ralph Redmond, of St. Petersburg, Fla., will tee off at 9:25 a. m., on September 12, and at 1 p. m. on September 13.

The players with whom other Pittsburgh district entrants are paired, and their starting times, are as follows:

Harry H. Ramsay, Kiski, and W. N. Trowbridge, Cohasset, Mass., 10:15 a. m. on September 12, and 1:45 p. m. on September 13.

Knox Young, Jr., Highland, and Will Gunn, Jr., Wallingford, Pa., 11:15 a. m. on September 12, and 2:35 p. m. on September 13.

Watts Gunn, Oakmont, and Keefe Carter, Oklahoma City, Okla., 12 o'clock noon on September 12, and 8:35 a. m. on September 13.

George H. Flinn, Jr., Fox Chapel, and Jack Mackie, Jr., Inwood, N. Y., 1:05 p. m. on September 12, and 9:35 a. m. on September 13.

J. Denny St. Clair, Kiski, and Allan M. Loeb, Glencoe, Ill., 2:35 p. m. on September 12, and 11:10 a. m. on September 13.

Gold Bridge Runs Dead Heat Abroad

YORK, Eng., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—A. K. Macomader's Gold Bridge, carrying top weight of 127 pounds, today ran a dead heat with E. Sykes' lightly weighted Doraine in the Harewood Handicap plate over five furlongs.

Sir Alfred Butts' Perfect Night was third.

CUBS DRAW FIRST BLOOD IN SERIES WITH DODGERS

YANKEES WIN AND GAIN ON PURSUERS

Associated Press.

Victorious in their first engagement with Brooklyn's storm troops, the Chicago Cubs dug in behind a four and one-half game lead today and prepared to deal another blow for the cause—a bigger and better World Series on the shores of Lake Michigan.

The Dodgers, who invaded the West with high hopes of crashing through the Cubs' barrage and again making a race out of the National League, were repulsed in yesterday's encounter, 7 to 4. What was more, they didn't look at all like a team that might ever stop the Chicago pennant drive.

CUBS HIT HARD

Three of their pitchers, including the brilliant Van. Mungo, were pounded for 10 hits, and their fielding was spotty. The Cubs, led by Bill Herman with three rousing hits, made six of their hits good for extra bases and sewed up the game with a four-run drive in the fourth inning. Charley Root, after a wobbly first frame, settled down and held the Dodgers at bay until the seventh, when Bob Smith went in and finished the job.

Pittsburgh failed to take advantage of Brooklyn's reverse, losing to the Phillies, 9 to 6, and remaining in third place. The Pirates started well, scoring six times in the first two innings, but from there on it was a picnic for the slugging Phils.

Dizzy Dean did an admirable job of beating the Giants. The Cards' eccentric star yielded only five hits and drove in four runs with a home run and a single. Pepper Martin was his little helper, hitting two doubles and a single and stealing a base.

Boston and Cincinnati played a dead heat for the afternoon, the Braves winning the first, 5 to 2, and the Reds squaring matters, 3 to 1, behind Larry Benton's noble pitching.

LEVEY'S HIT WINS

Jim Levey, of the St. Louis Browns, pounded a home run with one on in the eleventh inning to defeat the Athletics, 5 to 3. Home runs by McNair, Dykes and Foxx accounted for all the A's runs.

Monte Weaver's pitching and Johnny Kerr's timely hitting gave Washington a 2-to-1 verdict over Detroit. Kerr knocked across both the winners' runs as Weaver scored his nineteenth victory.

Pitcher Ted Lyons scored a personal triumph over the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 3. In addition to keeping nine hits well spaced, the White Sox star drove in three runs with a double and two singles, and scored once.

A similar achievement was credited to Charley Ruffing, of the Yankees, who racked up his fifteenth victory at the expense of the Cleveland Indians, 9 to 3. He pitched eight-hit ball and starred at bat with a brace of doubles and a single.

Andy Bednar Cops Twenty-first Win

Associated Press.

Andy Bednar, the Western League's leading hurler, formerly with the Pittsburgh Pirates, now can look back through the record books and find that he has equalled his pitching performance of 1929, when he won 21 games for McCook of the Nebraska State League.

Last night, the Tulsa twirler chalked up No. 21 for this season by letting the St. Joseph Saints down with four hits for a 17-to-2 verdict.

GRIER ADVANCES IN SOUTH PARK TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Robert Grier, Mt. Lebanon High School southpaw, who also plays as a representative of the Rockwood Club, advanced into the fourth round in men's single with a win in the tennis tourney at South Park today. He is regarded as one of the most promising young racqueters in the district. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

PARKS TENNIS STARS WIN

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Third round men's and women's singles competition graced today's program of action in the first annual county parks novice tennis tourney on the South Park clay rectangles. Smiled upon thus far by the weather deities, the event has progressed speedily, despite the tremendously large man-to-man field, which to date has been reduced from some 240 aspirants to a group in the neighborhood of three-score.

So pleased with the celerity of advance is Superintendent W. S. Haddock that definite announcement has been made to the effect that final tilting will be staged Saturday afternoon.

The men's singles third round milling this morning saw championship favorites advance into the quarter-finals, to be disposed of this afternoon. Henry Ackerman and Robert Grier, Mt. Lebanon aces, moved up another rung on the title ladder by eliminating Elmer Artzberger and Hal Workman, respectively in straight sets. The Hatch brothers, Harold and Don, also remained in the running with straight-set triumphs. The summary of today's third round men's singles matches:

Ed Grant defeated Roger Ingham, 7-5, 6-3; Joseph defeated Herman Schutte, 6-3, 6-4; Oliver Murphy defeated J. McDonald, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4; H. B. Eastman defeated Al Williams, 6-1, 7-5; Henry Ackerman defeated Elmer Artzberger, 6-2, 6-1; Don Hatch defeated Ray Burch, 6-4, 6-3; Ralph Bald defeated K. Darragh, 6-1, 6-2; Harold Hatch defeated Joan Russman, 6-0, 6-0; Don Dixon defeated Ray McCulligan, 6-3, 6-1; Robert Grier defeated Hal Workman, 6-0, 6-2; Frank Herron defeated Addison Armstrong, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2.

Three Local Golfers Win In Tourney

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Trapped in the sand and snared in the bunkers, many a hopeful fell by the wayside as the Old White golf championship moved through the first rounds of match play yesterday.

Dr. Gory Hogg, of Lewisburg, who tied for the low qualifying medal with L. Frederick Bruce, of Norfolk, yesterday, played par golf much of the way to dispose of J. F. Sullivan, of Newark, N. J., 4-3, while Bruce toppled Dr. C. Gray, of Charleston, by a similar score.

Results for the first round of the first flight follow:

George Monroe, Pittsburgh, defeated E. L. Lawson, Charleston, 2-1.

Leire Dannals, Pittsburgh, defeated Stuart Hill, St. Louis, 4-2.

Elmore Hotchkiss, Richmond, defeated W. K. McCampbell, New York, 2-1.

Frederick H. Wilms, Pittsburgh, defeated C. Vega, Tampa, Fla., 6-4.

Dalchrone Stops Walsh in Second

Butch Walsh, of the North Side, was knocked out in the second round of their 160-pound class bout by Johnny Delchrone, of Springdale, at the amateur boxing show staged by the Syria Auto Club at its picnic at Turner's Grove yesterday. The summary:

112-pound class—Young Meinar, Braddock Library A. C., won from Matt Oznick, Emerald A. C., three rounds.

118-pound class—Johnny Tirpak, Cyclone A. C., won from Jimmy Ferry, Monon Valley A. C., three rounds.

135-pound class—Joe Severino, Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., won from Johnny Trusky, Braddock Library A. C., three rounds.

147-pound class—Harry Zelg, Monon Valley A. C., won from Milo Popovich, Valley A. C., three rounds.

160-pound class—Frank Kladdick, Cyclone A. C., won from William Schwerich, Monon Valley A. C., three rounds; John Dalchrone, Springdale, knocked out Butch Walsh, North Side A. C., two rounds.

TOURNEY CARDED

Three courts will be used in the Allegheny Mountain Association volley ball championships to be held at South Park on Saturday, September 15. Ralph V. Shinton, chairman of the A. M. A. volley ball committee, expects a large entry list, which includes the entire South Park League of six teams.

SHOOTERS PREP FOR CLASSIC

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Preliminary firing was begun today for the annual Grand American trapshooting championship. The event proper will be held tomorrow, but today's preliminary with a guaranteed purse of $4,000, was of nearly equal importance.

It was expected that close to 500 of the country's leading marksmen would participate in the warm-up event, which was won last year by Harry Schomerus, of Hillsdale, Ill.

Yesterday, Steve Crothers, of Chestnut Hills, Pa., won the champion of champions event for the second consecutive year, after he had outlasted Charley Bogert, of Sandusky, O., Buckeye State champion, in a shoot-off. Both were tied at the end of the regulation event with 199 targets.

F. D. Kelsey, 77 years old, of Aurora, Ill., won the veterans' title for the third straight year, when he bested 13 other marksmen over 70 years of age by breaking 190 out of 200.

The professional clay target championship of North America went west this year, when W. B. Sale of Denver, Col., broke 199 targets.

The first all-American team in the history of trapshooting was selected yesterday on the basis of their showing in the day's events. The team follows:

Fred Harlow, Newark, O.; W. S. Beaver, Berwyn, Pa.; Mark Arie, Champaign, Ill.; C. A. Bogert, Sandusky, O.; H. E. Woodward, Houston, Tex.; E. F. Woodward, Houston, Tex.; R. A. King, Wichita Falls, Tex.; S. M. Crothers, Chestnut Hill, Pa.; Joe Heistand, Hillsboro, O., and E. B. Chamberlin, Martville, N. Y.

John W. Eshelman, Jr., of Lancaster, Pa., was elected president of the Amateur Trapshooting Association at the annual meeting of the state directors last night.

Sam Sharman, of Salt Lake City, Utah, was re-elected vice president from the Pacific zone; Robert C. Coffey, Prairie City, Iowa, was named vice president for the Central zone, and R. A. King, of Wichita Falls, Tex., was selected to represent the Southern zone.

The directors voted to keep the 1933 Grand American Handicap trapshooting tournament at the permanent home of the association at Vandalia.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Reno—Andy DiVodi knocked out Eddie Moore, 7 rounds; George Brazelton knocked out Young Dozier, 1 round.

At San Rafael, Cal.—Buddy Ryan defeated Charley Miller, 10 rounds; Ray Stice won by technical knockout over Eddie Cuba, 3 rounds.

At Youngstown—Babe Triscaro knocked out Luis Carpentero, 1 round.

WILSON MEETS GOOSBY IN HILL ARENA

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Jack Wilson vs. Frankie Goosby, 10 rounds; Jackie Wilson vs. Joey Bosak, 8 rounds; Al Becker vs. Tony Constantine and Curley Klaas vs. Jack Smiley, 6 rounds each, Greenlee Field.

Tommy Paul vs. Lew Feldman, Jack Rosenberg vs. Vincent Sireci, Harry Wallach vs. Lope Tenorio, 10 rounds each; Kell Kola vs. Al Grillo, 6 rounds; Freddie Hassan vs. Marco Appicello, 4 rounds, Coney Island Velodrome, N. Y.

Harry Fibels vs. Cuchy Wilde, Mexican Manny Candia vs. Freddie Raymond, Conrad Taylor vs. Tommy Murphy, Tony Canzoni vs. Joe DeMasra, Joey Constantine vs. Mike Reyes, 6 rounds each; Pete Del Cals vs. Leo Schneider, 4 rounds, Freeport Stadium, Long Island, N. Y.

Johnny Dundee vs. Al Dunbar, 10 rounds; Tommy Desiefan vs. Buddy Jackson, Johnny Ferriel vs. Tommy Romano, Harry Brandon vs. Tommy DeMeno, Johnny Yarrick vs. Armando Vidal, 8 rounds each; Joe DeFrank vs. Tommy McMahon, 4 rounds, Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn.

Lew Massey vs. Steve Smith, 10 rounds, Leiperville, Pa.

By JAMES MILLER

Jack Wilson, Irish Kane's hard-hitting middleweight of the North Side, will be out to score his second victory in a row and to establish himself as a big shot in the local boxing society, when he trades punches with Frankie Goosby, Cleveland Negro, in the 10-round main bout at Greenlee Field tonight.

A win over Goosby is a job tough enough for the best, so Wilson will have to be good, in fact, a little better, if he is counting on pasting a victory clipping in his record book.

GOOSBY GOOD

Goosby has shown here twice before this summer at the Hill arena, stopping Lee Sala in one heat, and defeating Jimmy Belmont in a main bout. Wilson, in his last start, looked good in battering out a decision over Anson Green.

Joey Bosak, a Golden Glove champion, of Chicago, makes his local debut against Jackie Wilson, Negro bantamweight, of Homewood, in the eight-round semi-final. Jackie defeated Nat Litfin at the Center avenue club last week.

Tony Constantine, of Soho, meets Al Becker, of Sheraden, in the six-round second bout, and Curley Klaas, former A. M. A. junior heavyweight champion, turns pro against Jack Smiley, of the Hill, in the opener. The show will start at 8:45 p. m., daylight saving time.

Between Rounds

Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, was not so peris about the beat the past week, and has decided to do his training for his third bout with Ter Yarost at Hickey Park, Millvale, Monday night, at night. He is working out at the Braddock Library. Frank Klaus, his manager, plans to don the gloves with Jimmy for several good sessions before the fight. Joey Speigal, of Uniontown, is in the semi-final with Jacquette Everille, of the Hill. Andy Kosel, of Wilmerding, and Sammy Asto, of Uniontown, box the second bout. Hans Roberts, of Brookline, irtes a comeback against General Burr, of Aliquippa, in the opener.

Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion, doing another comeback, boxes Al Dunbar in a 10-rounder at the Fort Hamilton Armory, Brooklyn, tonight.

Dr. Willis Britt, who has been in the fight game for years, claims some sort of a record for handling four winning boxers in one night. He did just that at Hickey Park last Monday night, when he seconded George Panka, Joe Marcus, Lloyd Clements and Jerry Clements. Nice work, Doc!

The contract for the Benny Leonard-Jimmy McLarnin bout at Madison Square Garden Bowl, October 3, stipulates that the former lightweight king must not weigh more than 155 pounds. McLarnin probably will scale around 147 pounds for the fight.

The New York Boxing Commission rule that champions are not to be permitted to participate in overweight matches apparently was tossed into the wastebasket when the high fathers of Gotham boxing permitted the Queensboro Stadium to use Tony Canzoneri, the lightweight champ, and Max Rosenbloom, the light-heavyweight titleholder, in non-title bouts there on September 13. Isadoro Gastanaga, Spanish heavyweight, was told by the consult that he would have to go through with his match against Hans Birkie at the Stadium next Thursday night. Izzy tried to pull out of the match, claiming an injured hand.

Brother Hanover Cop Trot Title

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Brother Hanover, the Hanover Shoe Farms entry, of Hanover, Pa., circled the oval in two heats in 2.06¾ to win the national handicap trot at the Illinois State Fair Grand Circuit races here yesterday.

The race sponsored by the Trotting Horse Club of America is estimated to have netted $3,000 to the winner. Brother Hanover won both heats.

Fair Dreams, brown mare of the Arden Homestead Stables of Goshen, N. Y., ran second. Nedda Guy was third. Abe Harvester fourth and McGregor fifth.

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25.—I see good old Charley Grimm has cancelled the last brain lobe of his master mind.

Nick Altrock

You knew, when Grimm went in as manager of the Cubs, he found his hurlers wouldn't make a pitch without getting the Elk's sign or the Odd Fellows' grip or some other lodge hall hokus-pokus from the bench. The boys had got the habit of taking orders for everything, like any mail-order house.

So Manager Grimm says, "Don't you guys know you get paid 50-50? Half for pitching and half for thinking?"

They said, "Gosh, we don't mind pitching, but Hornsby always did the thinking. So maybe that's why he borrowed that dough from us!"

Well, anyway, Grimm now makes 'em guess themselves what they'll pitch and the Cubs' hurling staff is out of the kindergarten at last.

SEAVER LEADS BARTLETT

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Rushing over the outward nine in 32 shots, four under par, Charley Seaver, of Los Angeles, gained a 5-up lead over Arthur Bartlett, of Ottumwa, Ia., court clerk, at the quarter mark of the 36-hole battle to enter the semi-finals of the Western Amateur golf championship today.

WAR HERO WINS

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Making his second challenge for 3-year-old honors within five days, War Hero, winner of the historic Travers Stake, came right back with another sterling exhibition of speed to capture the thirtieth running of the Hyde handicap and $2,850 at Saratoga yesterday.

FRENCH STAGE RALLY TO TOP U. S. ACES

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Overcoming the widest sort of lead, Henry Cochet, France's premier tennis player, and his 18-year-old countryman, Marcel Bernard, yesterday fought Berkeley Bell and Gregory Mangin, fourth-seeded American team, off their feet to gain a semi-final berth in the fifty-first national doubles championship.

They were two sets down and trailing two games to love in the third when they cracked their American foeman wide open and swept on to a 1-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1 victory.

Vines and Keith Gledhill gained the other upper semi-final place by trouncing Jack Tidball and Elbert Lewis, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3, in an all-California tussle.

Today's semi-final will bring the defending champions, Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, against George Lott and Frank X. Shields.

Another bit of recent history was repeated when Lott and Shields passed into the second-last bracket by eliminating Henry W. (Bunny) Austin and Frederick J. Perry, of England, the top-seeded foreign team, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

TRISCARO VICTOR

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 25.—Babe Triscaro, Cleveland bantam, knocked out Lelia Carpentero, of Toledo, in the first round of scheduled 10-round bout here last night.

NATIONAL FLY CASTING TOURNEY UNDER WAY HERE

ALL SECTIONS SEND CHAMPS TO MEET

The twenty-fourth annual tournament of the National Association of Scientific Angling Clubs got under way this morning with champions from all sections of the country entered in the various events. The program is being staged under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Casting Club. It will continue through tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday with events scheduled at Forbes Field in the mornings, while the afternoon activities will be staged at Carnegie Lake in Highland Park.

The tournament was ushered in this morning with the three-eighths ounce distance bait event at Forbes Field. This afternoon's program was scheduled for Carnegie Lake.

CONFAB TONIGHT

Tonight the visiting anglers will gather in the Venetian Room, of Webster Hall, official headquarters for the tournament, for reminiscences.

Tomorrow's program calls for a five-eighths ounce distance bait casting event at Forbes Field in the morning. A salmon fly event will be held in the afternoon at Carnegie Lake, while at 6:30 in the evening the anglers will hold their annual banquet at Webster Hall.

Saturday's program will be confined to Carnegie Lake. The morning events are a dry fly casting event for men at 9:30 and the Ladies' five-eighths ounce accuracy bait event at 11 o'clock. In the afternoon the three-eighths ounce accuracy bait event will be held at the lake. Saturday's program will close with the annual business meeting at Webster Hall.

MEET OVER SUNDAY

Three events will conclude the tournament on Sunday. At 9 a. m. the accuracy fly casting championship will be decided. At noon, the boys' five-eighths ounce accuracy bait event will be staged, while at 2 o'clock the five-eighths accuracy bait championship will be decided.

Among the champions gathered here for the tournament are Charley Edwards, Edward F. Sutter, Fred N. White, Robert F. Clarkson, Leo Kob, A. Accetta, Al Foss, Arthur, New, Carl Grover, Karl Kinnear, Eddie Braddon, A. J. Pilar, Jr., Ernest Tiotta and Ernest Tiotta, Jr.

The officers of the national association include Charles Edwards, Berwyn, Ill., president; Watts L. Richmond, Buffalo, first vice president; Harry H. Unger, San Francisco, second vice president; Edward J. Davis, Chicago, third vice president; Lou J. Hurst, Orlando, Fla., fourth vice president; Fred J. Lane, Chicago, treasurer; Edwin F. Sutter, Chicago, secretary.

JOHNNIES WIN, PASS KNIGHTS

Johnstown passed Beckley in the battle to overtake Charleston in the second half Middle Atlantic League race yesterday, defeating Huntington, 6 to 3, while Charleston was soaking Beckley, 12 to 1.

At Charleston, the Senators pounded the ball hard, collecting 14 safe hits. Boone led the attack with four safeties. Beckley touched Conklin for 10 hits, but failed to bunch them.

Cumberland routed Clarksburg, 13 to 1, at Cumberland to take the final game of its season series with the Generals. The Colts were good for 17 hits. Wicker, Colt southpaw star, turned the Generals back with five.

McKechnie to Await Team's Arrival Here

Bill McKechnie, manager of the Boston Braves, arrived in Wilkinsburg this morning to spend today and tomorrow with his family. The Braves are not scheduled for National League competition for two days and Bill will remain with his family until his team arrives here Saturday to open a series with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

McKechnie left the team in Cincinnati last night following the final battle of a series with the Reds.

John A. Heydler, president of the National League, also stopped here today. He is on his way to New York from Cincinnati, where he attended the Oldtimers' game on Sunday.

LEGION [illegible]ED

The South Hills team which [illegible] the district section in the recent American Legion junior baseball tournament will meet the Ford City Legion nine at the Dormont High School field at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Ford City defeated Swissvale, conqueror of South Hills, in the title tourney play.

Holders of Fly Casting Records Vie for Titles

KARL KINNEAR A. ACCETTA EDDIE BRADDON ED SUTTER CHARLEY EDWARDS ROBERT CLARKSON

Six record-holders are listed among the national champions competing in the twenty-fourth tournament of the National Association of Scientic Angling Clubs being held in Pittsburgh this week. These six record-holders, along with other national champions, spoke over Station WCAE last night as guests of the Trained Seals of the sports department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. The tournament is being staged by the Pittsburgh Casting Club. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture.

WOMEN GOLF CHAMP WINS

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—One of Chicago's younger golfers, Jean Armstrong, today took a turn at trying to keep Mrs. Opal Hill, of Kansas City, from winning the Women's Western championship for the second consecutive year.

Mrs. Austin Pardue, of Minneapolis, the former Dorothy Klotz, yesterday made a brave bid against the Kansas City star, but succeeded only in making her go the full 18 holes before losing, one up. Miss Armstrong reached the quarter finals by eliminating Mrs. Robert Greenlease, of Kansas City, 5 and 3.

Lucille Robinson, of Des Moines, Ia., who turned in a 77 for the best score yesterday in defeating Marion Miley, of Lexington, Ky., 4 and 3, was matched with Mrs. J. Walter Beyer, of Tulsa, Okla., holder of the trans-Mississippi and Oklahoma state championships, one of the favorites to reach the finals. Mrs. Beyer shot a 79 to defeat Jane Weiller, of Chicago, 5 and 3.

QUIMET DEFEATED

NEWTON, Mass., Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Burdened by a six-hole deficit, Francis Ouimet, National amateur golf champion, shot a sub-par 74 over the long Brae Burn course yesterday in the last half of his 54-hole exhibition match with Gene Sarazen, holder of the American and British open titles. This meteoritic performance, however, only enabled the amateur ace to regain two holes and Sarazen won the two-day play by a 4 and 2 margin.

GENEVA GRID CAMP TO OPEN AUGUST 31

By JESS CARVER

Geneva College has sandwiched the opening of its football training camp in between the shove-off dates of Wash-Jeff and Duquesne. Head Coach Howard Harpster will give his squad the O-O next Wednesday, August 31, starting the boys right off with both morning and afternoon sessions. Just a big pal.

The two-a-day workout plan will remain in force until September 15, when only single sessions will be held. By that time, Harpster hopes to have his squad in fair trim. He'll need to, for he catches a tough one right off the bat in the opener with Davis-Elkins under the lights at Reeves Stadium the night of September 23. D. & E. is no cinch at any time, especially early in the year.

LOVEWELL BACK

Harp will be assisted again by Don Lovewell, who was playing a guard at Carnegie Tech when Howard was quarterbacking, and Ray Turpin, varsity tackle last year.

First of all, the Genevians must elect a new captain. Tom Stauffer was chosen at the close of the 1931 campaign, but Tom became ambitious, completed his school work ahead of schedule and is out. Either Dick McKee or big Sam Cooper figure to take his place.

The Geneva-Waynesburg game, by the way, originally booked for November 12 at Waynesburg, has been moved up a day and transferred to Uniontown, where it will be played as part of the Armistice Day celebration there. See—Armistice Day falls on November 11 and one from 12 leaves 11. Simple, isn't it?

The Tipoff

Football secrets of the late Knute Rockne and Pop Warner, present coach at Stanford, will be revealed by noted pupils of the famous pair at the first annual coaching school at Villanova, which opened yesterday. The instructors in football will be Harry Stuhldreher, quarterback of the famous Four Horsemen, present head mentor at Villanova, and Dick Hanley, of Northwestern.

The basketball classes at the Philadelphia clinic are in charge of none other personage than Dr. H. C. Carlson, of Pitt. More than 100 enrolled for the course, and yesterday, were greeted by W. W. (Bill) Roper, former Princeton coach.

Ralph (Horse) Chase, line coach, basketball and baseball mentor at Ursinus College, in town for a brief visit a wash day or so ago, says Pop Warner will take Pitt when he sends his Stanford Cardinals against the Panthers here next November. Chase, one of Pitt's all-American tackle heroes, is studying for his master's degree in physical education at Ursinus.

George Kelly, of Duquesne; Max Hannum, of Carnegie Tech, and Frank Carver, of Pitt, are in seclusion these days, preparing pre-season statements of dark blue tinge for Messers Layden, Waddell and Sutherland.

A general poll of college football coaches indicates, as plain as the nose on Jimmy Durante's phiz, that the new football rules have sounded the death knell, once and for all, of the "good little men." The colorful watch charm guards, such as Metzger, of Notre Dame, and Mike Milligan, of Pitt, are out from now on.

Detroit May Get Reinstated Players

DETROIT, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Receipt of a telegram from President Frank Calder, of the National Hockey League announcing reinstatement of three American League players has revived hopes that the Detroit Falcons' roster next season would include several of the Chicago Shamrock puck chasers.

The telegram received at Olympia Stadium said that Pat Byrne, Emil Hansen and S. H. Acaster had been reinstated. All were under Shamrock contracts last season, although Hansen played with Tulsa.

NURMI DENIED RACE PERMIT

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Hugo Quist, personal friend and former manager of Paavo Nurmi, Finnish track star, said today Nurmi had been invited to run in a 10-mile exhibition race at Salem, N. H., Sunday, but Amateur Athletic Union officials said sanction for Nurmi to run had been requested and refused.

Nurmi is under suspension by the International Athletic Federation, and his entry was refused for the Olympic games.

Daniel J. Ferris, secretary of the A. A. U., said he had received a request for sanction of Nurmi's appearance which he had referred to J. S. Edstrom, president of the I. A. F. Edstrom advised him Nurmi could not run, either in regular competition or in an exhibition, Ferris said, and he had relayed that information to Boston.

Nurmi was suspended on the charge he had received excessive expense allowances for appearances in Poland and Germany.

The exhibition was proposed as a feature in connection with a Marathon to be run Sunday from Salem to Boston.

ARSENAL GRIDDERS MEET

Members of the Arsenal Ramblers football team of last season will meet at 1668 Thirty-eighth street at 7 o'clock this evening.

SELLING CUTS EARLY STOCK GAINS

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—The bull movement in stocks received a fillip from the wheat market today.

Stocks surged ahead in heavy buying at the start, turned somewhat hesitant, but bulged up again after wheat had rushed up some 2 cents a bushel. Some of the leaders, however, were held in check by rather persistent selling whenever they turned upward. This was particularly true of American Telephone.

There was some recession in a moderate wave of selling in the early afternoon.

The strength of wheat was a particularly welcome development in Wall street, for the somewhat soggy tendency in that market had tended to dampen bullish enthusiasm in the securities markets from time to time during the past few weeks. Wheat had a substantial recovery, during the earlier phases of the present bull movement, but more recently had receded to within a few cents of the June lows.

Bullish quarters were impressed with further scattered indications of seasonal pickup in business, particularly improvement in sales of office equipment. This, presumably, reflected preparations for a more active autumn season in many business establishments. International Business Machines reported that August had developed into its best month so far this year, although it probably reflected in part the introduction of new models. Most of the leading typewriter manufacturers reported a pickup in sales since July, although August is not usually a month of gains in that line.

Buying of farm implement, mail order and chain stores, was again based on gains in wheat and cotton. Rails were bought in some volume, particularly Canadian Pacific. Early developments toward unification of Canadian Pacific and Canadian National were expected in brokerage quarters with Canadian connections. The buying of coppers dwindled somewhat. Oils were fairly active, but made moderate progress. Utilities were inclined to lag during most of the day.

Bradstreet's compilation of bank clearings for the week ended yesterday was disappointing, failing to indicate any general commercial pickup. Clearings outside of New York City declined nearly 10 per cent, or somewhat more than the usual decline for the period, to a new low for the year.

COTTON PRICES RULE HIGHER

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Cotton futures opened steady, 7-12 higher on continuation of yesterday's buying movement, and on firm Liverpool cables and the higher textile market.

Rather heavy realizing and some southern selling was readily absorbed at the initial prices, and the advance soon extended to 8.69 for December and 8.91 for March, with the general list showing net gains of 28 to 33 points on heavy general buying.

The opening advance attracted a good deal of realizing. Prices eased off some 15 or 20 points under the pressure, but offerings were absorbed by further trade and commission house buying, and the market stiffened up again later in the morning.

At midday December, which had sold off from 8.69 to 8.52, was ruling around 8.63, with the general market showing net advances of 22 to 24 points.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 25.—Cotton—Receipts, 1,000 bales; American nil. Spot in fair demand; prices 41 points higher. NEW CURRENCY GAIN SMALL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Full use by national banks of the recently enacted billion-dollar currency expansion provision is regarded by the Federal Reserve Board as affecting its system's influence on the general credit situation.

This warning, contained in the reserve board's monthly bulletin, was coupled with the assertion that national banks in New York, Chicago and other Federal Reserve cities have the power to issue more than two-thirds of the currency increase allowed by the Glass-Borah provision of the home loan law.

It said these institutions had an unused power to issue $663,000,000 of the new currency, while the maximum permitted was $916,600,000.

Much use of the issuing privilege at this time was deemed unlikely by the board. Since the provision took effect, national banks have increased their circulation of currency by $31,000,000. The board said such national bank notes would not now increase money circulation, but only replace a like amount of Federal Reserve currency.

LIVESTOCK RISE AIDS BUYING POWER

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The rise in prices of hogs and livestock, which constituted the forerunner of widespread recovery in many markets, added half a billion dollars to the value of cattle and hogs on American farms.

It helped to change business psychology, inasmuch as one of the primary reasons for the trade paralysis was the lack of purchasing power among farmers.

Mr. Rukeyser

Asked to interpret the larger significance of the rally in livestock, the head of one of the great packing companies, in a message to this column, said:

"The rise in hog and cattle prices during the past two and a half months has contributed a great deal to a growth in confidence and better feeling among livestock producers. To date the purchasing power of those who have had livestock to sell has been materially increased. On paper we estimate that at least $500,000,000 has been added to the value of cattle and hogs on farms. The increase in livestock prices has been so recent that it will take time for the benefit to be realized by the industries dependent on livestock.

"The rise in hog and cattle prices was due to the fact that the available supplies were not as large as packers had been led to believe. Based on United States Government estimates we looked for a considerably larger supply during the summer than materialized. The relative shortage which developed in June naturally brought a rise in prices.

"It now appears that slight shortages are developing in lines other than meat and livestock. I am informed that situations of this kind usually develop first in one industry and then in another about the time business reaches the bottom of depression. From all I am able to learn it appeared this time in the livestock industry first."

First Half Iron Output Down 53%

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—(AP.)—The American Iron and Steel Institute issued its figures on production of pig iron in the United States, showing that it amounted to 5,081,388 tons in the first half against 11,022,349 tons for the same period of 1931.

In the last half of 1931, production amounted to 6,935,430 tons.

There were 49 furnaces in blast on June 30 out of a total of 288.

Stockholders Ask Rio Grande Audit

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(AP.)—Four stockholders in the $50,000,000 Rio Grande Oil Company petitioned the Superior Court to order officials of the corporation to permit an audit of its books.

The petition set forth that company officers are negotiating for sale of assets for shares in the Consolidated Oil Corporation, a Harry F. Sinclair holding company.

Forbes Shows Wealth Is Up Thirty Billion

—By B. C. FORBES—

"Where is all the money coming from?"

It is more pleasant to answer that question than the one formerly so constantly asked: "Where has all the money gone?"

B. C. Forbes

THIS WEEK a politician declared that there had been a shrinkage in wealth, or market values, of $130,000,000,000 since the speculative boom collapsed. Without accepting that magnitudinous figure as correct, we all painfully know that, whereas money was generally plentiful in 1929, it later became embarrassingly scarce.

What happened?

IT WASN'T money, it wasn't the volume of goldpieces and banknotes or other currency which dried up—our stock of currency today ($9,000,000,000) is greater than it was before the bubble burst.

People were impoverished by the unexampled drop in the market worth of principally everything they owned—mortgages, bonds, stocks, real estate, farms, merchandise, raw materials, inventories of all kinds, everything.

PRAISE BE, "money," meaning the value of possessions, is now increasing.

Let us consider the gratifying extent of the gains which have already been registered.

Last month the market value of all shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange bounded up from $15,633,000,000 to $20,495,000,000. The advance this month has been much more substantial.

I would estimate the gain in the market value from the June bottom at upwards of $12,000,000,000.

This is equal to $490 for every family throughout the continent—a no mean item.

THE VALUE of bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange rose last month from $37,353,000,000 to $38,615,000,000. To this increase of $1,262,000,000, August has already added approximately $2,750,000,000. This gives up another $4,000,000,000 "new" wealth within the last two months.

NEXT CONSIDER what has happened in basic commodities. Cotton sold at 5 cents in New York early in June. This week it has sold fully 50 per cent higher, at a new maximum for the year. A rise of fully 2½ cents a pound on all cotton in the United States is equivalent to $250,000,000.

Wheat, corn, rye, butter, eggs, lard have also recovered more or less substantially from their recent low levels. Pigs have enjoyed a veritable boom; cattle also have done distinctly better. And hides are worth 75 per cent more than a few months ago.

Every pound of rubber owned by tire and other manufacturers has increased in quoted value 40 per cent.

Vision the tremendous enhancement in the nominal value of all the oil supply of America.

Of real estate it can at least be said that machinery is being set in motion to check the demoralization in the realizable or lending value of mortgages.

WERE IT possible to foot up accurately all the price increases which have been achieved, starting with the $12,000,000,000 gain in stocks, the $4,000,000,000 gain in bonds, the $250,000,000 gain in cotton, followed by the appreciation in commodity and other values, the grand total doubtless would approximate, if not exceed, $30,000,000,000.

IS IT UNNATURAL that, in view of this creation of $30,000,000,000 of "new wealth," sentiment throughout the country is rising from the doldrums and contemplating the future with fresh confidence?

BOOKS, THOMAS NINES FACE TESTS TODAY

SANDLOT GAMES TODAY

CITY LEAGUE

North Siders at Rook.
J. L. Thomas at Reliance Life.

COUNTY LEAGUE

Frick Park at Scott Morgans.

GREATER PITTSBURGH LEAGUE

Verona at Wilkinsburg Murs.
Griffins at Edgewood.

The two outstanding contenders for City League second half honors swing into action this evening. At Kendall Field, Bellevue, Reliance Life will entertain the league-leading J. L. Thomas nine, of Bloomfield, and at Olympia Park, the Books, first half champions and now sitting in second place will face North Siders under the leadership of Art Rooney.

Much depends upon the outcome of the games, for the slender leadership of the Thomas team will not stand for a loss and Book's are fighting to prevent a post-season playoff.

In the County League, the Frick Park club will invade Homewood playgrounds to tangle up with the Scott Morgan outfit. The Morgans are leading the circuit at present.

The Homestead Aces won the championship for the season in the West Penn League last evening, defeating the Carrick Eagles in the deciding game in the second half chase, 1 to 0. The Aces were outhit 6 to 1, but the victors pushed a run across in the second inning while Asmonga blanked the Eagles.

In the Greater Pittsburgh League, City section, Hazelwood defeated the J. J. McGraths, 5 to 2, while in the Suburban section, Edgewood won over the Griffins, 5-0 and Iroquois downed Verona, 6 to 5.

VALENTINE

Captivating Story of a Shy Girl Rushed Into Love

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Millie Stays Away for Years While Val Lives With Spinster Aunt

"For Sale. Inquire Within."

The neat, square sign with the black letters was put up by Julia Macfarlane herself. She hung it the very day that Joey's father died—the day that she determined not to send Val to her mother.

Rather than give up Val she'd move away . . . disappear . . . leave suddenly, without letting the neighbors know where she was going.

But when people rang the doorbell and asked to look at the pink bungalow she glared at them, led them through the place ungraciously, hoped they wouldn't take it.

Every time she swept the neat little sidewalk in front of the house and admired the four rose bushes, and the border of double daisies and baby-blue-eyes around the trimly clipped lawn, she wondered how she could ever leave it.

She lay awake nights wondering where they could go, what it would be like to live somewhere else. She had never lived anywhere but Oakland. All her friends lived in Oakland. She never saw them, couldn't remember the married names of most of "the girls," but they were there, she could look them up some time when she felt like it.

If she had to leave her nice home, it would be just one more miserable, mean trick from that Millie . . . Millie who took her brother away, leaving her the burden of the old folks . . . If Fred hadn't gone things might have been different for her . . .

"Pshaw! I'm a lot better off than if I'd married. I'm glad I did stay with mamma and papa and was a good daughter—I've been some good in the world!" she'd tell herself hastily.

But that didn't prevent her blaming Millie.

MILLIE TO MARRY

Millie would have been genuinely shocked had she known what Julia thought of her. She wouldn't have recognized herself. It never occurred to her that Julia thought at all. It would have surprised and frightened her to know that this stodgy old person with eyeglasses and graying, faded hair dared to judge her.

Millie never judged herself as she did other people. She never knew herself for what she really was. She was just a girl who was unlucky, who loved, and lost, and loved again.

When she wrote, asking for Valentine, and explained that, owing to a misunderstanding with the party she went to the Orient to join, she was not going to marry him after all, but would marry another party shortly, it was with the naive confidence that Julia would be impressed.

"He is a very rich man, a banker," she wrote in her fluent, slanting hand.

Surely that would please Julia.

Not that it mattered to her. All she wanted was a good time and someone to love and understand her. Though, of course, one did need money in the Orient. She'd found that out.

MISSED JIM

"And I've really got to think of Val's future," she thought, excusing herself, for she couldn't quite forget Jim Atkinson and she wasn't quite happy about her position with the banker. Still, when one is stranded in a strange place, and needs money to send for one's child...

So Millie justified herself.

If anyone had told her that she had treated Jim Atkinson outrageously, she would have been more surprised than shamed.

Didn't she come to the Orient to join him? Was it her fault that she missed him by a scant six hours at Honolulu? How did she know that his old boat would sail so soon? And hadn't she gone right on to the next port to catch him?

Naturally, she had to have money. She had to borrow from someone, and the banker returning to China after his sabbatical leave was so nice about it. Was that anything to get so furious about? And was she to be deserted for another six weeks, left alone in Kobe just because he wouldn't take her on the ship, and wouldn't give up his job either?

What right had he to say she should have stayed in San Francisco? Criticising her, acting as though she were some old has-been, that could be dumped in a kitchen and left there . . .

No, it was inevitable. She had put up with enough from him. She was through.

She was independent, too. Tried to get a job. Was head over heels in debt before she gave up and cabled the accommodating banker.

LETTERS WITHHELD

He loved her. He'd marry her as soon as he could. She was really very fond of him, too. She'd be very, very happy, once they were married and Val was with them.

At first she was terribly impatient for Val to come. Then, when the weeks passed and there was no further talk of marriage, she began to think that it was just as well that Julia didn't send the child. Mean of her not to answer, though. She'd write and give her a piece of her mind. But not just now . . . not while things were so unsettled. . . .

Val no longer looked in the postbox for the mauve letters bearing foreign stamps. She had given up hope of hearing from her mother.

Sometimes she sat staring into space, dreaming. When Miss Macfarlane couldn't stand it any longer, she'd snap:

"What are you mooning about?"

And Val would give her large dark-fringed eyes on her aunt and say, "Nothing."

As the days went by and the weeks turned into months and the months into years, Julia Macfarlane wondered how much Val did remember. She had persuaded herself that it was right to withhold Millie's rare letters.

"No use getting the girl all upset," she told herself, not without twinges of guilty conscience. She couldn't fool herself. She knew it wasn't wholly on Val's account.

VAL GROWN UP

"Well, I guess I earned her," she thought this April afternoon, putting her sewing away, preparing to go into the sunny kitchen to start dinner. "No mother could have done more for her than I have...Scat!" This last for Woodie, the cat.

Miss Macfarlane hated cats. But back in the days when Val was a lonely, mournful child the skinny lost kitten had followed her home and there was nothing to do but let her keep it.

Now the kitten was a battle-scarred old veteran, and the child was grown up.

"Scat! Get out from under my feet" she said again, but her eyes were on the silk she had been working on. It was blue, a soft, shimmering blue. She touched it gently. Wonder how it would feel to be young and lovely and wear things like that! Pretty things, like she made for Val.

Then she caught sight of her own large, square face in the glass over the bureau in the sewing room. So homely, with its big mouth and great big, sticky-out teeth, and pale, protruding eyes.

"Pshaw!" she said, and rolled up the silk.

She heard Val's step just as she was pinching the baked potatoes to see if they were done. She was all ready to put the chops in the broiler. Dinner was on time, and Val was home. Her whole face lit up, but she said:

"Oh, it's you. Well, get the table set. You're late enough."

HEALTHY GIRL

The girl laughed, flung her arms around her aunt's large, unyielding waist. "Crosspatch! Let me get my breath first!"

The years had done things to Val. She didn't look much like the weeping child who had tried to squirm out of her aunt's restraining arms the night that Millie went away.

Ten years of Aunt Julia's good, nourishing meals, regular sleep and lots of sunshine and fresh air had completely banished what Julia Macfarlane had called "that hungry look."

Val was a tall, superbly healthy girl now. Her large, dark eyes were no longer too large for her face, but the extravagant black eyelashes that had upset her aunt's sense of the fitness of things 10 years ago were as absurdly long and curly as ever.

Julia Macfarlane could never look at her without an odd quickening of the breath, and sometimes a little twinge of secret, half-shamed fear.

"Don't sprawl!" she cried sharply now, eyeing Val's relaxed shoulders and limp arms and legs with stern disapproval.

Val struggled to a more dignified posture in the old red-cushioned rocking chair.

"Oh, Aunt Julia, I can't sit up straight all the time. You never want me to be comfortable. Why, you've got the table all set!"

"You can put on the plates and bring the tea. Now come, while everything's hot!"

GO TO MOVIES

There was never any conversation at the table. Aunt Julia enjoyed her meals and she didn't want her food to grow cold while people talked.

"Hmm! Icing got a little hard!" she said when she had finished her last bite and was waiting for Val to praise the chocolate cake.

"Good, just the same . . . Aunt Julia, you know it's Friday, so I don't have to study. When I get the table cleared I think I'll run over to Marjorie's."

"Weren't you with her all afternoon?"

"Yes—but—"

Synopsis

Valentine is the shy, dreamy daughter of Millie Macfarlane, a gay, romantic widow. Unable to support her child, Millie leaves the girl, then 8 years old, with Aunt Julia, a man-hating spinster. Millie goes to the Orient to meet her admirer, Jim Atkinson, a sea captain. Jim fails to meet her, but Millie finds a new admirer, a Hong-kong banker. She sends for Valentine, but Aunt Julia conceals the letter, deciding Millie is not a fit guardian. Aunt Julia reprimands Valentine when she kisses a neighbor boy, Joe Carey.

Now Go On

"Oh, it's you. Well, get the table set," said Aunt Julia.

"Then don't make a nuisance of yourself. You'd better stay away tonight. If Mrs. Bemis is as tired of looking at your face as I am of looking at Marjorie's . . . Besides, I was just thinking. We could go to a movie. We haven't been for two weeks. Don't you want to go, Val?"

Val pushed the cloud of dark hair from her forehead with an impatient, half-baffled gesture that was, though she didn't know it, a direct imitation of one of Millie's.

Like the departed Millie, Val was "chicken-hearted."

"Yes, it would be nice, only I—I thought if I DIDN'T go to Marge's I'd stay home. Somebody might call up—"

"For goodness sake, who?"

Val averted her eyes. "Oh, I don't know."

"Valentine Macfarlane, are you going to stick in this house the rest of your life waiting for Joe Carey to take it into his head to call you up? What makes you think he's going to call up tonight? Did he tell you he would?"

"No—not exactly—"

"Well, then, you get your hat! Greta Garbo's at the Jewel and Marlene Dietrich's at the Chimes. I don't know which . . . Here, hand me the paper, will you?

"Oh, Robert Montgomery is playing with Marlene. Would'nt you prefer that? We'll just leave the dishes. I'll be ready in a second!"

Val smiled wryly.

Maybe it was silly to wait home.

"Well, aren't you going to get ready?"

Julia Macfarlane was back again, her militant black straw on the back of her head, her neat blue coat buttoned over her house dress, all ready for an evening of vicarious thrills.

Going to the movies was all Aunt Julia got out of life. It would be mean to disappoint her. Besides, why should she sit home like a dummy on the chance that he'd call?

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Finds Comfort in Lillian's Ready Sympathy

But it was not Dicky whose tap at the nursery door I had heard. When I opened it, outwardly nonchalant but inwardly shaking, Lillian stood there. She put a finger to her lips, and when she had gone past me into the room I shut and locked the door. She beckoned me into the nursery as I did so and then, safe from any possible eavesdropping, she spoke in low, worried tones that yet held a trace of amusement.

"For the love of Isaac and his ancestors, will you tell me what streak of insomnia has struck this family and its guests?" she demanded.

"Those men haven't been in bed two hours, after one of the most strenuous nights in their lives, yet Hugh drifts across the greensward a good half hour ago, and shortly after that the Dicky-bird, in night plumage more or less discreetly veiled by a futuristic bathrobe, flutters down to the sick room and announces that he will pinch-hit for Harry instead of me.

"He was so short and grumpy about it that I didn't protest, and went back to the veranda, where I had met you and Hugh, but there was no sign of either of you. Katie volunteered the information that 'Meester Grantland he go for walk, und Meesis Graham she scoot upstairs mit dot blessed baby.' As I had asked her no questions, I did not make any comment upon her apparently crazy speech. I was sure the baby hadn't been downstairs, and came up here to ask you if Katie wouldn't be safer in a straightjacket."

RECONSTRUCTS EVENTS

"I want to tell you," I said, "for I'm afraid I have a problem on my hands that will need your help later. In the first place, Katie was quite right. I did have the baby downstairs, and I did 'scoot up' with her."

She sank back in her chair, and a grin quirked the corners of her mouth.

"Go on!" she said. "This promises to be good. Let's see if I can reconstruct it. Hugh couldn't sleep, being so near you, after so long."

"Lillian!" I expostulated. "He never"—then I stopped in confusion, remembering that Hugh had intimated exactly that.

"No? Well! Suppose we say 'hardly ever?'" she retorted, grinning at me. "So he planned to go for a walk, and you offered him breakfast. I'll warrant, allee samee Ronald, he 'couldn't eat a thing.' No, you needn't answer that," as my cheeks flamed. "Then I suppose he asked to see the new daughter."

"He didn't know she was in existence until he heard her cry upstairs," I said, and Lillian's mouth opened wide. When she shut it again, she brought an emphatic fist down on the arm of her chair.

"That would bowl him over," she said. "A little daughter, your image and all that. He's the softest-hearted, most romantic dub that ever hid behind a military man's mask. And, of course, you came up and brought her down to see him. But—" She rose and peered around the room with burlesqued stealth—"Where have you hidden poor Mother Graham's body? You must have murdered her, Madge. She never would have let the baby go out of the nursery suite otherwise."

PUZZLED ABOUT DICKEY

"I know it," I said contritely. "She was so tired when I came up that she turned the baby over to me, and went into her room for a nap. But you know, don't you, Lillian, that I wouldn't have taken Faith downstairs except that you said there was no more danger from the Chinese—"

"Of course I know it, stupid!" she said affectionately. "And of course, also, you did the right thing in bringing down the baby to show Hugh. Poor devil! He certainly is entitled to a little kindly attention. If ever a man served a woman faithfully, selflessly and hopelessly, he is that man. But what in the seven hinges brought Dicky downstairs? If ever anybody was scheduled to tie the Seven Sleepers, he was the guy."

"I suppose the baby's crying awakened him in the first place," I said, "and then—I don't know—but anyway, he came downstairs just as Hugh was thanking me for bringing Faith down, I met Dicky in the hall."

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

School, which is about to open, brings all the youngsters who have been away for the summer or who have been visiting friends or relations for one and two weeks, back to the city. Consequently the attendance at the regular weekly meetings of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club has showed a marked increase and the number of youngsters joining this organization is larger than at any other time, with the exception of the days the club was first organized.

Washington Chapter, which meets at the Washington Theater, Washington, Pa., reports more and more members attending each week. Those who attended last week's meeting, after reciting the club pledge and saluting the flag, enjoyed 15 minutes of community singing with several of the more recent popular hits and a few of the old-time songs that were popular in their grandparents' time on the program.

ENTERTAIN MEMBERS

Following the community singing the members were entertained by the following children:—

Anna Kerns, Hilda Kerns, Virginia McVehil, Marion Kemp, Velma McVehil, Eva Marie Jarvis, Betty Jane Haught, Jimmie Miller, Thelma Santog, Charlotte Beatty, Anna Mae Beatty, Donna Fay Walker, Marjorie Carpenter, Alice Gloady, Stanley Wolfe, Babby Hallam, Haroldе Wolfe, Alvin Bales, Helen Brainer, Frank Rungo, Mary Jane Wood and Billy Brownlee.

The cast of the minstrel show which will be offered by the members within the next two weeks spent all last Sunday afternoon rehearsing the songs and dances and the lines which are in the show. At this rehearsal the color combinations of various costumes to be worn by the actors and actresses were worked out.

Here's the final instructions for not only the members of the Sun-Telegraph Theaters Junior Komic Club, but also for the youngsters who are not members and who are going to attend the Lucky Buck Picnic tomorrow at Kennywood Park.

Kennywood Park will be opened at 11:00 a. m. to receive the youngsters of Pittsburgh and vicinity and the Lucky Bucks will be as good as gold on any of the following rides or amusement devices:

Old mill, tumble bug, merry-go-round, chair-o-plane, racer or jack rabbit, tilt-a-whirl, whip, miniature railroad, Ferris wheel and the bug house.

Each ride will cost 10 Lucky Bucks and count your Lucky Bucks just as if they are real money, figuring "1" Lucky Buck is worth one cent in exchange, "2" Lucky Bucks is worth two cents in exchange, and "5" Lucky Bucks as five cents. So, if you want a ticket for a 10-cent ride, peel off a five, two twos and a one—or any number that will make 10 Lucky Bucks.

There will be 15 exchange booths at the park on the day of the picnic. To avoid confusion and keep the crowds of children moving smoothly, only two tickets can be secured at one time. There is, however, nothing to stop the boys and girls with Lucky Bucks from getting 2 tickets as often as they can use them.

Resume the Inquiry

This Is Opportune Time for Harris Committee to Recommence Vote Machine Investigation.

Again in November Allegheny County will be unable to use the voting machines for which it has paid $1,125,900. It will be the fourth major election since the machines were purchased, and with the exception of one election, in isolated districts, the machines have remained in the cellar of the Courthouse.

It is explained now that necessary repairs to put the machines in condition for use cannot be completed before the termination of the fall campaign.

Their faults have been known for many months, and it would appear that sufficient time has elapsed for readjusting the devices to the county's needs.

The whole voting machine episode, from the awarding of contracts to the present time, is a confusion of legal technicalities, mechanical defects and remarkable negotiations and salesmanship.

The Harris Voting Machine Committee, created by the State Senate to investigate the deal, has held some hearings on the subject, but stopped short of getting to the root of details.

Now is an opportune time for the committee to resume its inquiry, to again press for revelation of the manner in which the machines were purchased, and further to ascertain why so much delay has occurred in finally putting the machines in condition for use. The saving predicted through use of the machines has been lost, a sum worth attention now when the County Commissioners are attempting to reduce expenses.

A Necessary Task

Workable Budget Demanded for Next Year and Preparation Should Not Be Delayed.

Mayor Kline is acting with wisdom in asking city department heads at this time to prepare their budget estimates for 1933. The preparation of the next budget is certain to be difficult, and it should not be left to the last few weeks of the year, to be settled in an atmosphere of acrimony.

Tax expectations are not to be met this year, and there is no prospect that in 1933 the revenue from real estate will be any greater. No increase in the assessment is to be considered, real estate now bearing all or more than it can stand.

The bill passed by the special session permitting imposition of a tax on anything not taxed by the state opens the avenue to new sources of revenue, though much of this opportunity later was nullified for local use when the statewide sales tax bill was passed.

What is demanded next year is a workable budget, which will not require tinkering throughout the year. The city government should start 1933 with the knowledge that economy is imperative in public as well as private affairs, and that waste and extravagance no longer can be permitted.

Perhaps the fact that a municipal election will occur in 1933 will be an aid to the taxpayer. Even though the Mayor be not a candidate for re-election, five councilmen probably will.

An Optimistic Outlook

Executives of Steel Corporations Look Forward to Resumption of Consumption.

Announcement by the United States Steel Corporation that it intends to spend $5,000,000 in plant improvement, much of it in the Pittsburgh district, is important not alone because of the initial outlay, but because back of it lies an optimism and a conviction that this basic industry is foreseeing a resumption of consumption.

The attitude of Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board of the corporation, coincides with that of E. T. Weir, chairman of the board of the National Steel Corporation. In an interview in the Sun-Telegraph some time ago Weir said that inventories of consumers of steel had fallen so low that replenishment soon would be imperative.

Now Taylor says practically the same thing. The stoppage of production, he explains, is "creating a vacuum which in due course will have to be filled." He adds: "It would seem that the buying movement cannot long be delayed."

The "creation of a vacuum" means that stocks of consumers have been depleted and must be replenished. And in that replenishment the Pittsburgh district will participate.

The Beaver's Comeback

The Present Abundance of the Dam Builders Is Another Triumph of Conservation.

A recent dispatch from Mercer County told of the completion of a dam in Deer Creek by a colony of beavers, the first that the county has had in a number of years. Many people, the dispatch continued, have gone to the site of the beavers' operations to observe the carpentry and architecture of the intelligent animals.

The work of beavers is well worth seeing, for they exhibit skill and foresight of a degree that is well nigh incredible in dumb animals. Fortunately, beavers' operations may now be observed in many parts of Pennsylvania.

Indeed beavers have become so plentiful in some places that they are a pest. They fell trees, dam creeks, and flood fields. The state employs trappers who catch the animals alive in places where they have made a nuisance of themselves, and turn them loose in other localities where there is less likelihood of their proving troublesome.

It must be said to the beavers' credit that while they occasionally do damage they also confer benefit by forming with their dams reservoirs of water in which trout can survive periods of drought during which, but for the beaver dams, the streams would go dry.

At the beginning of the century the beaver was extinct in Pennsylvania. Like the moose, the buffalo, the wolverene, the pine marten, the Canada lynx, the panther, the wolf, and the fisher all fairly common in Colonial days, it had utterly disappeared as a wild animal.

Then came the adoption, under the leadership of John M. Phillips, of the Pennsylvania Plan for conservation of wild life. A few beavers were obtained in other states and released at Sizersville. Carefully protected, they multiplied in a surprising manner, with the gratifying result that colonies of the dam builders now inhabit streams within a few hours' ride of Pittsburgh.

Rip Van Winkle Has Slept for Fourteen Years

By Nelson Harding

Rip is still asleep and snoring
With his useless gun beside him.

Roaring in the sky above him.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

And Still We Love Them—

It is astonishing that the average man requires so much variety in love, when you consider the deadly monotony of his clothes. But, perhaps, that's the secret. He may have so many changes of heart, just because he has so few changes of style to give his life variety.

A man always knows why he takes a business partner, why he takes a job, or why he buys a certain make of car. But when you ask him why he ever married, he just looks sort of vague and puzzled—and gives it up.

Marriage is a bargain, not a lottery. But the great trouble is that we marry for one thing—love or companionship or money—and then feel as though fate had short-changed us, if we don't get a lot of other things along with it.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Public parks took on a new significance this summer. For years, metropolitan open spaces were "just places" for motorists to pass through. Or spots for nursemaids. Havens for cheap lovemaking, and down-and-outers. At best they had only a bourgeois gusto.

Not one inspired the eager pride the Parisian has for his Bois, where, under the beplumed beeches and chestnuts, the rich and poor share the scenic beauty. But this summer, the parks, especially Central and Prospect, were filled with new faces, new manners.

Mothers, forced to dismiss governesses until a better day, went with their own children. Men of affairs, accustomed to their clubs for a vesperal hour scotch-and-soda, dropped down on the park benches. After dark, instead of the sailor and his gal, and, perhaps, hoodlums, there were gentle folk.

It is no exaggeration, that many, who in other years dotted the verandas of country estates, found a measure of contentment in the city's almost abandoned breathing spots. Even members of the vanishing army of chorus girls circled the reservoir's moonlit path after the show.

The quarter slot machine has returned. It whirrs in innumerable speakeasy bars and roadhouse washrooms. I am told that, as though by some grapevine understanding, they appeared in sudden flood, shipped in from Mexico and Canada. Already, a heavy-spending figure is being pointed out as "The Slot Machine King."

* * *

A newsreel shot of a British Columbia fishing expedition revealed a familiar face. As it unwound I realized it was Courtney Ryley Cooper, who has been angling there. On the way out, who should be coming in but Cooper, himself! A few blocks away, a stranger clapped my shoulder and inquired: "You don't know me, do you?" I didn't, but I'll bet a cookie it was Courtney Riley Cooper.

* * *

It's difficult to think of the creator of "Skippy," deservedly beloved cartoon character, as anything but an amiable, gay-hearted soul, meeting life with a puckish grin. But Percy Crosby has revealed another side. In a smartly written book he compares Gandhi to "a cobra charming its prey into a state of non-resistance." He blames much of our woe on the enfranchisement of women and declares G. B. Shaw is a tool of Russia to spread their propoganda.

* * *

In a relaxing moment on a train, bearing him from his Virginia estate to New York one day, Crosby fashioned, on the back of an envelope, the monogram now adorning my stationery, shirts, handkerchiefs and book plate. As some, in stretches of mental vacuity, pencil meaningless hieroglyphics, he weaves into fantastic patterns initials of his friends. It is the least known of his many accomplishments. In England, where the monogrammatic art has a higher rating, he is regarded as among the very best.

There always is a laugh at Lindy's, that gusty Broadway auberge of song-writers, piff-awmers and rowdy wise-cracks. From a booth there last evening, a highly-shellacked blonde was chiding a pinch-coated young man for his cool greeting. He passed her with a quick bow, and she called him back for an explanation of his slight. "What do you want me to do?" he asked. "Go into a rhumba?"

* * *

In Lindy's, too, I watched a puff of drama, probably escaping many. A theatrical-looking lady was buried in Variety. A gentleman, apparently not noticing who she was, plopped onto a seat facing her. I recognized them as a former cross-fire song-and-dance team of variety halls who married and split up in a row that attracted much newspaper space. When she looked up, her eyes met his, and there was a flicker of mutual embarrassment. I don't know whether it was managerial tact or what, but a waiter at that instant told him he was wanted at the telephone. He did not come back and I noticed she did not finish her meal.

* * *

One of the amours of a certain writing set has been the attachment of a very glib-tongued lady for a rather obscure youth. He is an Apollo, a lithe and sinuous Dempsey, with a collar-ad face. But lately, he has been negligent. A friend asked her why. "I think," she snapped, "his body has gone to his head."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Never underestimate the strength of weak people—

Or of silly people—

Or of vicious people—

Or of stubborn, limited people with "one track minds."

Nor laugh at the naggers and nitwits.

For frequently such people have more strength and get their own way better than those who are strong and kindly, well balanced and intelligent.

The "power of weakness" . . . of the endless varieties of weakness . . . is enormous.

AND ITS SECRET IS FAITH.

Weak and silly and stupid and vicious people nearly always believe in themselves . . . and in their right to get their own way.

THEY WANT WHAT THEY WANT AND THEY BELIEVE THEY SHOULD GET IT. AND NINE TIMES OUT OF TEN THEY DO GET IT.

It is a great mistake to think that only the faith in the wise and the righteous is potent. Faith has nothing whatever to do with morals or mental tests. It is a tremendous tool in the hands of any man—and any man may use it.

THE FAITH OF A BAD MAN OR A SILLY MAN IS EXACTLY AS POTENT AS THE FAITH OF A GOOD OR A WISE MAN.

And a bad or a silly man who really believes in himself can put it all over the wise and good man who isn't sure of himself or won't fight for himself.

You've seen that principle at work scores of times. The really intelligent, big man with the whiney, stupid wife. The fine, powerful woman with the pee-wee husband.

Why do such splendid people allow such nuisances to wreck their lives? Why do they give way to their unreasonable demands?

"Oh, we just do it to keep the peace," say the Big Man and Fine Woman.

But that isn't true.

THEY DO IT BECAUSE THEY CAN'T HELP THEMSELVES.

THE SIMPLE TRUTH IS—THE NITWITS AND PEE-WEES ARE MORE POWERFUL THAN THEY ARE . . . HAVE MORE DETERMINATION AND MORE FAITH.

But it's hard for Big People to see this. They're so sure that their superior intelligence and decency protects them against the Little People. But it doesn't—and won't.

NEITHER WISDOM NOR RIGHTEOUSNESS ARE A SUBSTITUTE FOR FAITH.

THE MAN WHO BELIEVES IN HIMSELF AND IN HIS OWN CAUSE WILL WIN, EVEN THOUGH HIS CAUSE BE THE SILLIEST ISSUE ON EARTH.

THE WORLD IS RULED NOT BY GOOD MEN OR BY WISE MEN, BUT BY COMPLACENT FOOLS WHO BELIEVE IN THEMSELVES AND CONCENTRATE ON THEMSELVES.

And the very breath of a man's wisdom or the greatness of his heart, will betray him to petty people who have no knowledge or interest save their faith in themselves.

SUCH PEOPLE ARE LIKE STEEL DRILLS ATTACKING BIG, FLABBY MOUNTAINS. THE MOUNTAINS MAY HAVE ALL THE BULK AND THE BEAUTY BUT SOONER OR LATER THEY WILL GO DOWN BEFORE THE VICIOUS, CONCENTRATED BORING OF THE STEEL DRILLS.

Learn all you can. Live all you can. But, as you do so, keep faith in fighting form. Believe in yourself. Believe in your own rights and your own stands AND PROTECT THEM.

And if you don't or won't? Then don't go belliakin around saying how mean everyone is to you—and how you never deserved the dirty deal you got.

An Old Man's Prophecy

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

No one longer has the temerity to deny that misgovernment has played a principal part in reducing a nation, richer than most in natural resources, to a condition that means beggary for millions. With people starving while granaries groan with hoarded grain, and business unable to go ahead for lack of credit, with banks filled with money, it is all too clear that our troubles are man-made. Nature has given us every chance and we have thrown it away.

It is the gluttony and greed of men, unhampered but encouraged by government, that have brought the depression or the panic or whatever you will. The idea of some of the super-scientists that man has nothing to do with the making and breaking of the prosperity of peoples, but that some irresistible economic laws do it, won't wash.

Many believe that the policies of privilege that have run amuck during the decade of the "best minds" which began with a saturnalia of corruption and is drawing to a close in the most dangerous depression in history, are solely responsible for our plight.

The whole course of government during these 12 years has accelerated the collapse; but the drift toward it began as much as 65 years ago when privilege was enthroned in government with the aid of bayonets.

That was the time that Jeffersonian principles were renounced and Hamiltonian policies were adopted.

True Veteran Of Statesmen

Many years ago, when a young boy, I knew a very old man who had witnessed at close range the change in the whole spirit of government in America. He lived in a rambling brick house at Irvington, near Indianapolis. He was a statesman with a long career behind him in Congress and as a leading light among the abolitionists. He had been on the Congressional Committee on the Conduct of the War throughout Lincoln's first administration; he had been a member of the House committee that drew up the articles of impeachment against Andrew Johnson; for many years he was the foremost statesman in Congress dealing with the public lands. He entered the Republican party with the religious zeal that inspired so many to do so. He became one of the most intense of partisans, and often went to extremes in his partisanship. Then he turned upon the policies of his party in the same spirit of patriotism and left it for good.

Treasure Trove To Eager Student

This was George W. Julian. He was an extremely tall man and, when I knew him, slender and exceedingly frail from age. He would lie full length on a couch before the window looking out upon the trees and talk. His mind remained keen and alert to the end. To a boy interested in history and politics he was a treasure house. He would ramble along with reminiscences of Clay, Webster and Calhoun and would describe the amazing oratorical triumphs of Sergeant S. Prentiss. He had graphic powers of description. But to me now the most interesting and significant part of his conversations had to do with his reasons for breaking away from his political associates.

Party Based on Jefferson Theories

When he formed these associations in 1856 he understood, as all were given to understand, that the party was to be built on the fundamental principles of Jefferson. He believed, as many others did, that the slave aristocracy had diverted the Democratic party from the teachings of its founder. Much was made of Jefferson and his theories of government even in the campaign of 1860. Lincoln himself in a letter to a Jefferson Club in Boston in 1859 had declared that "the principles of Jefferson are the definitions and the axioms of a free society." There were not a few Jeffersonian ideas in the Republic platform of 1860.

When Julian joined, it was with the feeling that he was acting in accordance with his own theories of equal rights.

The war and its passions intensified his partisanship as it did that of all others. Immediately after the war and in the early days of Reconstruction he was as bad as the worst of them in intolerance.

Then Privilege Replaced Ideals

But he soon came to understand that a complete change in the whole theory of the republic was taking place; that the idealists were being shunted into the background; that the Hamiltonian element was in the saddle and seating itself to ride hard; and that privilege was being accepted as a proper thing in government.

He found it in the robbery of the people by the railroads with the aid of the government.

He found it in the jobbery of the tariff in the interest of one segment of the people to the destruction of another.

He saw it in the manipulation of finance under the leadership of the government.

This made him unhappy, and he fought the fight for the average man and against privileged legislation within his own party. But he soon found that this was resented. His own party finally refused him his seat in Congress.

Compared U. S. With Rome's Fall

Lying on the couch in the twilight of his long life he talked to a boy of his fears of many years before and of the realization of these fears. The things he had fought against had come to be. We had a privileged class. Agriculture was being driven to the wall. Wealth was rapidly concentrating in the hands of a few. Poverty was spreading. The middle class of the well-to-do was being threatened. Money, and big money, had become the dominant force in government and politics.

And all this he traced back to the capture of the dominant party machinery by the element of privilege.

And I remember clearly one conversation in which he compared what was taking place in this country with what had taken place in Rome in the days preceding the decline and fall of her ancient civilization. He predicted that unless the government were restored to the people for the equal benefit of all the United States would follow in the wake of Rome.

And recently Nicholas Murray Butler called our attention to the same comparison.

Evils Imbeded In History

That is what makes the present battle for the preservation of our institutions so difficult. Had the present conditions been brought about by the policies of the last decade alone it would be a comparatively easy matter to shake off the evil influences and restore the old republic. But the evils are deeply imbedded — have been through 65 years.

The Harding - Coolidge - Hoover regime, under the domination of Andrew Mellon and the forces he represents, have merely staged the most arrogant drama of these six decades. Greed and privilege, overconfident, have been indulging in the wild dance of death. Sub-consciously, perhaps, they have acted on the advice to "eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow we die."

As Nicholas Murray Butler says and reiterates, only through the return to the Jeffersonian concept can our institutions be saved.

It is the misery all about us now that brings back to my mind so vividly that old man on the couch and his startling prophecy.

The Rhyming Optimist

BY ALINE MICHAELS

With Patience

Though for a time my shrinking flesh may quail
Before the duty waiting, stern and grim;
Though all who watch feel certain I must fail,
While I grope on through shadowed ways and dim,
I do not faint or utterly despair;
Though I am wan and weary, spent and worn
Almost beyond endurance, still I bear
With steadfast hope the cross that must be borne.

For well I know my strength will come one day
When I need play no more this passive role,
And like a tide no walls can keep away
Its force will pour into my supliant soul!
So with a patience not to be denied
I wait the turn of that triumphant tide.
